Cougar Country

You are walking towards an amusement park, but there are no rollercoasters, ferris wheels—not even a merry-go-round. Although hundreds of Tourists (People) are attracted daily, none are over 18. They don't even have to pay to get in. This is no ordinary amusement park, this is Cougar Country; and YOU ARE HERE!

Each day is a new adventure on the different Rides (Scholastics), Special Shows and Attractions (Student Life), Funhouses (Clubs), and Game Booths (Sports).

I REMEMBER THIS—Sophomore Jaimie Train looks at the 1985 spring supplement. The supplement covered events from spring sports to graduation.

I DON'T WASTE TIME—Studying during lunch, Wendi Van Hoose and Rachel Moore read their outside reading books for Ms. Rae.

WHERE'S THE FOOD?—Hungry students rush to the snack bar. With the addition of 2 more windows the snack bar lines were considerably shorter.

Cougar Country

Yes, folks, you are here in a unique land where tickets are given to tourists for going on the rides! The special A, B, C, D, and the dreaded F tickets are issued after completing a session of rides (semester). But tourists must beware: too many F tickets can mean extended play in Cougar Country.

But after four years of grueling Rides, some Tourists will face the final Graduation ride and head out to yet another two- or four-year amusement park with a faster pace, tougher rides, and many more people—College!

Cougar Country

YOU ARE HERE to take part in a special anniversary edition of our visitor tour through Cougar Country. On our 35th anniversary we see the wear and tear of thousands of tourists has little affected the face of Cougar Country. But if you had been here in 1951 you would have no clue of the grand park of today, for then it was known as Kelly's Airfield.

The many windmills that once dotted the area inspired the park to name this tourbook El Molino, "The Windmill" in Spanish.

WHAT SHOULD WE JOIN?—Sophomores contemplate what group to be a part of on Join-A-Club Day. Join-A-Club Day gave students a chance to get involved.

NOT YET OVER THE HILL—El Molino staff members prove they're still young. Cougar Country featured many rides such as this one.

NO, I'M NOT FAKING—Sophomore Clarence Jackson willingly displays his sports injury. Jackson was a member of the Knights.

Cougar Country

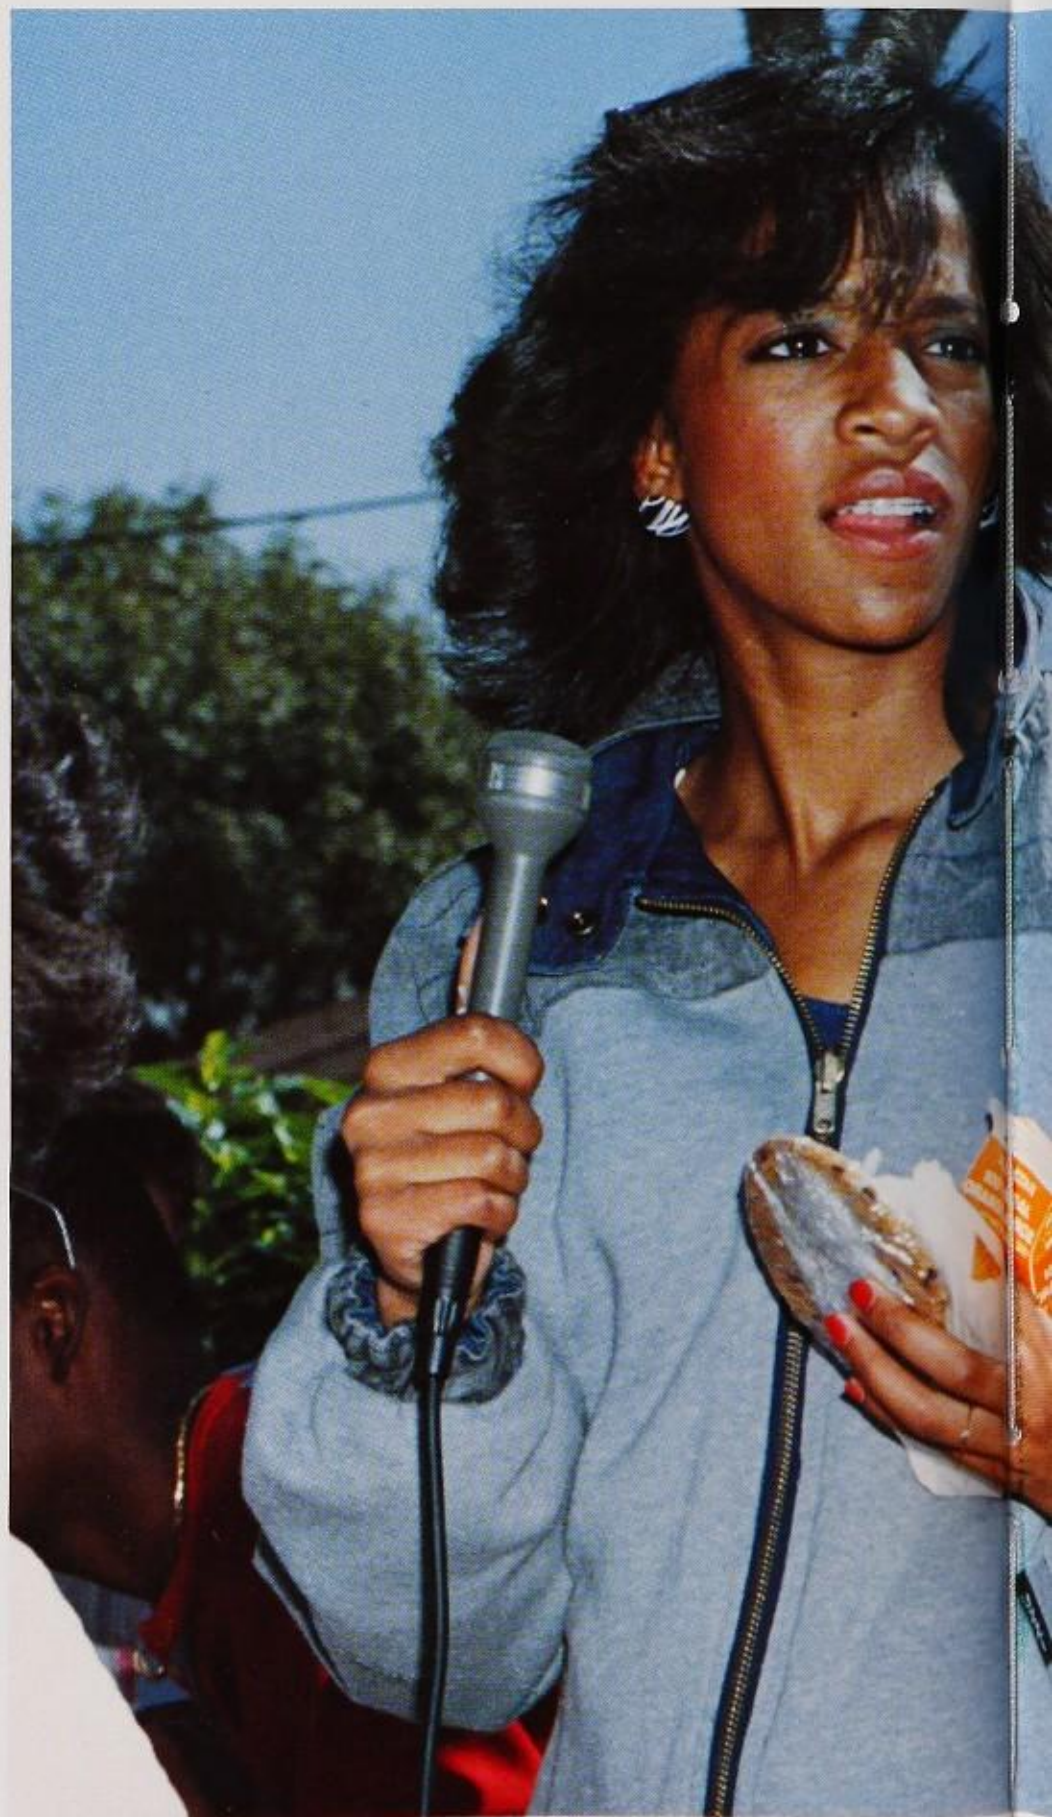

Updates and revisions are factors of life that cannot be avoided; Cougar Country is no exception. YOU ARE HERE to see the most streamlined Cougar Country that has ever existed.

The park went through a superficial facelift. Tourists can park and walk on repaved parking lots and walkways.

Changes deeper than this also took place. New tour guides were added to help new tourists get through the park.

Though headed for its 40th year, this park has a long way to go before its "over the hill."

WHAT DO YOU WANT?—Student Council member Micki Poole tries to answer all questions. Poole was also a contestant on the New Dating Game.

YO!—Seniors Alex Cole and Zoltan Szalontai welcome friends with a hearty greeting. Both were members of Honors Math IV.

IS THIS THE WRONG CAR?—Seniors Angie Wells and Kelly Todd help wash cars for the senior class car wash, a fundraiser for the prom.

PASSPORT TO STUDENT LIFE

We begin our tour through Cougar Country with a visit to all the Special Shows and Attractions.

Daily life in Cougar Country is more than just getting an A ticket for a ride. Special Shows and Attractions are what make Cougar Country different. Though not filled with ferris wheels, roller coasters or carousels, Cougar Country has many tourist-oriented activities. Tourists can participate during park hours in Pep Rallies or Class of the Year Competitions.

After park hours, the fun and excitement increase. Activities such as the Ice Cream Social or End of the Day Assemblies attract many tourists even after the park is closed.

After Game and special occasion dances also attract a multitude of tourists. The Christmas Dance, Homecoming Dance, and the Backwards Dance are just a few of these.

Week long activities also take place in Cougar Country. Aloha Week, Spirit Week and Spring Sports Week captivate tourists during the lunch hour. Tug of Wars, Potato Sack Races, and Obstacle Courses attract the tourists for entertainment during lunch.

MMM.ME ME ME.—Band Director Tracy Quarne has band members tuning up for Friday's game. Band performed at the USC vs. Oregon State football game.

NO MORE AVON—Brand-new year-book staff member Dung Lu is drowned in Avon perfume. Initiations were an exciting part of clubs.

Ice Cream Social

DIGGIN' IN—Cougarette Eleanor Sia dives into her triple flavored Sundae. Sia was very active in the Diaconians.

BOTH AREN'T FOR ME—Sophomore Lucy Tortola modestly carries her two Sundaes to her friend. Tortola was a first year Band member.

Super Safari Goes Wild

"Bulletin announcements for Friday, September 26th. Don't forget to buy your presale ticket for tonight's Super Safari Ice Cream Social," boomed the voice of Dan Karella.

Large posters with safari scenes, hunter nets draped over the doorways and tree branches protruding from the entranceway formed a backdrop for the annual festivity of straight ice cream splurging. The cafeteria was completely invaded by 6:30 p.m. Everyone waited in line for their Jungle Banana Splits, Safari Sundaes, Savage Saturdays, or Waterfall Floats.

Student Council members had very positive and excited attitudes about the theme and ice cream social. "My committee met over the summer and since the Banana Republic/Safari style was coming in, we came up with the safari theme," commented chairperson Toni Maldonado. "Since the date of the pre-game social was set earlier, we needed a lot of planning done before school started," stated third year Student Council member Trina Hoffarth. As the ice cream social came to an end, students headed towards the victories football game against West Torrance. "Stuffing myself with sundaes really put me in the mood for a good game," commented Sandra Torrente.

BASKIN ROBBIN'S EAT YOUR HEART OUT—Student Council members Stella Yeung, April Gonzalez, Trina Hoffarth, and Susie Reynoso prepare to make a Jungle Banana Split.

READY, SET, GO!—Band Member Mike Perez gets set to dive into his ice cream dessert as his friend Kieth Delatorre chows down. This was Perez second year on band playing clarinette.

ON THE COSTA— Evelis Degarmo absorbs the beautiful Costa Rican scenery. Degarmo was also in Honors Spanish II.

FAMILY TREE— Raquel Moore happily plants her tree with her new family. Moore was the Pep Squad mascot.

Other People, Other Places

Switzerland, Costa Rica, Tunisia, Ireland.

Have you ever longed to get away? Through the American Field Service getting away was possible for four seniors.

"Everything was so beautiful!" commented Gena Thomas. The people, the food, and the scenery were the highlights of her stay in Switzerland.

Because of the hot climate in Tunisia, Pris-tina Jackson went to the beach often and played volleyball.

Struggling to communicate with her family, she advised, "You've got to be patient and strong when you're in a foreign country."

Evelis Degarmo traveled south of the border to tropical Costa Rica. With guests always at her house and music always playing, making new friends was no difficulty.

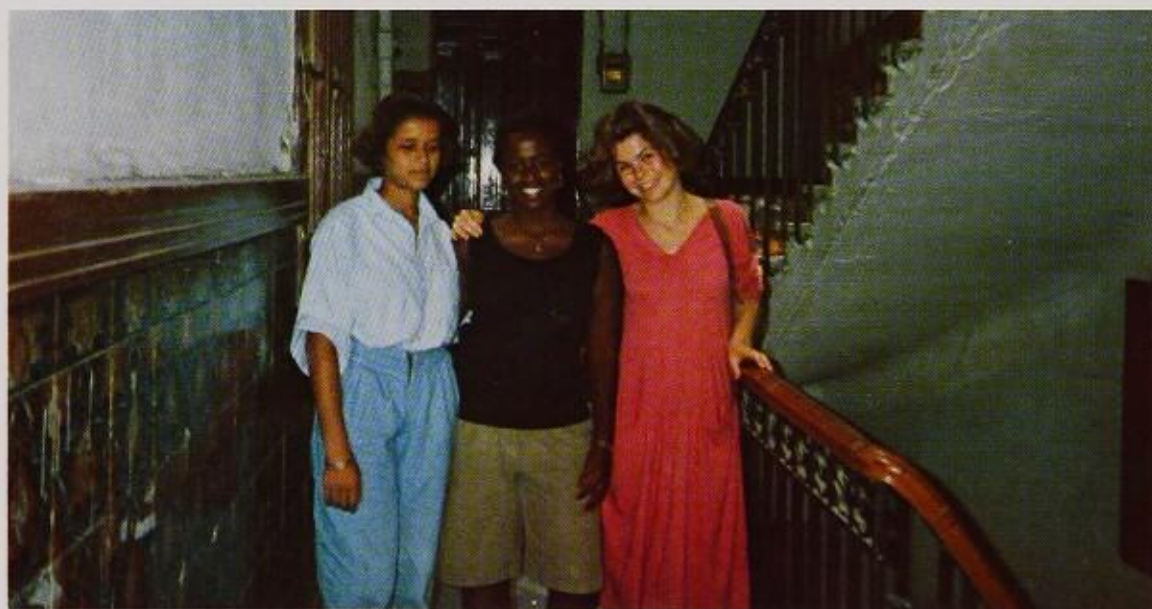

"The experience was great for me," said Evelis, "because I got the chance to meet people that I could never have met."

"Working for a lord was the best part of it all," remarked Raquel Moore. Her stay in Ireland was different because she was a member of the household staff of Lord Rosse. Meeting new people, making new friends, seeing new places, and learning to be independent were common experiences of all four travelers.

When asked if they recommend the program, they unanimously said, "Definitely!"

JUST HANGIN' AROUND—Senior Evelis Degarmo rests on a tree before starting her new day. Degarmo returned to the United States in August.

STANDING IN THE HALLS—Senior Tina Jackson poses for a picture with her new Tunisian friends. Jackson was a member of AFS.

TWO OF KIND—Senior Gena Thomas pals around with her newly "adopted" Swiss sister. Thomas was also a member of Drama.

N

Noontime Activities

ON THE VERGE—Sophomore Nancy Benitez glances at her freshmen competitor Chris Portillo to find that they are neck in neck in the Baby Bottle Chug-a-lug. Benitez was a two-year Student Council member.

STUFF THAT BURGER—Freshmen Allison Booth enjoys a free lunch during the hamburger-eating contest. Noontime events were usually held once a week.

More Than Just A Meal

Energetic Pep-Rallies, exciting noon dances with D.J.s, fast moving Dance Production performances, and amusing class competitions were among the many things students could see or do at lunch.

Pep-Rallies were held to help get the students and the teams into the winning spirit. Pep Squad cheered and performed dance routines with the Drill Team.

Noontime dances were held as a way of raising money and to test D.J.s for use in larger dances. The D.J.s also promoted themselves on the outdoor stage where crowds would form to listen.

Dance Production also provided a form of entertainment. They performed at various assemblies, including Halloween and Christmas. "They got an opportunity to perform and the students got a chance to see what goes on in and comes out of a dance class," commented Dance Production sponsor Diane Boyd.

"Class competitions have been very successful. This has been the best year of competition," said Commissioner of Activities Mike Hanna. Musical Chairs, the baby bottle chug-a-lug, the hamburger stuff, and the lap-sit were just a few of the events. Sophomores managed to come out on top in most of the events.

HAVE A SEAT—The freshmen pile it on for the lap-sit. The object was to get the maximum number of people sitting on one lap.

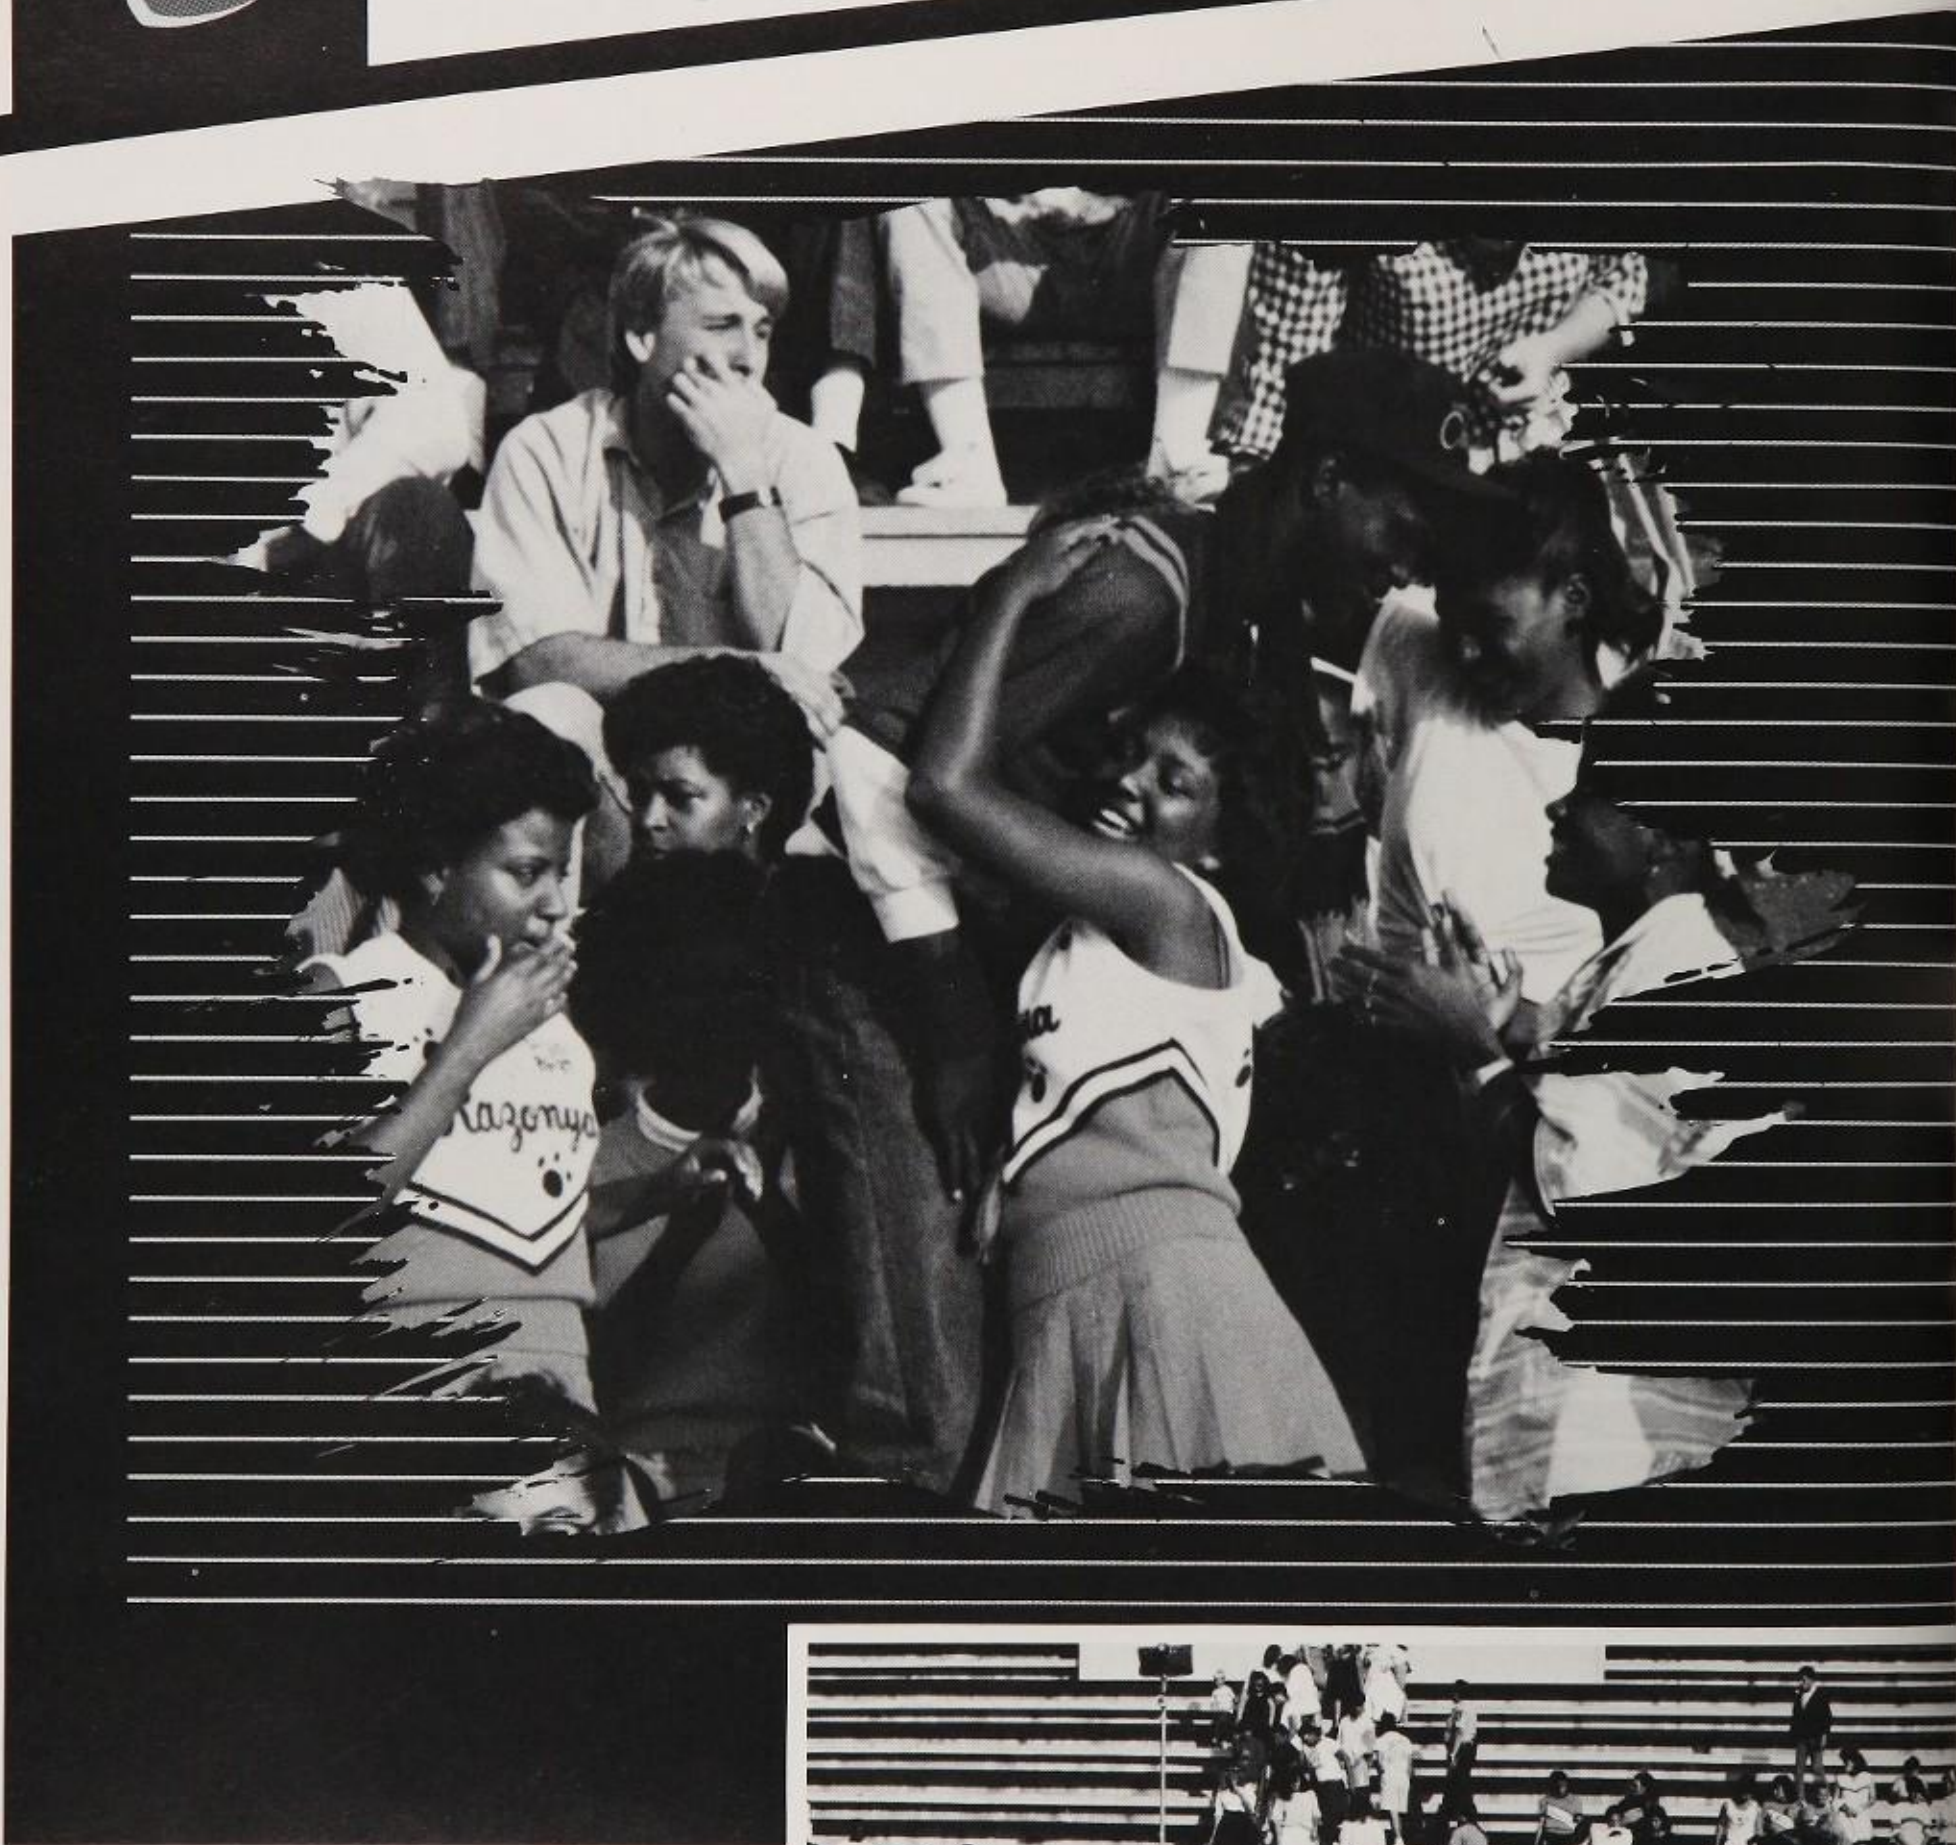

LET'S DO THE BUNNEY HOP—Sophomore John Pham takes the lead from Junior Jason DeFelice and Senior Robert Carrol. The sack race was one of the most popular events.

HEAVE HO—Senior Mike Hanna helps his team to victory. Hanna was the Commissioner of Activities.

HUG-A-BUNCH—Deanna Smith congratulates finalist Toni Church. Church was nominated by Drill Team.

FINALISTS—Toni Maldonado, Michelle Salazar, Toykia Lee, Angie Wells, Yumary Ruiz, Mike Hanna, Ed Togia, Tom Sinanian, Tony Church, Elgin Lottin.

Royal Court

What was in everyone's mind on the afternoon of October 31, 1986? It wasn't "What am I going to wear when I go trick-or-treating tonight?" but "Who's going to be the five finalists for the Homecoming King and Queen?"

Right after the 2:45 bell screeched, students ran out of their classes and rushed on to the Hal Cap field where the band was playing as spectators filled the bleachers.

Commissioner of Assemblies Trina Hoffarth and David Noya read poems to add mystery to the intriguing minds of the crowd. "Hints in the poems gave clues to the crowd as to who the five princesses and princes would be," said junior Steve Shapiro.

To maintain the curiosity and suspense within the spectator's minds and the candidate's, there was entertainment between the announcements of finalists.

This certainly was a special occasion. The chorus sang a new version of the Alma Mater for the first time. Mr. Ladin and Mr. Quarne helped compose the music for the song. And, a formal introduction of the two AFS students, Anne Devitts and Laura Saurez, was made.

NICE AND EASY—Princes Ed Togia and Tom Sinanian watch the Drill Team performance. Both were members of the Varsity Football Team.

HALF-A-MID—Pep Squad ended their performance with a pyramid. Cheerleaders danced to Sweet Thing by Yaz.

ALL RIGHT!—Cougarettes cheer-on to Toni Maldonado as she was announced one of the finalists. Drill Team also performed during the assembly.

Homecoming

STAND BY ME—Senior Angie Wells clutches her dad's arm as they await for the announcement of the Homecoming Queen. Wells was Senior Class President.

Surprise, Surprise!

(Rrrrrring!) "Hello?"
 "Hello, Tracy?"
 "Yeah, hi Mary! How was Homecoming?"
 "Oh it was really exciting! Too bad you missed it. Guess who showed up during half-time."
 "Who?"
 "Prince!"
 "What? Did you say Prince?"
 "Yep! I couldn't believe it myself. To top that off, we beat Mira Costa by 37-23."
 "Wow that's great! Who won for Homecoming King and Queen?"

 "Get a hold of this. Red and yellow balloons were airborne as Yumary Ruiz was crowned the Homecoming queen. Later, at the dance, Mike Hanna was named the Homecoming King."
 "Oh my gosh! They won? I voted for them! Now I wish I went. I sure missed a lot."
 "You should. You missed loads of excitement!"
 "Yeah, I know. Don't rub it in. Anyways, how was the dance?"

 "Boy did I have fun at the dance. Spectrum played a lot of good music and I got to dance to almost every song too!"
 "Really? With who?"
 "Oh just this cute guy I bumped into."
 "With who Mary?"
 "I have to start my term report in Consumer Ec. I gotta go Tracy!"
 "Mary! Tell me!"
 "Bye Tracy!"
 "Ma . . . !!"

DEARLY BELOVED—Rockstar "Prince" greets the crowd after he presented the envelope containing the winning name.

All Walks of Life

ON OUR WAY TO CLASS—Students of Latin backgrounds rush to class having only five minutes to get there.

WE ARE HERE—Students enthusiastically show some pride in their school. The school was considered very racially balanced by most students.

Our World Of Friends

Sightseeing. Students did it everyday, out of blue eyes, black eyes, brown eyes, green eyes . . . and there was plenty to see!

Halls and classrooms resounded with culture, echoed with colorful languages. Clothes, hairstyles and even fundraisers reflected the diversity found among students. "On many occasions, I got a chance to eat foods from other countries. The Spanish Club, the Vietnamese club . . . all groups added a taste of their backgrounds," said Vietnamese born Bogart Chang.

Between representatives of Vietnam, Japan, Mexico, and many other countries, almost every day was a holiday. While the traditional American independence was celebrated on July fourth, the fifth of May was also celebrated as Mexico's independence day. Vietnamese students hailed January 29 as their New Year's Day, while those of Jewish background set aside December 27 for Hanukah festivity. "Living in a mixed cultural society is and will always be advantageous to me," commented Thuy Nguyen, a native Vietnamese.

The difference in cultures and customs did not keep students apart, however. It was not uncommon to see a multitude of nationalities represented within a group of friends. "I feel that it was a life lasting experience to meet someone of such diversity and uniqueness as Mogombo," said Filipino Richard San Mateo.

READY FOR LUNCH?—Juniors Francis Fotu and Aliia Vanisi contemplate on where to eat lunch.

WORKING TOGETHER—Seniors Jenny Jadwin and Tala Tagaloo cut ribbons for red ribbon week. Both were student council members.

I AGREE—El Molino members Mo El-Hasan and Thuy Nguyen discuss future projects for the Knights and Diaconians.

UMMMMM, GOOD—Cougar Staff member Sonam Soni scoops up a gigantic spoonful of ice cream. Soni was also president of the Diaconians.

OH GEE, BOYS—Seniors Algin Toctin, Mike Hanna, and Ed Togia stop to chat before football practice. All three were Varsity members.

F

ads and Fashion

SPORTING THE LOOKS—Senior Melody Cudanes leads Jason Hogan and Diane Vargas go to class after lunch. Cudanes was involved in advanced art.

WHAT'S UNDER THE HANDS—Drill Team Captain Jessica Bautista rests her hands on her stylish boots while conversing.

Fast Flashy Fads

A fashion show. Fad charisma of colors like mustard yellow and mint green. Different skirts, outfits, and looks paraded around campus.

A popular item worn by most girls was boots. They varied from moccasin boots to the typical western boots. "I like to experiment with my outfits and wear my boots with long skirts," commented Senior Michelle Salazar. Fila was a brand preferred by many students. "My friends and I really like the comfort we get when we wear Fila clothes," added Bouche Robinson.

The denim look is one that always finds its way back to Hawthorne. The style being unisex made it easy for students to throw on Guess jeans, overalls, or a stonewashed jacket and sport a very casual and "kick back" look.

As for hairstyles, the gals paraded a "permed and ratted" look around campus while the guys sported a short and gelled look. Students also had unique hairstyles like Hector Guiteriez. "Hector's hair adds color and excitement to the campus," explained Melissa Wilmot, "and sets a pattern for others to express their uniqueness through clothing and hairstyle."

WHY AREN'T WE IN CLASS—Juniors Myra Vilches and Amy Sinanian are caught "running an errand" during 5th period.

WAS THIS PLANNED—Senior Wendi Van Hoose and Junior David Noya discuss the upcoming dance. Both had a unique look of their own.

HEY, THAT HURTS!—Members of the varsity football team display their passion for wild shorts. Print shorts were worn by many students.

WHAT'S UP?—Juniors Michelle Jordan and David Noya show confidence as they dance.

Movin' and Groovin'

Lost in the solitude of darkness that accompanies dim lights, two people in a crowd of many stepped together and embraced. Soft music came gently to their ears, their eyes glued to each other. Slowly they began to sway to and fro, turning to the music. Cheek to cheek, and lost in the moment, both were dead to the world. Suddenly—they broke apart! Wham! Swoosh! Jam! A faster beat crashed upon the scene.

These dances were held after the home football and basketball games. Sponsored by the Booster Club, dances usually brought in a profit of about $200 to $300 a night. The dances were held in the West Gym where the DJ's provided their musical talents. Booster Club used this money to help keep the snackstand going and for functions that benefitted the school.

HEEEEEEEY!—Party people Stephen Cunningham, Crystal Hudson, and Sheila Morris groove to the sounds of Spectrum, one of the new, popular DJ's.

THE GROUPIES—Group effort is displayed by Joy Carlson, Colleen Aylward, Lisa Andrade, and Michelle Woods. Some students preferred dancing in a circle.

1 . . . 2 . . . FREDDY'S COMING FOR YOU—Freshman Nelson Reales and his friend scared half the school population with their original masks.

Strangers in the Day

DON'T forget me!

"Am I having a nightmare or what?" As I entered school, I was welcomed by strange looking creatures; people weren't people anymore! Clowns, watches, hearts, pirates, animals, and all other beings roamed around campus.

The bell rang. As I walked into one of my classes, I noticed that nothing seemed to be right - even my teacher wasn't normal - he was a WOLF!!! Something creepy was going on, the wolf sounded like Mr. Baumgartner, but where was he? I looked around but he was nowhere in sight. 10-31-86 was up on the board, there was something about this day I just couldn't remember.

I went on to my next class. "Did anybody bring their implements?" Implements? "Bring the food, drinks, and party equipment to the back table." Party? "Is the carved pumpkin ready to be brought to the cafeteria to be judged?" Carved pumpkin—judged?

Everything seemed to be coming back little by little. I finally got everything together. Pumpkin carving contest, party, October 31. "Happy Halloween!"

PROUD TO BE A FRESHMAN— Junior Shawn Pitta won for "Best Over All." It was the highest award in the costume contest.

TEACHERS???—Theresa Fernandez, "Baumgerwulf", and "first mate" Robbins judge the Halloween costume contest. Many teachers dressed up for the occasion.

ROCKIN RONNY—Gliding along campus is the President himself. Creative costumes were seen all over campus.

I'LL BOP YOU!—Yearbook staff members, Karen Hanna and Larry Rich kid around in front of UC San Diego. Yearbook camp was a lot of hard work.

100% CHEERLEADERS—Pep Squad members get together to capture a moment of their stay at UC Irvine. They were at a camp for four days.

School Spirit Year Round

Dear Sis,

I never knew camping could be this exciting!! My summer is really going great. So far, I went to Yearbook and Pep Squad camp. I'm now at Drill Team camp. I know you're dying to hear about it so I'll fill you in.

Yearbook camp was held at the University of San Diego for one week. We got first place for our theme, "Underlying Currents", and we also got first place for our copy titled, "Of Ink, Sweat, and Peers". The copy was about camp itself. We learned a lot of new ideas for copy and layout styles, and I know we'll put them to good use!

At Pep Squad camp, we stayed in the dorm at U.C. Irvine for four days. We were taught many new cheers and were also evaluated on our home routine by the U.S.A. cheerleading staff. We got superior ribbons for our performance. Isn't that fantastic? Well there's more fun!

Drill Team camp is truly thrrrrrilling! So far, we were evaluated on our overall performance and received second place (excellent). We were also evaluated on our home routine and received first place (superior). We're learning new routines right now. It's really neat because we can use these ideas to form new routines for school.

Wow! I can really see what an advantage camp can be. I not only have fun competing, but I also learn new skills, ideas, and meet new friends. Speaking of new friends, I gotta go! That total hunk, Tarzan is at my door. Bye for now!

Your favorite & only sis,
Gina Savage

MOVIN' OUT—Yearbook staff members carry their luggage from the dorm to get ready for a long drive back home. UC San Diego was a 3 hour drive from Hawthorne.

GIVE EM' WHAT YOU'VE GOT!—Some Pep Squad members show their excitement at camp. Giving bright smiles was a great asset for a cheerleader.

FACTORY

HERE WE COME—Within two years the Monkees had over nine top 20 singles and four #1 albums.

ORCHESTRAL MANOEUVERING—OMD's winter concert to promote their new album, "Pacific Age," was held at the Universal.

Madness in the Monkees' Cage

"Even though there were more wrinkles and less hair, they had a lot of energy," remarked Yvette Vigil. Monkeemania returned at the Greek Theatre last September when the Monkees' 20th Anniversary Tour brought back in concert Micky Dolenz, Davy Jones, and Peter Tork. The release of their first album and the premiere of their television show had won them rave reviews and Emmy awards. The Monkees fans of twenty years ago raised Monkees fans of today. Both young and old were seen in the audience singing along with the Monkees' theme.

"It was a riot!!" said Alex Gonzales. The Long Beach Arena was a scene of blood and violence at Run-D.M.C.'s concert. Many of the audience were gang members and the tension between all the youngsters brought upon a riot of bottles and beer cans.

"The opening was killer. When the curtains dropped everybody got into it," described Mark Reynoso. Depeche Mode's concert to promote their new album Black Celebration. The group's efforts to create their own style of music by using a large variety of instruments attracted many fans.

From the Smiths to David Lee Roth, whatever your taste, concert scenes were the happening places on weekends.

CAN THIS BE LOVE?— Van Halen's big summer concert kicked off with its new lead singer Sammy Hagar.

LET'S CELEBRATE!!— Fast fashion fans flocked to the Forum and Irvine Meadows to watch Depeche Mode perform.

W

Weekends

POPPING POSITION—Pristina Jackson gives a customer her change. Jackson not only worked on weekends but also right after school.

GLOWING GALA—Neons of color bedazzled the eyes of South Bay shoppers at the Galleria entrance, the newest hang out for many teenagers.

Flame

Friday at sunset. Where were many students to be found? On the shores of the Pacific sharing the warmth and glow of an open fire. Besides the roaring crash of the waves and the rush of the wind, laughter, gossip, music, and the crackle of a fire could be heard. Bonfires at Imperial Beach were the rage on weekends. "Most people come to the bonfires to get away from their daily lives," said Marc Allieri.

For many, the weekend was a time to forget about school, homework, or cleaning up their rooms. But for those who held jobs it was just an extra two days to add more digits to their checks. Millers Outpost, Mann Theaters, and Hot Dog on a Stick were among the many employers who hired students.

For those students who had teachers who gave homework over weekends the library became their hangout. Reports and term papers also attracted many students there.

Sports and hobbies were also popular activities on weekends. Surfing, tennis, basketball, and volleyball were favorites. One person who enjoyed a unique hobby of collecting styrofoams was Mr. Moore. "I like to get a bunch together and listen to them crunch between my fingers," he said.

Whatever the activity, weekends were always looked forward to.

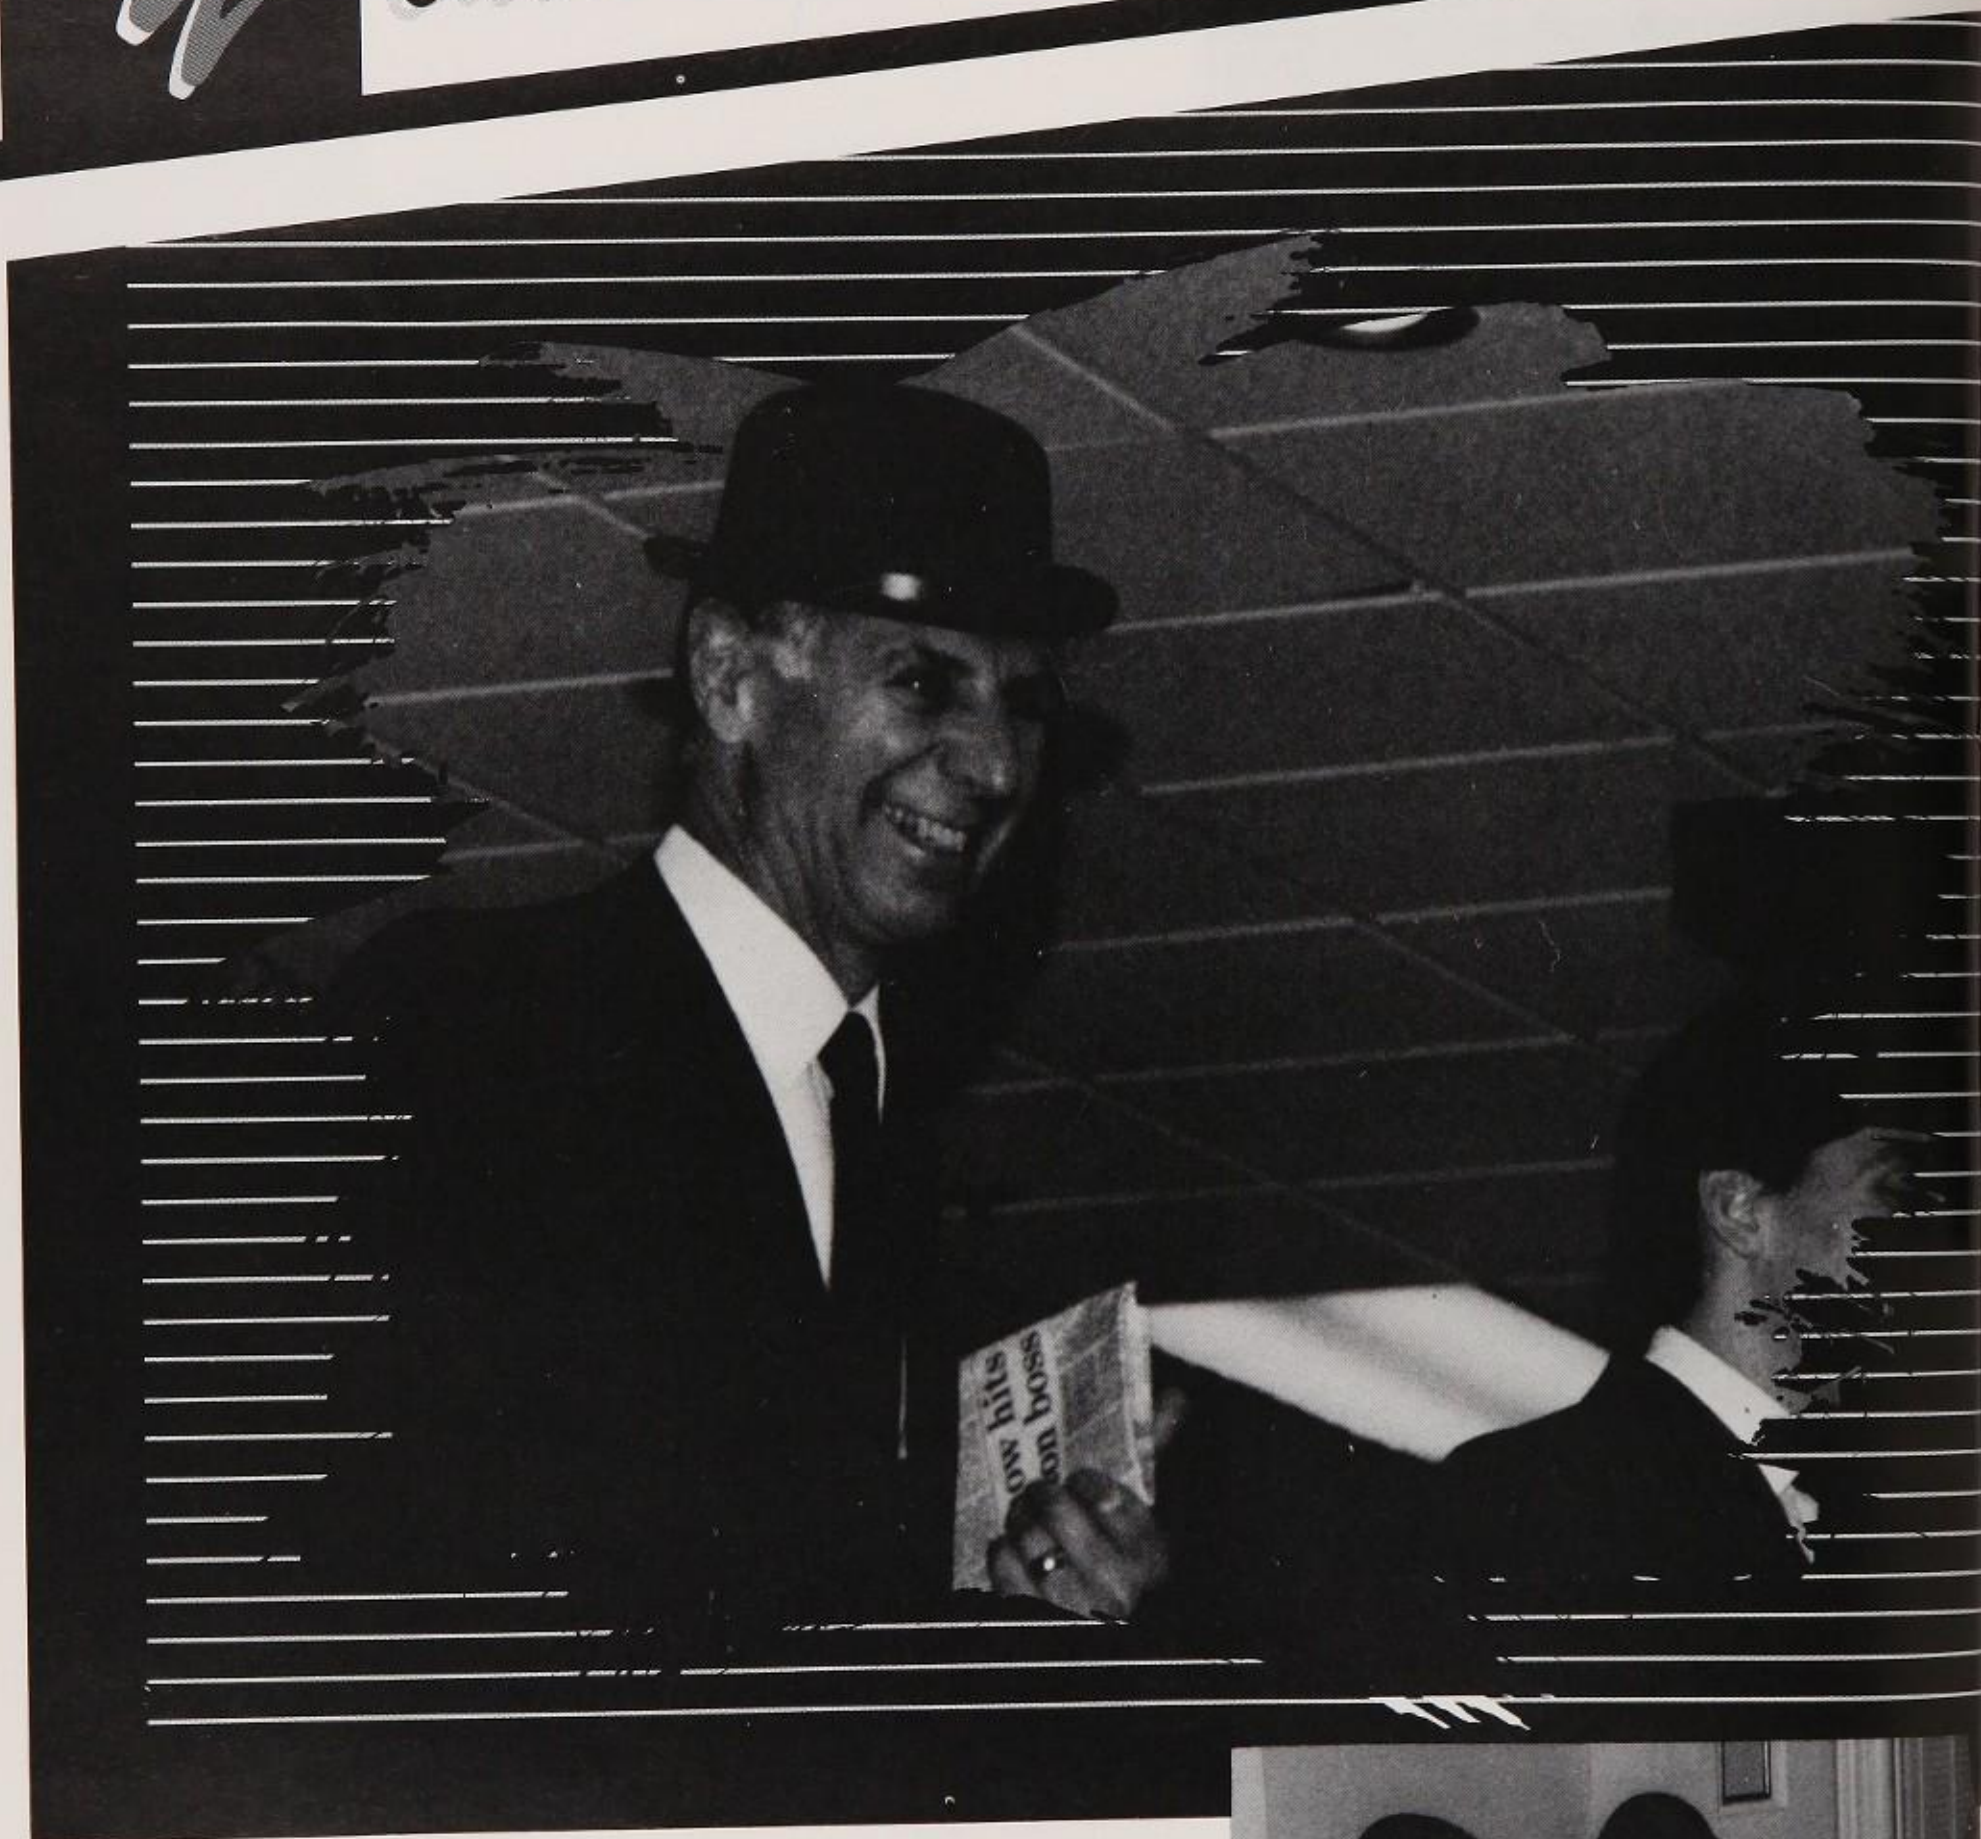

JUST ONE?—Sheri Rixey whips up a battered dog on a stick. A hot dog and a lemonade were always a dollar each.

WHAT DO YOU WANT?—James Harris kicks back under the stars at Gorman. Harris was often dirt-bike riding over weekends.

outh And Government

SIMPLY SMASHING— As part of a sure fire wardrobe for his trip to England, Youth Governor Pete Cobler bestowed Governor Deukmejian at SAC with a bowler hat, and a newspaper to tuck under his arm.

IN THE CHAMBERS—Assemblywoman Nancy Benitez discusses a bill going through committee with a fellow Assemblyman. The Assembly was considered the best and most superior of the Youth legislature.

Living By the Law

SUMMIT MEETING—Foreign exchange students Ann DeVits from Belgium and Laura Suarez from Argentina have a discussion in the capital's gallery. Both DeVits and Suarez were in the International Student Delegation (ISD) at SLO and SAC.

DEATH PENALTY—Delegates Susie Reynoso and Nancy Benitez goof around in their hut mut during leisure time at SLO. Centinela Valley sponsored a bill dealing with the Death Penalty.

"To what point do you rise?" asked the president.

I wish to question the speaker," answered Sophomore Susie Reynoso.

Students educated with parliamentary procedure. How was this possible? Not by Student Council or Key Club. This knowledge was provided by outside organization Youth And Government of the Hawthorne YMCA.

Eleven students, including our two AFS students, were in-involved in YAG and went through a year's process of making up bills and preparing to take over the capitol for one week.

The program began with weekly meetings. Then two major conferences were held at San Luis Obispo in preparation for Sacramento. "It's so exciting when I'm actually learning what goes on in the capitol's chambers," stated Raymond Camberos.

Delegations with members up to 100 students attended the conferences. Governors along with important legislative positions were elected at SLO in which the Centinela Valley delegation had one candidate for Speaker Pro Tem of the Senate.

In Sacramento. Delegations ran the capitol for one week. "YAG has been a great experience for me," commented Ann DeVits, "and Sac was the best!"

PASSING THE CROWN— Junior Karen Orquiola crowns her successor, Sophia Flores. Dance Production nominated Flores.

HAND IN HAND— Sophomore Carla Cottledge and her escort take the traditional walk. Cottledge was nominated by girls varsity basketball.

Duo Dilemmas

"Who are you going to the dance with, Sandy?"

"Well I asked Sam, but then I found out that Carla didn't have a date, so I gave Sam to Carla and I asked Robbie. Sam doesn't know I asked Robbie yet, so we have to con Carla into asking Sam to the dance, you see?"

"Yeah, I get it, this is the Backwards Dance! Right!"

"Do you know who Terry's going with?"

"The last I heard, Terry didn't have a date, but she did hint to Mike that she wanted to ask him. As far as I know, Mike would rather go with Heather."

"Well, I overheard from Bill that Heather's going with ..."
(At the dance)

"Hi Sandy. Your dress is so cute!"

"Thanks Lisa. Yours is too. I wonder who's gonna win for Sophomore Sweetheart."

"I think it's a tough competition for the title since there are fifteen candidates running."

"Will all the candidates please line up for the announcement."

"Oh, great! They're going to announce the winner soon."

"And the winner is, Sophia Flores!"

"Alright! I was hoping she'd win!"

"Me too! Hey Lisa, where are you and Brian planning on going after this?"

"We're going to the Marriot with Terry and Bill, Azure and Ty, and Jayne and Blaine. Wanna join us?"

"No thanks, Robbie and I are going to a fancy French restaurant."

"I wonder where Stewart and Monika are planning on going."

"Woowee!! They didn't tell anyone, but rumors were spread that they were secretly planning to ...!"

you're really a sweet guy. Glad I meet you in 8th grade at Dana. you are cool then and you are now. stay as cute as you are and have one hell of a summer.

BEING SISTERLY— Beribboned babes Eleanor and Erenie Sia share the spotlight. The Sia sisters have six more siblings yet to attend high school.

Relatively Speaking

Siblings going to the same school sometimes caused confusion. This was compounded by the fact that many participated in the same activities such as Eleanor and Erenie Sia who were both active members of Drill Team. "We don't really get along, but since we both enjoy being on Drill Team so much we put up with it," commented Eleanor.

Siblings could be seen hanging out together, seeming to be the best of buddies like Cuong and Linh Lu. "Linh and I are good friends at school, but at home we fight a lot," said Cuong.

At times students around campus claimed having double vision when they thought to have seen the same person in two different places. There were many sets of twins who roamed the school. Being a twin was sometimes difficult, but also rewarding as Junior Paul Atkins explained, "Wayne is always there for me to talk to when I have a problem."

Some siblings had to follow in the footsteps of their older brothers and sisters. Reputations had to be dealt with. "I had two brothers who have come to this school. Living up to their accomplishments has been a challenge," stated Junior Karen Orquiola. Benefits came with the hard times. Younger siblings had an opportunity to hear what high school life would be like and how to avoid the pitfalls.

A RARE MOMENT— Junior Eleanor Sia gives younger sister Erenie a little bit of expert advice. Both were active Drill Team members.

THE BRAT PACK— Alumni Mitch and Nino Orquiola sit on the sides of sister Karen. Karen will be the second to the last of the Orquiolas to graduate.

IN THEIR SUNDAY BEST—Siblings Tammy and Timmy Herrin spend the afternoon in their yard. Older brother Tommy is an alumni.

A

Day in a Life

HMMM—Freshman Jenny Wilmot lets time fly by on a school night. Phone calls and magazines take up most of students' time on school nights.

LET'S SEE—Marisela Gonzalez does a lab during third period biology. Many faces droop after this class.

Freaky

Friday

I DON'T WANNA GO HOME—Rina Garcia relates her days' adventure with her peers. After school was the perfect time to talk to friends.

AHHHHH—Trina Hoffarth spends first period in Student Council. The class lead by Dan Karella perks up everyone's day.

5:30 The alarm blasts a second time and I find myself on the floor.

5:35 I crash into the shower. Iced water pours all over me.

5:50 I grab the curling iron not knowing someone has turned it on. (3 seconds later) Ouch!

6:00 I slip into my jeans and the zipper rips.

6:10 I find a safety pin and fix the snapped off button.

6:30 I go to the kitchen to get breakfast finding out that we ran out of breakfast goodies.

6:35 I head for the door and it starts raining. (a second later) "Mom! Can you give me a ride?!"

7:00 I knock on my mom's door and she comes out with her curlers still on.

7:10 I get out of the car and my books scatter all over the puddle.

7:15 The teacher yells, "Where have you been?" and gives me an hour detention.

9:30 My math teacher calls on me to do a homework problem which I didn't do.

10:10 My English teacher gives us topics for an essay test for a book discussion.

10:11 I just remembered we were supposed to read a book.

10:15 I start writing an essay for my own novel.

11:30 My teacher calls on me to read a paragraph in foreign language with gum in my mouth.

12:19 Sitting at 'Rick's' I splash ketchup all over my pants.

3:01 Running out of class, the safety pin on my jeans pops.

4:15 I go to the mall with my friends and get new jeans for the game.

5:30 I'm at the register and I find out that I don't have enough money.

6:13 We miss the bus and must walk to the game.

7:42 We discover we're sitting on the visiting school's bleachers and have been cheering for the wrong team.

9:11 The DJ does not show up for the after game dance, so it is cancelled.

9:27 It begins to rain, the pin holding my pants together pops, and I flee home exhausted.

OH MY GOSH—Dolores Torres and friends hurry up and do their homework during lunch. Lunch hours were times where many crammed for tests.

Christmas Dance

GET DOWN—Senior Floyd Chapman and his date show there stuff as they dance to songs animated by Sound Control. Sound Control DJ'ed many of the school's dances.

YOU BE ILLIN'—Getting into the rhythm of the music is Maria Martinez and Jose Ramirez. Many students went to the dance with a date.

Above

Excitement rocked the Hawthorne Memorial Center on December 12 as students danced to a mixture of music provided by Sound Control while they anxiously awaited for the announcement of the 1986-87 Christmas King and Queen. "I'm really pleased with the music because the DJ played a lot of good songs", commented sophomore Maria Carlton.

After a few hours of dancing and fun, the moment everyone anticipated had arrived. Junior ASB Vice President David Noya announced the winners. Claps and cheers of approval filled the room as Richard San Mateo and Jessica Bautista were announced the 1986-87 Christmas King and Queen. "I was really shocked when I was announced the Christmas Queen", exclaimed Jessica Bautista. "I couldn't believe I won", added Richard San Mateo.

The traditional coronation dance followed the announcement as the King and Queen danced to the theme song—Earth Angel. After the dance, many students went out to dinner, drove around, and went to the beach with their dates and friends. "I would do crazy things like go to the beach with my friends when it's freezing cold", said senior Roxanna Cecena.

EARTH ANGELS—King Richard San Mateo and Queen Jessica Bautista dance to the theme song, "Earth Angel". San Mateo was nominated by El Molino and Bautista by Drill Team.

EMPTY YOUR WALLET—Juniors Kevin Bleur and Natomia McDaniels pay for their pictures before posing. The dance pictures ranged from $7-$40.

WE'VE GOT THE LOOK—There were many social gatherings such as these. Many students showed off their formal clothes at these dances.

Passport to SCHOLASTICS

You didn't have to be a thrill-seeker to experience the Rides at Cougar Country. Some tourists even complained of the drudgery of day-to-day Rides. But there was more to Cougar Country Rides than getting an "A" ticket. New instructors such as Mr. Hancock, Mr. Wegener, Mr. Harris, Ms. Campbell, Mr. Del a Rocha and Ms. Newman brought fresh insights into the teaching world. Brand spankin' new lab tables adorned the science rooms, facilitating the experiments of budding scientists.

BIG AL—Senior Alex Cole completes his worksheet for Honors Spanish. Honors Spanish was cancelled second semester.

I PLEDGE...—Science teacher Dave Chichester pledges his allegiance to the flag. The Pledge was broadcast over the PA system by the current ASB president.

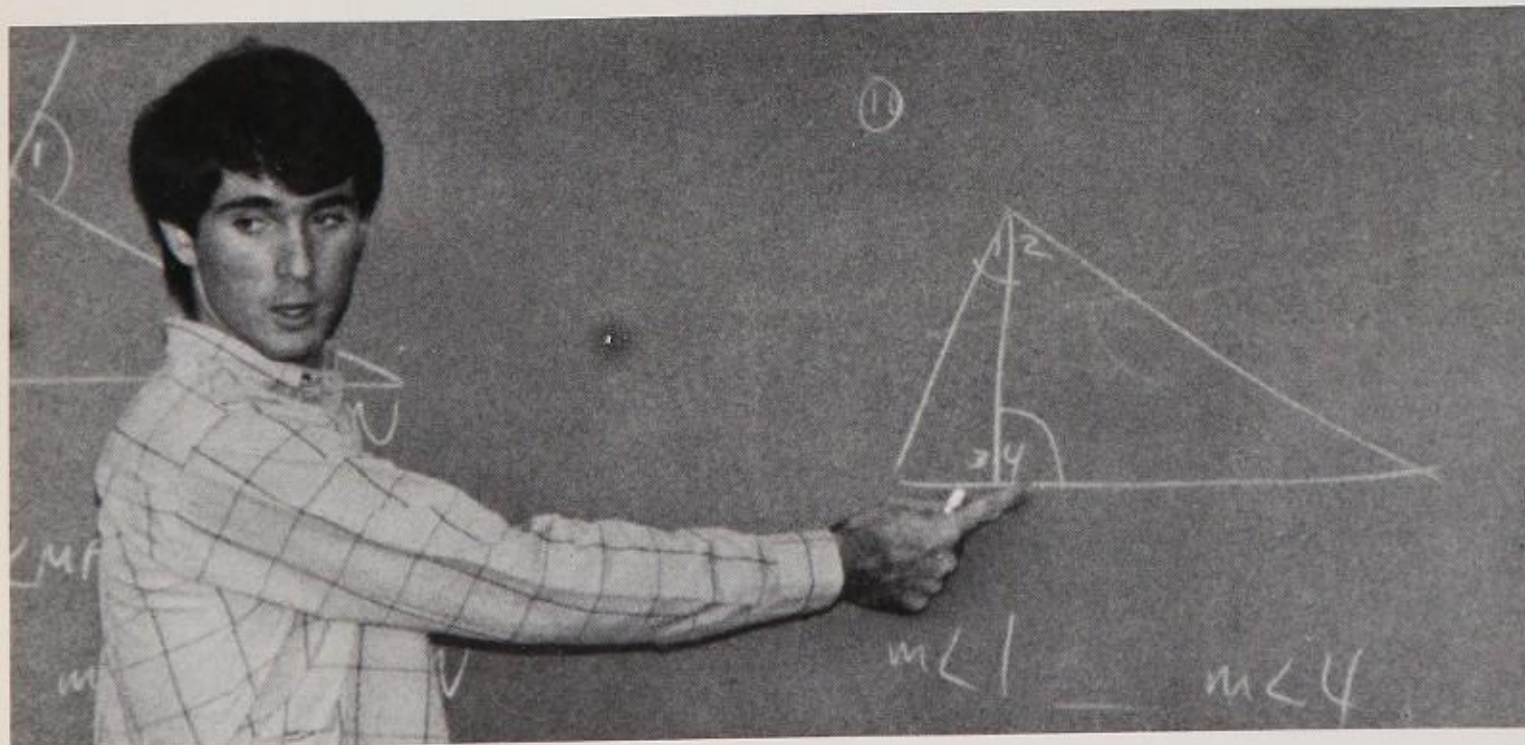

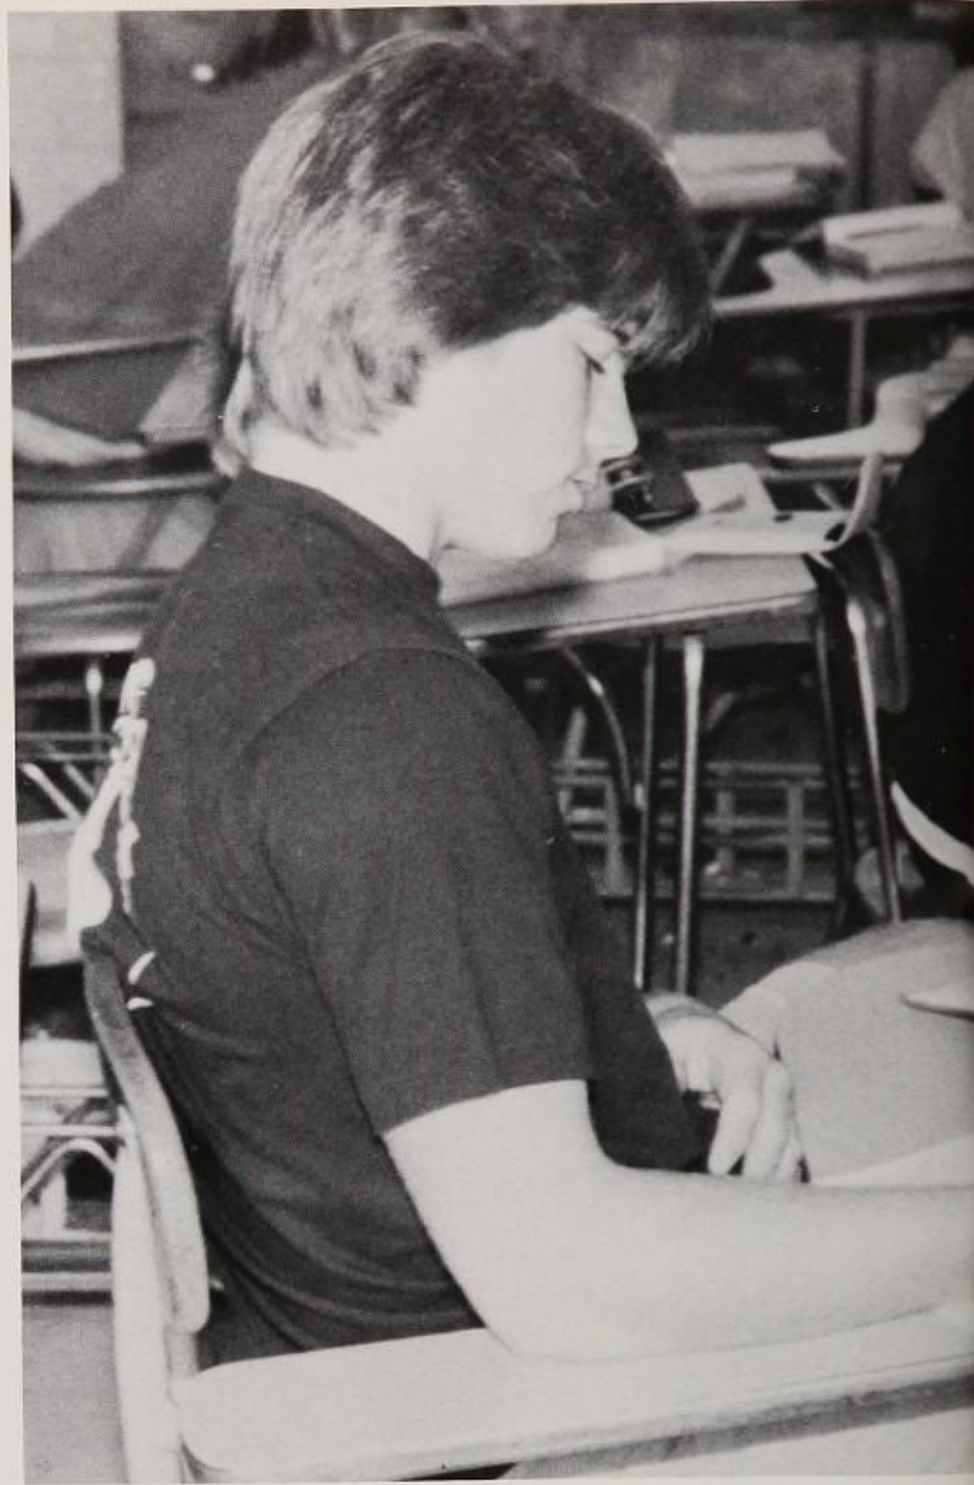

Problems and Solutions

Equations, slopes, square roots, and graphs. These words evoke groans of dread from students and teachers alike. The math department, headed by Robert Caldwell, underwent drastic changes as a result of administrative decisions.

Honors I and II were replaced by Honors Algebra and Honors Geometry. Honors II was revoked because it was found to be more harmful than helpful. The reason being that it was a confusing rerun of Honors I. Tim Doiron said, "Honors II was a waste of my time, I didn't learn anything but I'm glad I'm in Honors III." In addition to the new Honors classes, Mr. Caldwell said that he also expected a consumer math class for Seniors and Juniors.

The two year requirement was not as useful to the students as the administration wanted it to be. That was because many students went directly into Algebra A instead of Algebra 1. Many of the students who went into Algebra A had a hard time passing Algebra C. "Algebra A and B were so easy, but as soon as I got into Algebra C I almost flunked," remarked the embarrassed Kristen Herrera. This problem was solved by adding a basic Algebra class that taught the fundamentals to students not college bound. Algebra teacher, Calvin Clark stated, "If we had gotten a more basic Algebra class, I believe that many students would have benefited from it."

COUNTING ON IT— Algebra student Yaida Guzman attacks her homework. Students were expected to do at least two and a half hours of homework.

FROM A DIFFERENT ANGLE— Math teacher Mr. Baumgartner proves that angle one equals angle four. Mr. Baumgartner was also involved in Science Club events.

NOT EVEN— Senior David Nelms reacts to Mr Moore's homework assignment. Nelms got many second looks for his original clothing style.

IS THAT RIGHT?— Skateboard fanatic Tom Jess checks a math problem. Many students learned to balance their interests and schoolwork to produce winning scores.

ABC'S— Impatiently, Ouzen Chan waits for Mr Moore to figure out her grade. Mr Moore's humor made him a favorite among many students.

Bright Ideas

"Cave-like, dimly lit rooms." This was the description of the English classes in building 19 before the rooms got new lighting. New lighting was not the only improvement in the English department. Dr. Guenther, district curriculum coordinator, helped to revise our curriculum to come into alignment with California state's Model Curriculum Standards for English. These standards required that: 1) All students read literature, not just students in the above average courses; 2) Writing assignments should be based on literature and reading experience; and 3) there should be increased emphasis on speaking skills.

The reaction by Ms. Burkett (head of the English department) towards the CAP scores, which are taken in the freshman year, was, "We really haven't done as well as we would hope." But, she did see hopes of improvement because of the funds focussed on getting new English text books, especially for the general composition courses.

The recently formed accreditation committee discussed the strengths and weaknesses in areas concerning the English department. The strengths included the dedication and degree of expertise of the teachers, and the weaknesses were mainly the lack of adequate funding.

NICE SHIRT!—Mr. Atkins shows off his latest look. Atkins was the advisor for the Sci-Fax Club.

ME AGAIN?—Senior Sandra Curiel looks annoyed as she is called upon once more. Sandra's favorite food was pepperoni pizza.

THIS MIGHT BE FUN—Junior Cory Nagatoshi pays attention in class. Nagatoshi enjoyed heavy metal music.

GOTTA HURRY—Junior Jose Lopez does last minute touch-ups. Lopez enjoyed attending football games.

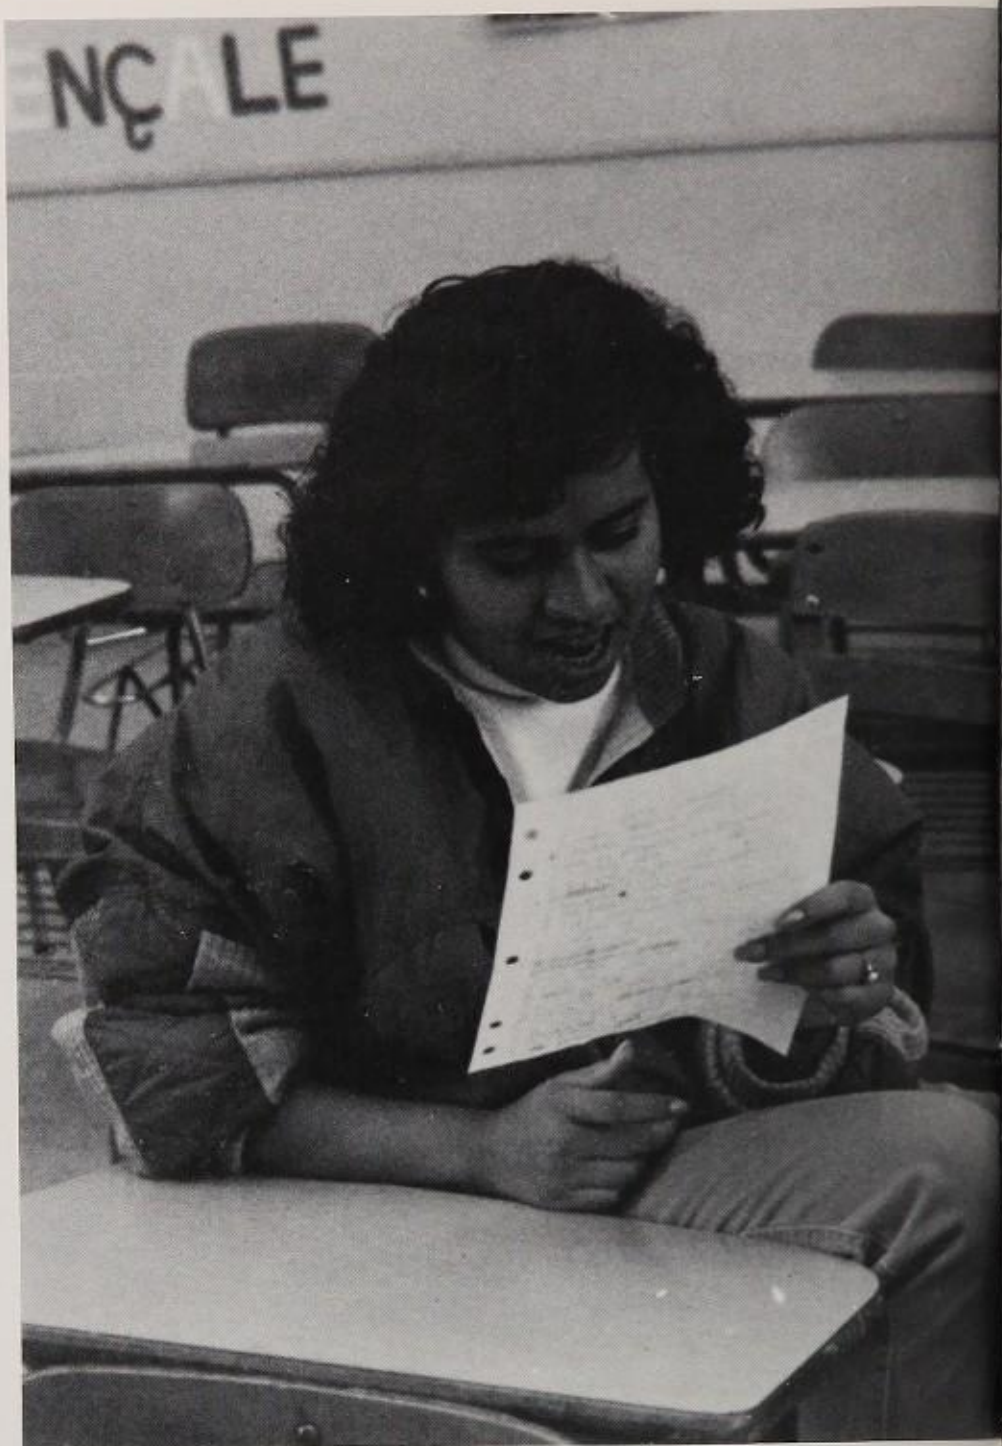

World of Wegener

"A man with a lot of experience and a terrific sense of humor." This was the description of Mr. Wegener, the new German teacher, as given by Senior Alex Streinz.

Mr. Wegener, before coming to California, lived in Germany for 38 years where he taught English and French for 8 years. He enjoyed teaching in Germany and found the Germanic mornings very appealing. (In Germany, students only have an 8 to 1 school day. This is what is meant by Germanic mornings). Mr. Wegener has taught in many other schools in California, but he described HHS as being "very nice." He commented, "I like this school because of its diversity and cosmopolitan atmosphere."

Mr. Wegener has had loads of travelling experience. In just one day, for example, he had breakfast in Switzerland, lunch in France, and dinner in Austria.

Mr. Wegener's favorite spots in Deutschland include Munich, the Black forest, and Rhineland. His favorite German foods include wienerschnitzel and sauerbraten with Rhine wine.

HOW'S THIS SOUND?—Senior Zohre Jamily practices reading with Junior Ann Marie Sexton. Sexton was in Honors Math and English.

GIVE ME A BREAK—Junior Quyen Chau thinks of all the homework she has to do. Chau's favorite subject was math.

LET ME SEE—Ms. Harris looks through the "A" papers of a recent test. Ms. Harris enjoyed watching "flicks" in Westwood.

BON JOUR—Junior Vanessa Gonzales crams for the test during the next period. This was her third year in French.

NOT NOW!!—Nguyen Ly's privacy is invaded by a photographer. Ly was a first year member of the Knights.

The Sky's the Limit

You are here to be introduced to two upcoming classes, Oceanography and Aeroscience. These courses would encourage students to take more science classes other than the required life science and physical science courses. Rajen Mehta said, "If these classes are to be incorporated into the science program, I would be more than willing to take one or both of them."

Oceanography would be a practical class because our school was close to the ocean and many students went to the beach. "Because I enjoy the beach and would like to learn more about the life in the ocean, I would definitely enroll in an Oceanography class," expressed Adam Hatrak. An Aeroscience class would also be practical due to the fact that many students were involved in the Aerospace Club and because our school was surrounded by a lot of major aerospace corporations, such as: Hughes Aircraft, Northrop, TRW, and McDonell Douglas.

Barbara Takumi, head of the Science Department, expected 15 computers for the science classes in order to have computer aided experiments. Physics teacher, Michael Moore, quoted, "I believe that these new computers would have helped students correct their mistakes and enable them to do experiments that in the past they wouldn't have been able to do."

MICROMANIA—Junior Raul Cordero examines his experiment under the microscope. Raul earned an "A" in biology.

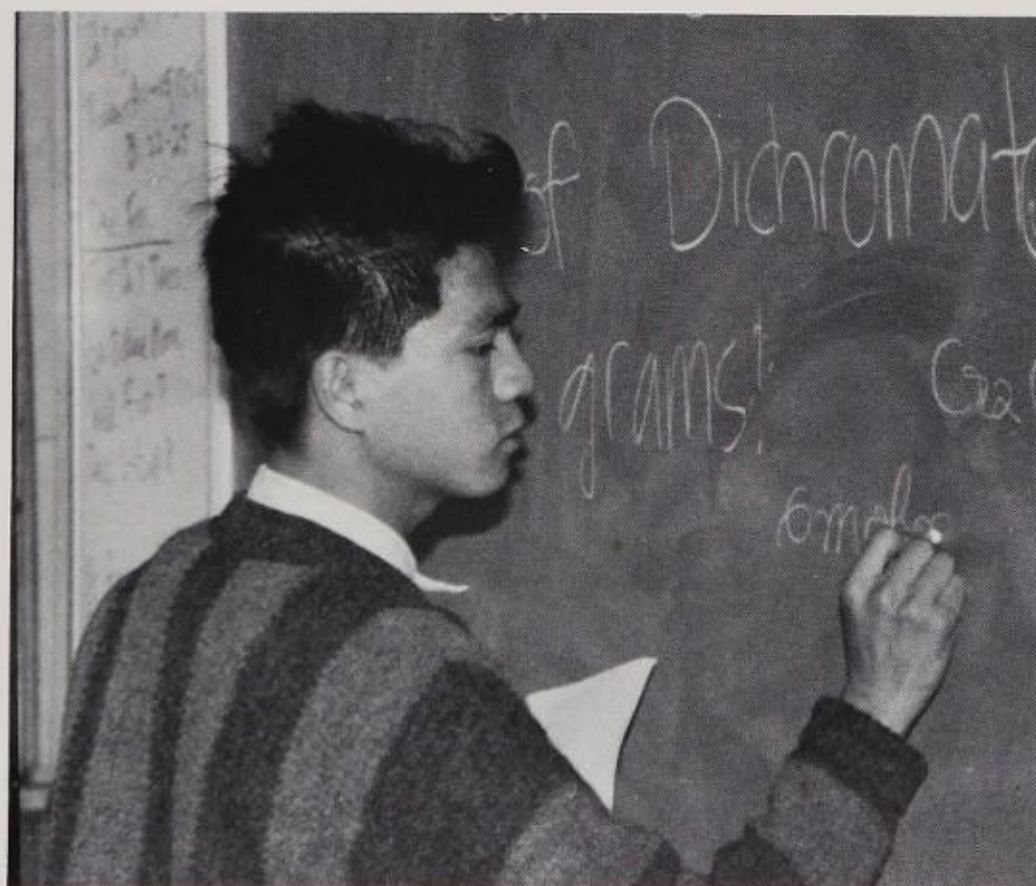

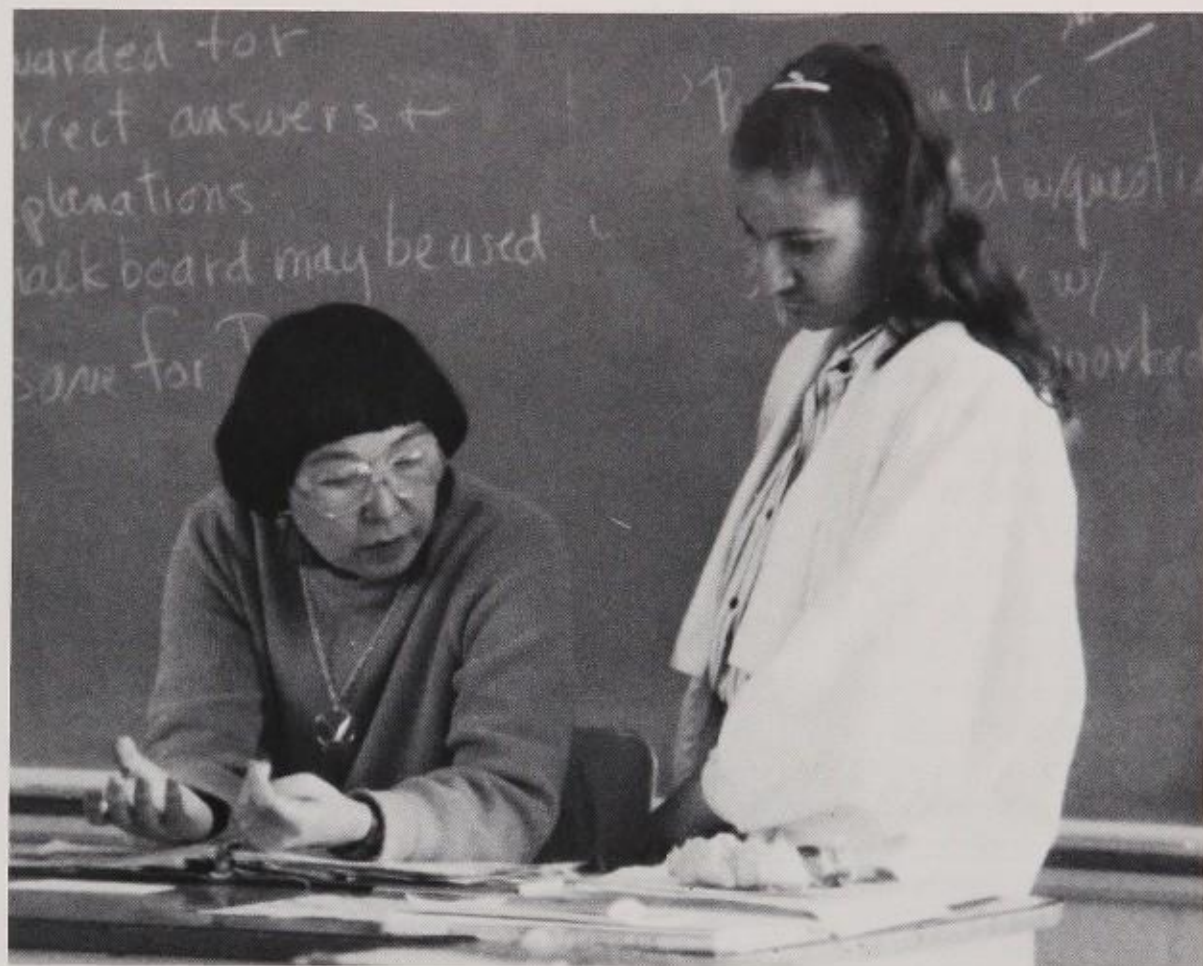

IS THIS RIGHT?—Mr. Andrade looks on as Carlos Ramsey and Tonya Patterson work together to finish their lab. Biology was highlighted by mind-blowing experiments.

PRECISION WORK—Melissa Irlbeck learns to preserve her egg yoke. This was an experiment done by most students in Mr. Andrade.

BOARD WORK—Quoc Mao works on the board to figure out a chemical problem. Chemistry was a challenging class for many students.

Ups & Downs

"You know, I really hate my PE class."

"That's funny, I really enjoy it."

"Well, in my class Coach Bree makes us do warm-up exercises before we get to play sports."

"We do warm-ups in Coach Plum's class too."

"Yeah, but Bree is always watching us to make sure we're not just sitting around."

"Well what's wrong with that? If you ask me I think the teachers are just doing their job. Plus I really enjoy all those games we get to play."

"I never thought of it that way. I suppose your right."

Students became aware of the fact that being physically fit was very important. They knew it was necessary not only to have a strong mind, but a strong body too. "I think PE is a very important part of my daily routine. It helps me get my mind off my troubles," stated Sophomore Tricia Waayers.

The Physical Education faculty realized the continuing physical awareness of this generation and took steps to put these values into the program. "Kids now-a-days really need to emphasize keeping trim and in good condition and our jobs are to point them in the right direction," said Coach Bree.

The instructors offered not only a refreshing and recreational break from the academic program, but also a sense of competition and companionship.

HERE I COME—Maria Sanchez is running that extra lap around the track. Running was a terrific way to stay in shape.

I GOT A BOO BOO—Andrew Wig carefully warms up before practice. Warming up was important to a healthy workout.

NOT QUITE MC ENROE—Melissa Herrera returns a ball after it was served against the wall. She was a Freshman this year.

SPREAD UM—George Yanez stretches out for afterschool athletics. He was a varsity Cross Country runner.

WHAT A STANCE—Gloria Gonzales is getting ready to return the tennis ball. Tennis was one of the many sports to play during PE.

Academic Opportunities

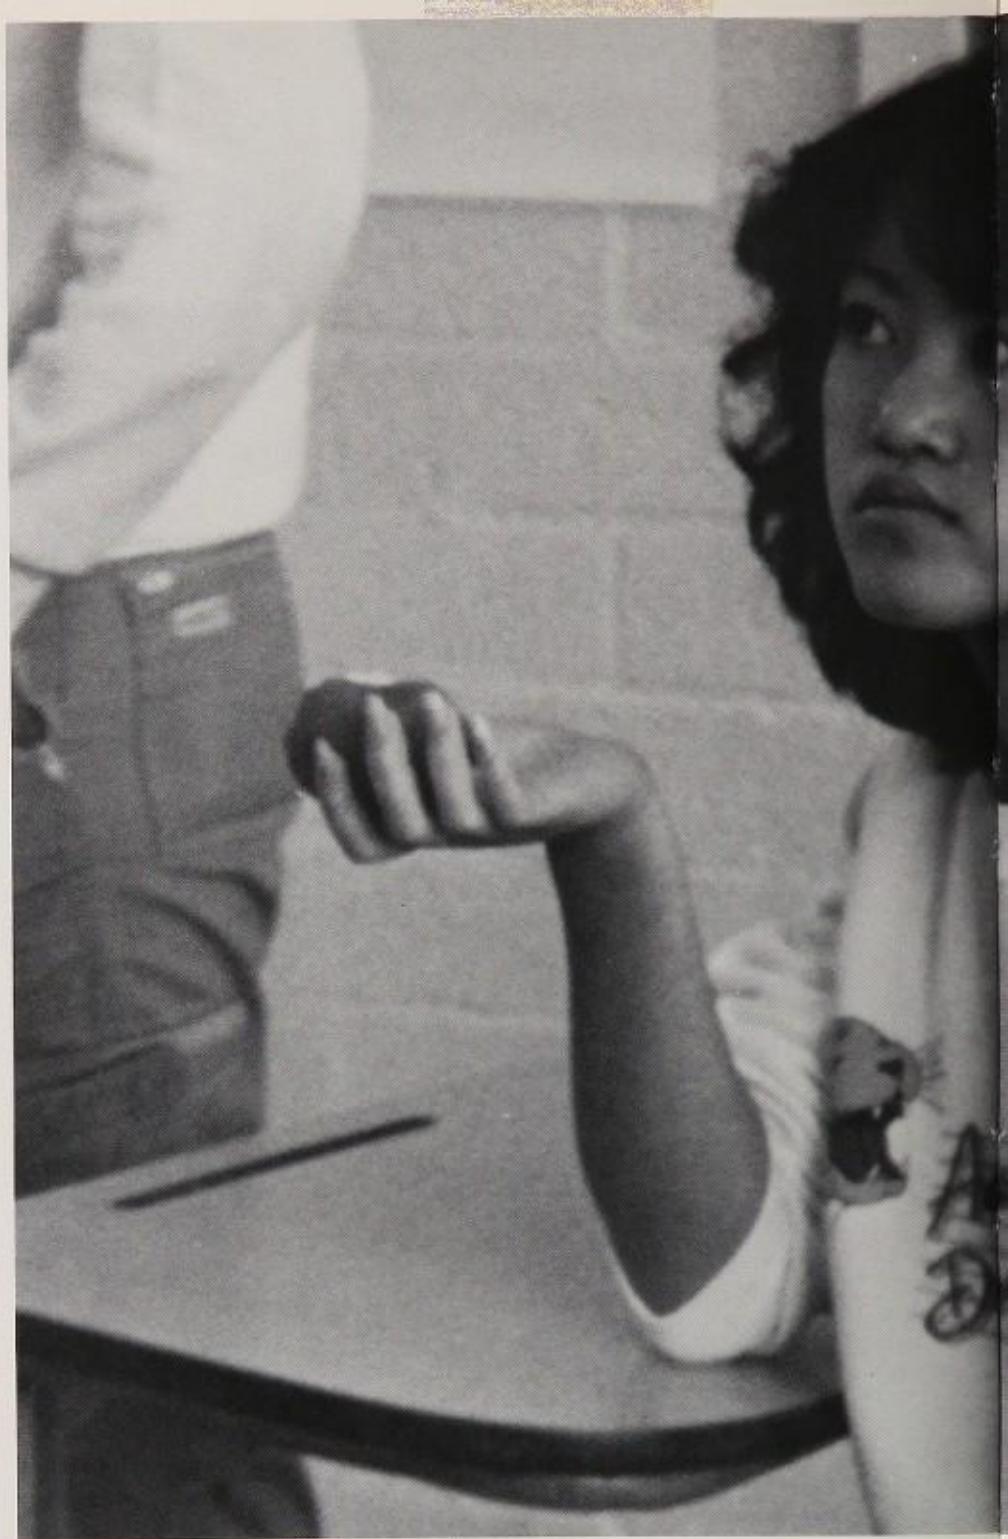

Scholastics was not limited to the boundaries of the school. The Academic Decathlon team took a summer course to prepare for the grueling competition. The eight members with their advisor, Tim Baumgartner had to read Hamlet by Shakespeare and Heart of Darkness by Joseph Conrad. They had to take tests in ten separate categories including a super quiz on the writing of the Constitution of the United States. Member Marcie Herrin stated, "Although the tests were hard and the preparation was tough, I had a good time."

With the absence of study hall, the District decided to put in an Opportunities program. Headed by Dave Chauncey this program was designed for 14 and 15 year olds that had problems being in a regular class.

This program tried to help students to help themselves. The Opportunities program was established to change study habits and attitudes. Many students were able to go through this program and succeed in regular classes.

Yet this program did not run on the smoothest road. Cut-backs prevented the program from getting the computers they asked for. The program was still moving forward, but the computers would have let the students learn faster.

Dave Chauncey concluded, "We're making progress despite the setbacks. I really appreciate all their help."

TWO HEADS ARE BETTER—Academic Decathlon Instructor Mr. Baumgartner glances over Bogart Chang's essay. Bogart also delivered a speech.

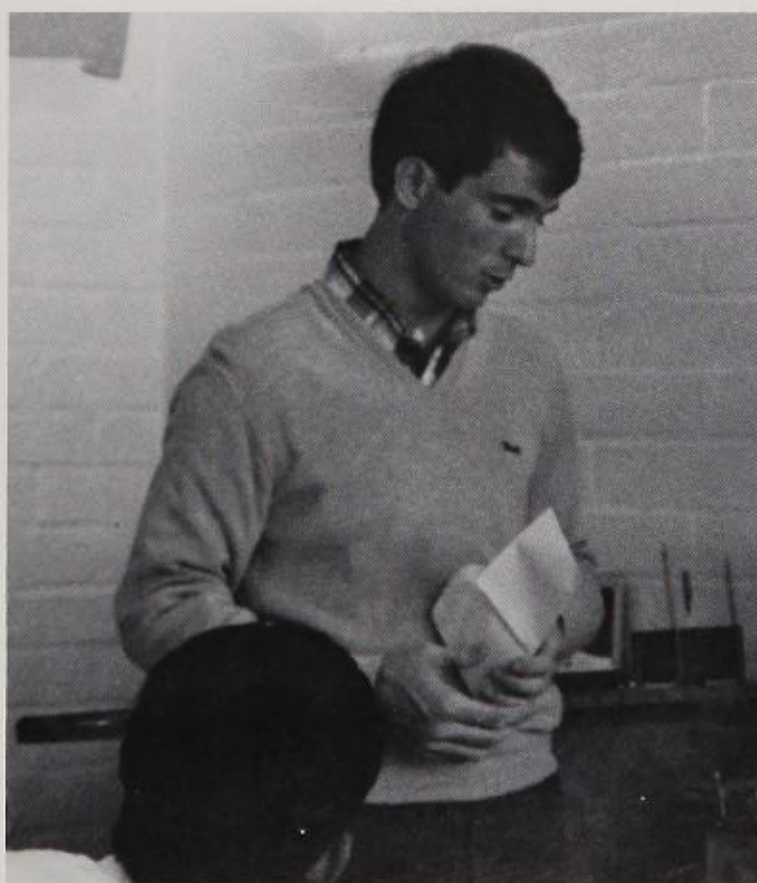

PERRY PONDERS—High scoring competitor Jason Perry listens carefully to Mr. Baumgartner's words of wisdom.

ACADEMIC DECATHLON—FRONT: Lance Chang. MIDDLE: Phi Le, Tammy Herrin, Chi Nguyen, Scott Aylor. BACK: Muhammed El-Hasan, Jason Perry, Tim Baumgartner.

TAKE IT OR LEAVE IT—Junior Chi Nguyen offers to feed the world during a lunch break. Nguyen was also a member of the Drama Club.

SUSPENDED ANIMATION—With a lapse of memory, Mr. Baumgartner searches for the answers. Baumgartner spent many extra hours coaching students.

Drawing Fun Around the World

"You know something, I'm really getting a kick out of my auto shop class."

"You think auto shop is fun? Well, you should be in my World Studies class. Mr. Macha makes it a real blast."

Conversations like this were not uncommon. The Social Studies department headed by John Brown was helping students to learn more about their country and the cultures around them.

World Studies, a required course for all sophomores, helped students learn about foreign governments and people. Pat Macha helped his students to appreciate his class by playing a week long game called Dangerous Parallel.

The U.S. Government and U.S. History classes also encouraged a learning atmosphere. For example, John Brown's Government classes ran a mock Congress while they were learning about the legislative branch of government. Each class proposed bills and tried to pass them into laws.

The Practical Arts department also made great strides forward. With the addition of a computer in the drafting room students got to design even more intricate drawings. The drafting class also held a drafting show in the Career Center to show what students, with the help of a computer, could do.

"Drafting is a really fun class because now I get to work with a computer," concluded Sonam Soni.

ROUGH DRAFTING—Drafting student Feliz Navidad painstakingly figures out an equation. Drafting classes drew construction plans, with the help of Mr. Hamilton.

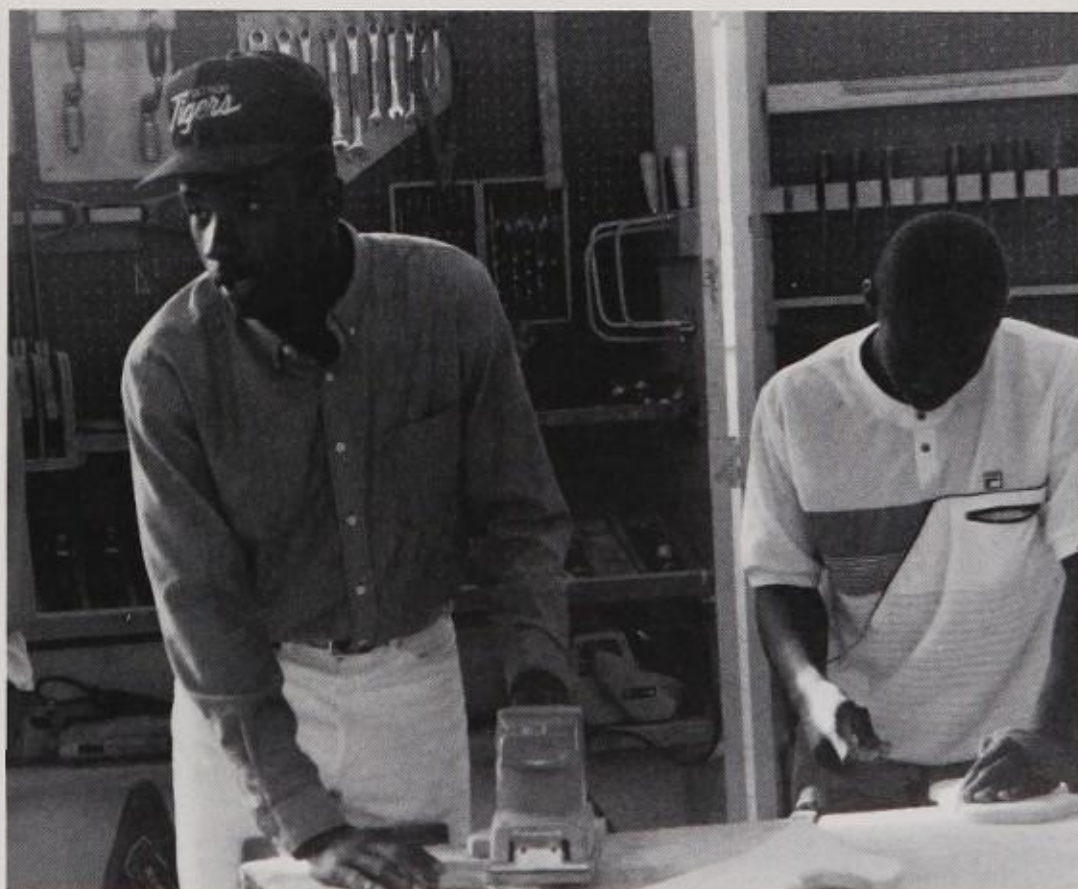

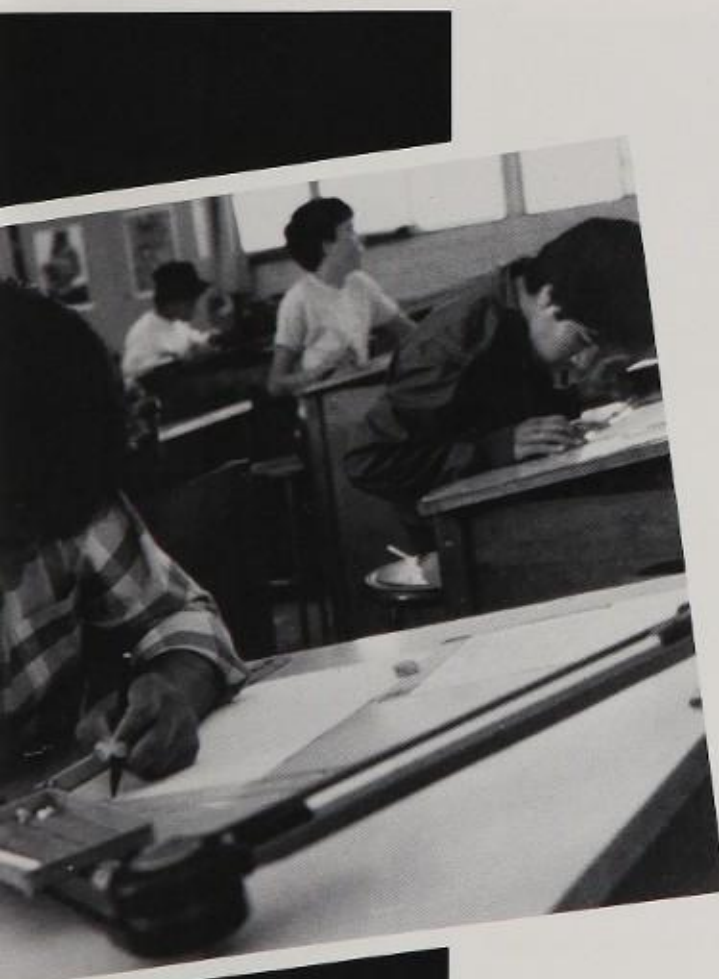

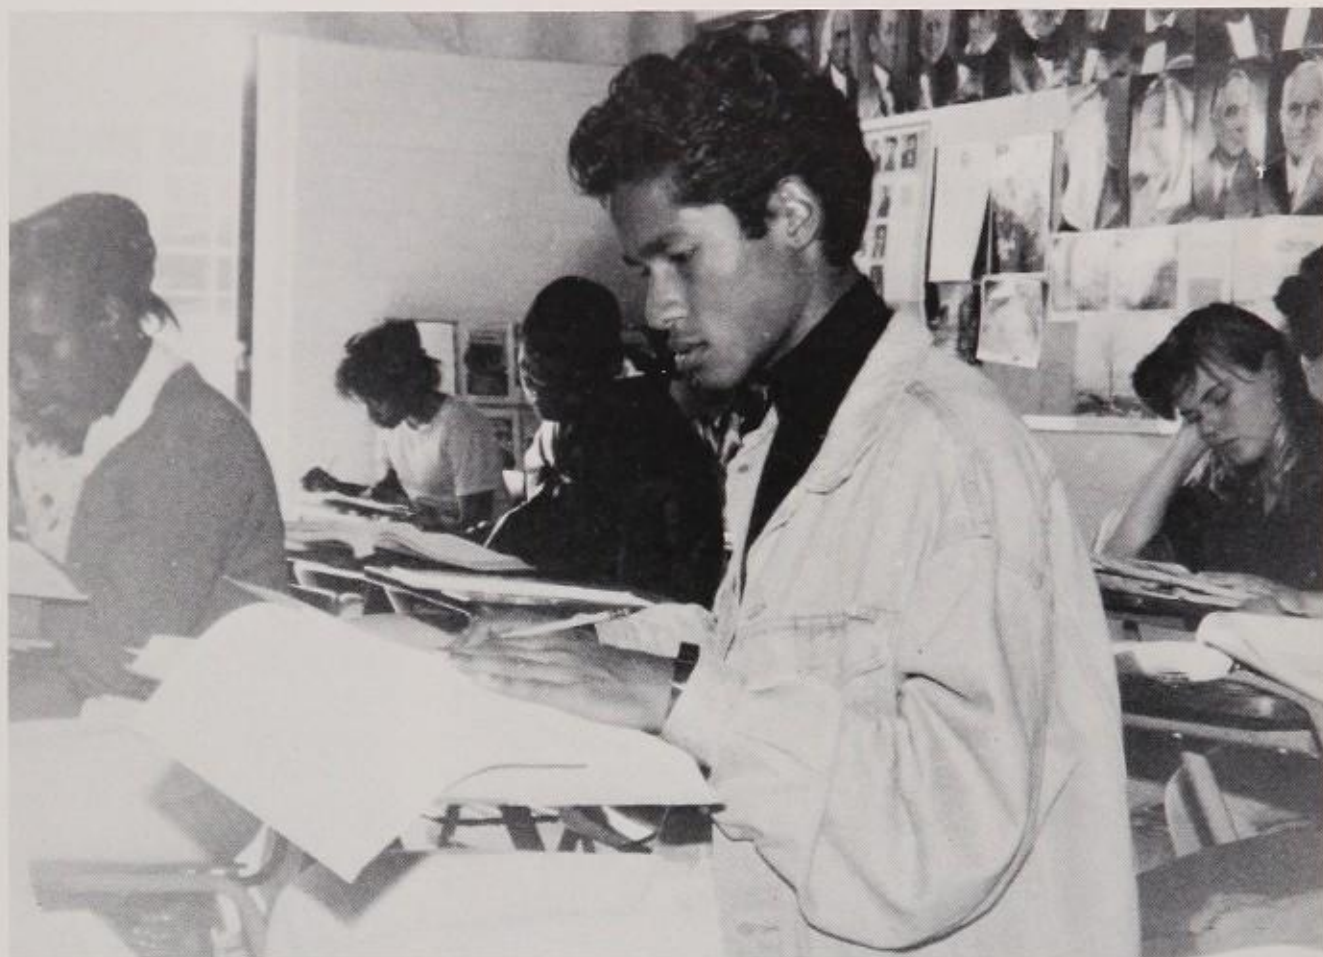

INSTANT HAIRPIN—Bent diligently over her Social Studies assignment, Senior Wendi Van Hoose uses her hand as an impromptu barrette.

MAKING HISTORY—ASB Vice President David Noya carefully answers History questions in Mrs. Baugh's class. David was also an active player on the soccer team.

MASKED MAN—Sophomore Sam Sakamoto sands cedar for a project. Sakamoto also ran Cross-Country.

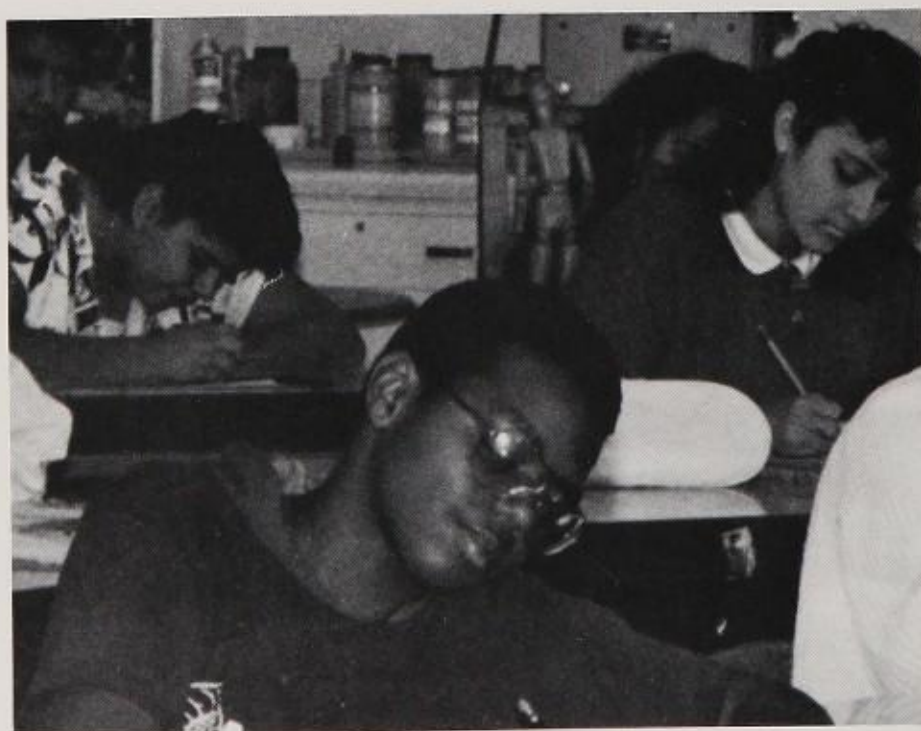

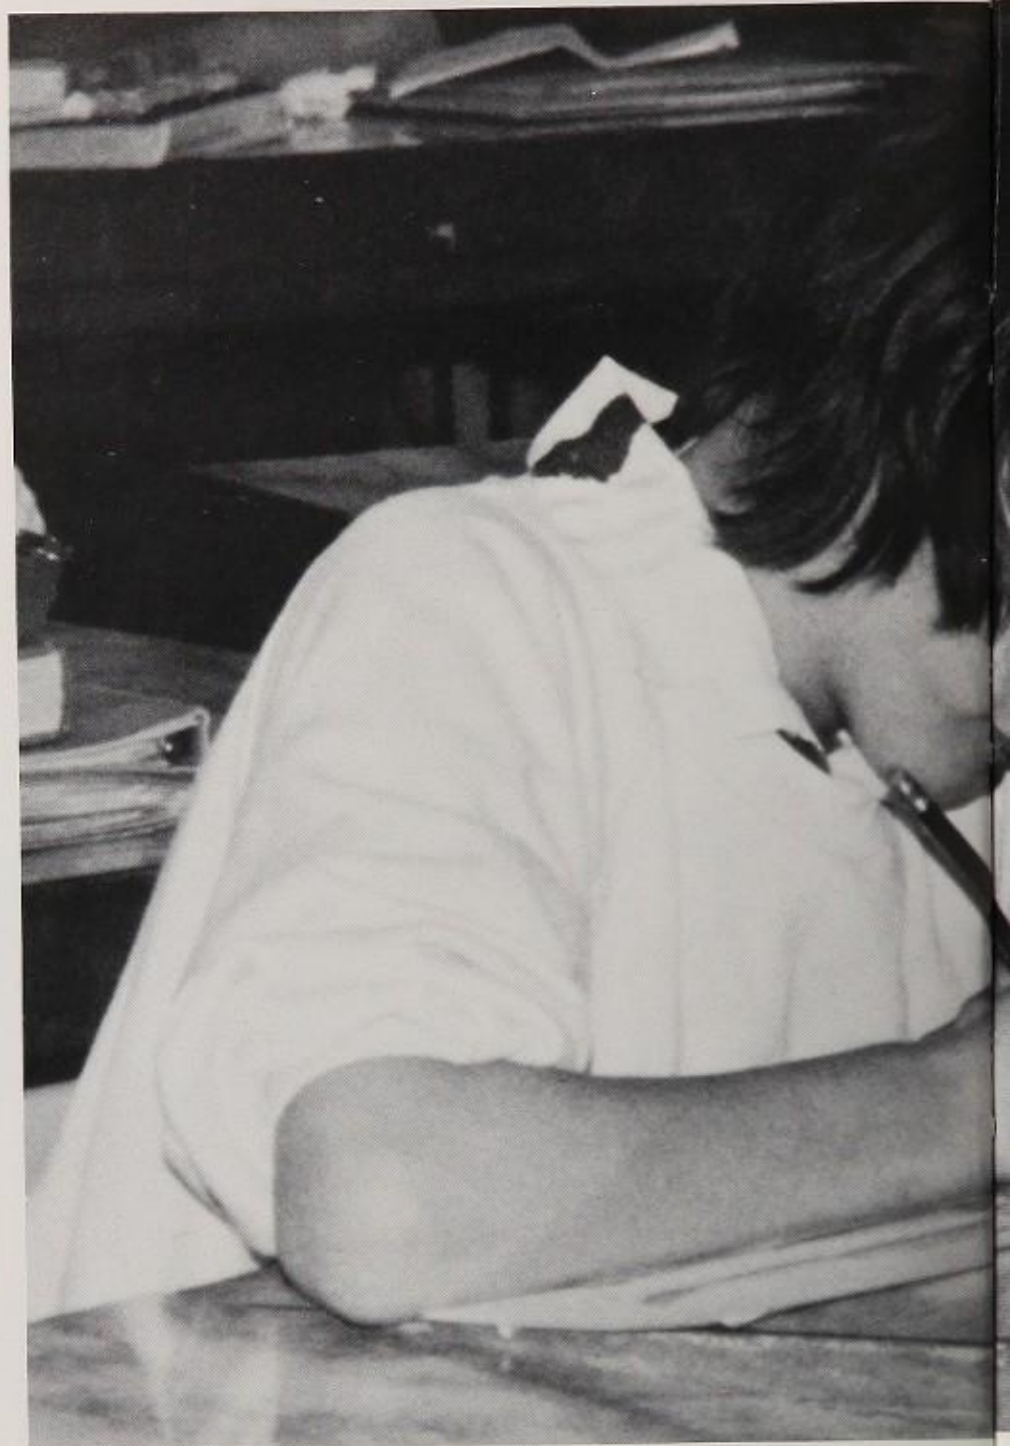

WOODWORKING—Wood shop student Tyrone Lipscombe creates wonders from wood. Students learned various techniques of building in Mr. Knight's class.

So Fine

"A fine art is that endeavor or achievement that transports man from the common everyday happenings to a realm of enriched spirit, intelligence, and beauty that enables the soul, enriches the life, and makes existence worth the experience," stated Fine Arts Director, Mr. Clayton Williams. From the fine lines of drawing to the intense lines of 3-D sculpture and design, from the high spirited drama to the voices of the choir and the brass sounds of the band, the fine arts department was a result of a combination of these classes and all the extraordinary classes in between.

Whether it was a sense of personal achievement or an expression of one's ideas and emotions, art teachers stressed the fact that the fine arts program offered a new dimension to a student's highschool experience. Another facet of fine arts activities was that they brought people together to share common goals and a sense of satisfaction. According to Blanca Estrada, advanced dancer, "You meet many people with different interests and their bond is the love of music."

COFFEE, TEA, OR MILK—Kris Szabo and Chris Livasy act out a scene in drama. Chris was on the Freshmen football team.

HO, HUM—Jack Lewis is leisurely sketching an art assignment. He was on the Freshmen football team.

WHAT DID YOU SAY ?—Mr. Williams is carefully watching his art students doing their daily activities. He had been the art director for 30 years.

NOT QUITE PICCASO—Gina Yarter is trying to get her work done before the class is over. She was a Freshmen.

HITTING THE BOOKS—Blanca Munzo draws her picture with a steady hand. She had been in art for two years.

Passport to CLUBS

No amusement park would be complete without Funhouses, and Cougar Country is no exception. Unlike common Funhouses that seek to confuse one with mazes and mirrors, Cougar Country's unique Funhouses are at the forefront of a new breed; places that seek to gather people with similar interests under one "roof".

The fun began on Join-A-Club Day as every club on campus sought to attract new members and get a good start on a year of activity.

A slight stir was caused as those who wished to serve the school and community but were not a part of the Diaconians or Knights found their niche in the Key Club, sponsored by the local Kiwanis Club. For those who worshipped the sun and sand, the Surf Club resurfaced under the guidance of Mr. Wyler. Anyone with an abundance of enthusiasm soared with the return of the Spirit Club, expertly motivated by Ms. Campbell and Ms. Link. But those who appreciated other cultures were not so lucky due to the demise of the Foreign Language Club.

Whether a new surfer or tried-and-true skier, anyone could find the Funhouse of their dreams.

CHARADES ANYONE?—Drama students Ricky Wasson, Eric Hicks and Arthur Martinez publicize drama at Join-A-Club Day. The drama skits attracted a lot of attention.

ANOTHER POSTER?—El Molino staffer Sameer Abutahir tapes up a Homecoming poster on the senior square bulletin board. El Molino was one of many clubs to sponsor a king and queen.

GO BIG RED—Song Queens Toykia Lee and Sara Anderson keep the crowd on their feet. The Cougars arrived at a victory against Inglewood.

DIACONIANS

golden girls . . .

Wanted: Twenty girls able to give time and care to elderlies.

Found: Twenty zealous girls gladly willing to devote time and loving care to senior citizens.

With the addition of twenty new members, the Diaconians' productivity proved an enormous aid to both the school and community. Twice a week the Diaconians visited Golden West Convalescent Home in Hawthorne with hopes of brightening the lives of the elderly. Each Diaconian brought little surprises at Christmas and holidays to their adopted grandparent.

Although the adopt-a-grandparent program was their major project, the Diaconians still helped at the Richstone Family Center during holidays. There they entertained abused children with amusing activities such as bobbing for apples on Halloween. Brenda Steele expressed her experience there as, "learning to be more responsible and sensitive towards people."

The club, consisting of thirty four juniors and seniors, held fundraisers throughout the year. School calendar sales were a new addition to the traditional carnations, football raffle tickets, Christmasgrams, and candy sold each year. Karen Hanna, Diaconian business director, stated, "Being a prominent part of our fundraisers, the calenders were a great addition and I hope we continue."

TRICK OR TREAT—Members Lana Kim, Melissa Wilmot, Vicky Voros, and Sonam Soni dress up for the Richstone Halloween party. Soni was president of the Diaconians.

WHAT NOW—Diaconian president Sonam Soni looks perplexed at a member's question. Soni was also on Cougar staff.

SAY CHEESE—Diaconians Eleanor Sia and Joanne Montes discuss plans of the upcoming Spaghetti Feed. Sia was also a member of Drill Team.

"The girls were really eager to give their time to others. We always had more volunteers to help on projects than was asked."

KNIGHTS one step further . . .

Service clubs have done a lot on campus and in the community. By painting trash cans and helping the needy, they have made the world we live in a better place to be. The Knights, however, took serving in the school and community one step further.

"It was like a miracle! All of a sudden we found we were affiliated with Robert F. Kennedy Medical Center(RFKMC) and the Rotary Club. That enabled us to do so much more!" exclaimed Kituwah Vaughan, long-time member of the club. The Knights, through the efforts of Jeff Chai, the Secretary and respected member of the club, started working at RFKMC doing volunteer work, such as visiting patients and decorating the hospital for Christmas. This led to RFKMC sponsoring the Knights by letting them do such things as having car washes in their parking lot and giving them all the proceeds. The Rotary Club became affiliated with the Knights because of the efforts of Mr. Escalante, who was himself a member of Rotary. The first big project the Knights did for Rotary was painting the graffiti off of several buildings in the vicinity of the school with the Rotary Club donating all the paint.

► WHAT'S COOKING?—Grandma DeVore and Joe Sivoli offer staunch support to Mr. Kyllonen as he whips up a pot of chili. Mrs. DeVore was the RFK coordinator for the Knights.

ZUNG LU—"The Knights are almost as hhot as Madonna, Doritos, suckers . . ."

new beginnings . . .

People with big heads and white coats. This is what came to mind when an informal survey was taken about just who is in the Science Club.

However, this was very controversial. The members of the Science Club realized that they were stereotyped as such and took drastic measures to change this ideal.

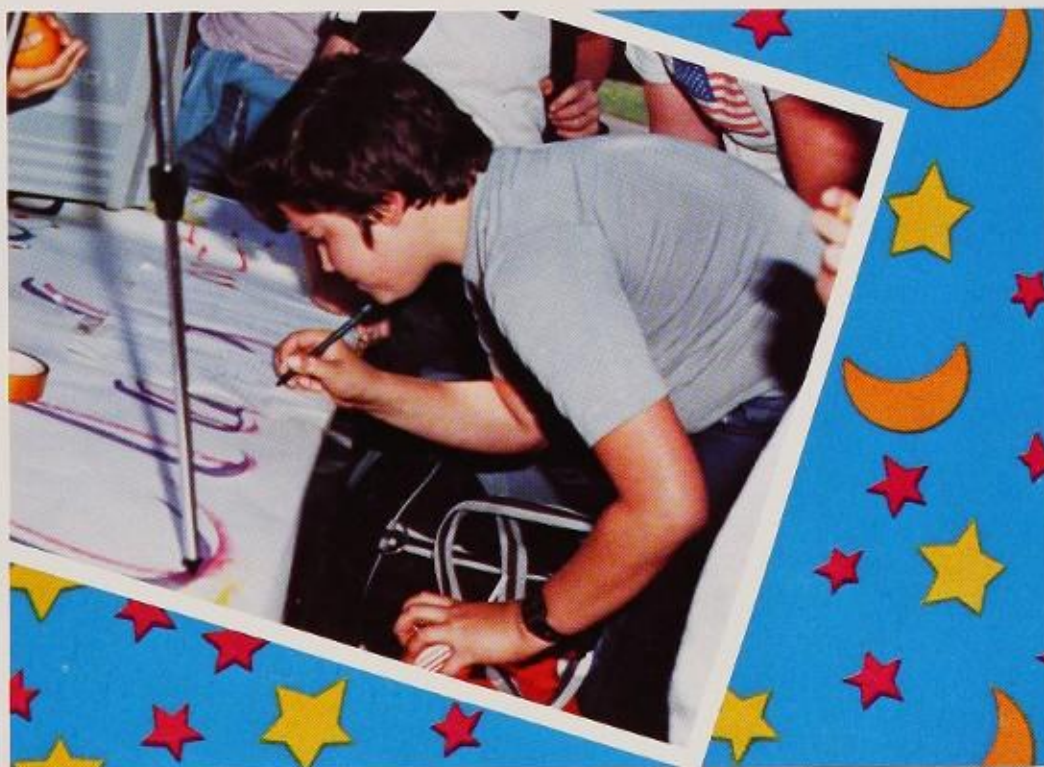

The officers, described as "movers and shakers" by their sponsor Tim Baumgartner, had what they called a reform meeting. They came up with ideas which they thought would best change their image. First, they changed the atmosphere of the meetings. They accomplished this by showing movies which dealt with interesting aspects of science on the days when there was very little business to discuss. They also used their robot Wergmer at the beginning of meetings to sing Happy Birthday to the members whose birthday was that week.

Another new beginning was the Science Fair. They put on the Fair this year after a two-year lapse. "I feel the Science Fair enhanced students' interest in science and showed that not just brainy students can be scientific," commented Vice-President Stella Yeung.

► WHAT A HEAVENLY BODY!—Seniors Horendo and Javier Mendoza look through a telescope at the Science Club table. The club had many of these paraphernalia.

► INTERESTING SCIENCE—President Joe Sivoli adjusts the back wings of a robot. He tried to show students that science can be interesting, too.

▲ GOOD PENMANSHIP—A future Science Club member signs his name to the roster. Science doubled its size because of Join-A-Club Day.

MIKE CASTILLO AND VICKY VOROS—“Vicky and I were trying to attract the glamorous crowd to join our boudoir on Join-A-Club Day.”

a little thing makes a big difference . . .

25 + 1 = 26 energetic, spirited, and dedicated cheerleaders worked hard to promote school spirit. For most of the cheerleaders, school spirit has always been important. And for some . . . they enjoyed wearing the fancy skirts, and having a lot of fun, with the exception of Junior David Kelly. "Pep Squad is a club where I could get involved and have fun, since sports doesn't really enthuse me!" This was the first time in the school's history that there was a break through and a male became a cheerleader.

But Pep squad did more than just getting the crowd spirited and involved. "What's best is that we know our cheers really help the team," commented sophomore Marianne Carlton. Not only their cheers supported the teams but also the moral support that they provided and the little things that they did in order for the players to bring victory.

These cheerleaders also helped each other in bad times and shared the fun and glory at the same time. The share of glories began during the summer, when they practiced their cheers for games and prepared for the United Spirited Association Camp.

▲ RAH! RAH!—Pep Squaders build their pyramid around David Kelly. Kelly enjoyed the burst of commotion being the school's first male cheerleader.

marching to fame and fortune

THEY WERE HOT! 36 girls worked hard under the burning sun. With no water to quench their thirst, they patiently and tirelessly learned, practiced, and perfected the routine for the long awaited USC half-time performance. "We had to learn the routine in two hours, no matter how hot it was, but everything paid off during the performance," commented sophomore Erenie Sia.

Their sparkles and smiles captured the attention of millions of sky high spectators. "It was an honor to be invited to perform at the USC half-time because only the best Drill Team could!" said Trina Hoffarth proudly.

The eager cougarettes sacrificed many hours of hard work to be the best that they could be in each performance and competition. Over the summer they won first place in the Hawthorne Community Parade and were rated excellent at the United Spirit Association Camp at UC Irvine.

► WHERE ARE WE?—Drill Team members Myra Viellches and Lynne Healy return to the bleachers after a half-time performance. Drill team performed at every home game.

▲ WHAT IS THAT!!!—Captain Jessica Bautista shows her dancing ability at a noon time Pep Rally. Bautista was also a member of the Diaconians.

"The way you practice is the way you perform!"

early to rise . . .

"We are the cream of the crop! The finest the school has to offer!" 45 students chanted the words proudly.

Student Council harvested a fruitful crop, consisting of representatives of almost every race and culture. Open to high achievers in all classes, the club attracted 20 new members.

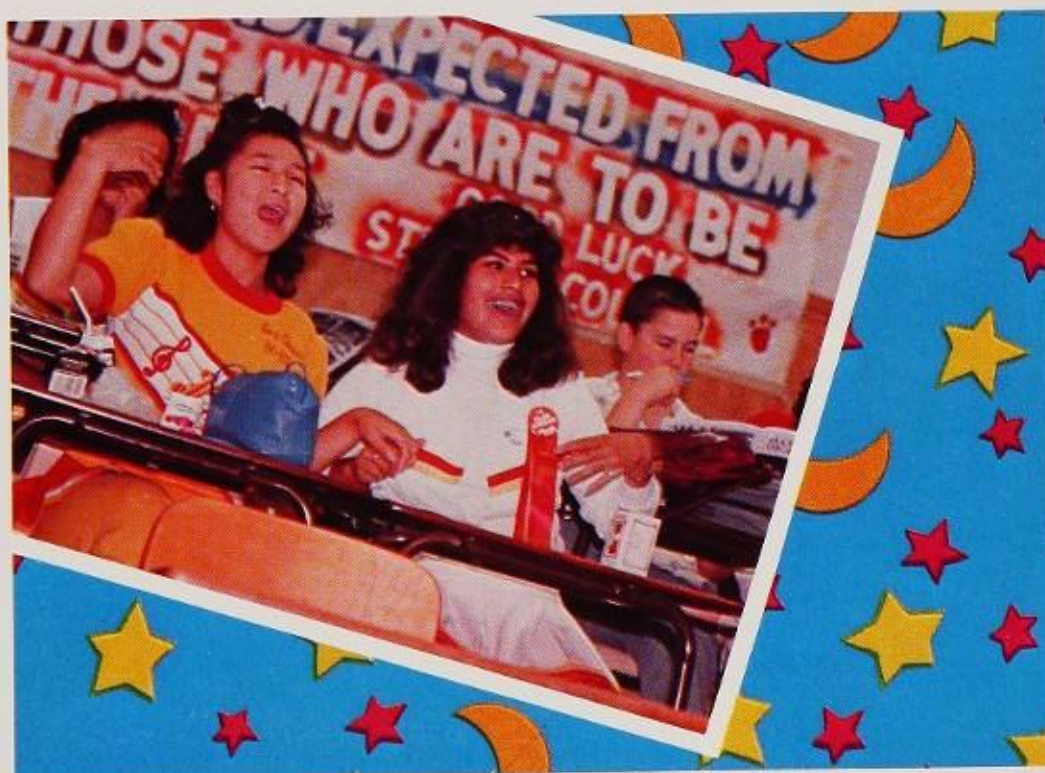

The incoming freshmen were particularly active, proving that newcomers caught on to school involvement faster than you could say "spirit!" Early in the year, freshman April Gonzalez was one of the many who petitioned for the various positions of Commissioner. "There was a lot of responsibility involved, but it was worth it to see the clubs active," stated April.

Being on Student Council gave students a chance to express opinions about their school, often in front of the faculty and the school board. Issues such as drug testing and the renovation of Nyman Hall were discussed by Council members and passed on by school board representative Tony Maldonado. "Being a board rep brought me closer to the teaching staff. They respected my views and those of the Council," commented Toni.

AEROSPACE

ready for take off . . .

Ooh . . . Ah . . . Oh . . .

Uniformed men brought a military El Toro atmosphere, as Clarence Jackson looked around. Swoop! "A radical maneuver!" Excitement filled the air as more of the 'uniformed men' directed their planes up, up in the air and exhibited more of their flying techniques that produced a fascinating airshow. "The military atmosphere suddenly came to an end after the airshow when we talked to several pilots, learned about the planes and got familiar with them!" explained Bryan Quaresma.

"Unfortunately, not everyone in the club could go to El Toro," said president

Phil Limbacher. Only several outstanding members were chosen to experience the fascination of the airshow and furthermore expand their knowledge in the aerospace field.

Mr. Macha, a 16 year aerospace club sponsor, helped a great deal in introducing aviation to interested young gentlemen by meeting every lunch on Tuesdays in 7-3. "Films, slide-shows, give-aways, and building models added fun in the weekly meetings," commented Freshman Bobby Brady.

In order to fulfill several of their plans, fundraisers were held. The money raised were used to go to airshows.

BAND two is better than one . . .

Music, Music Music!!! What exciting words to any musician. Advanced Band, also known as the Cougar Marching Band, was involved in many events all throughout the year. Football games and other sporting events kept the band members on their toes. "There was never time for a break . . . but I loved every minute of it," exclaimed Clarinetist Francisco Bautista. With 60 members strong, the band began the year with a boom! The only difficulty was that a band of this size needed major financial backing for transportation and uniform cleaning. Lollipop sales, spaghetti feeds and Halloween candy drives were lucrative moneymakers.

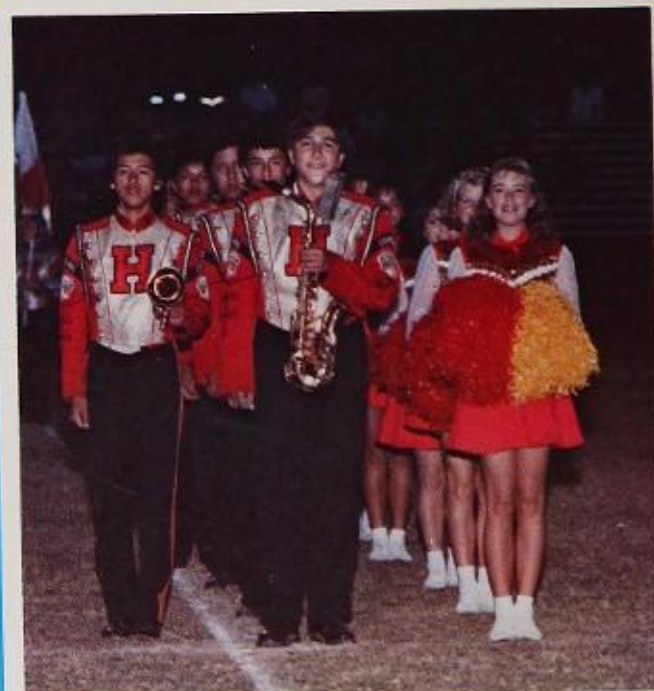

Unlike the past, the band planned to take a huge mid-western trip in the summer. The tour would include many states with stops for local competitive parades. "This is the first time that we have ever tried anything like this before, so it should really be fun," said Trombonist Jeffrey Macko.

Dizzy Gillespie, Louis Armstrong and Miles Davis were names familiar to many jazz enthusiasts. Stage Band was the group created for the people who loved to "let it all hang out". Though many thought it started at the beginning of the school year, Stage Band really began in the spring of 1986, under the supervision of Tracy Quarne, who led both bands.

► ALL THAT JAZZ—Alex Ambriz, Xavier De La Torre, Arturo Yepez, and Frank Torres jam during the first game of the season. The saxophones were a strong force in the band.

HOLD THAT FAKE SMILE—Edgar Melendez, Frank Torres, and Lynn Healy flash their smile for the halftime. Smiles were necessary for that special look.

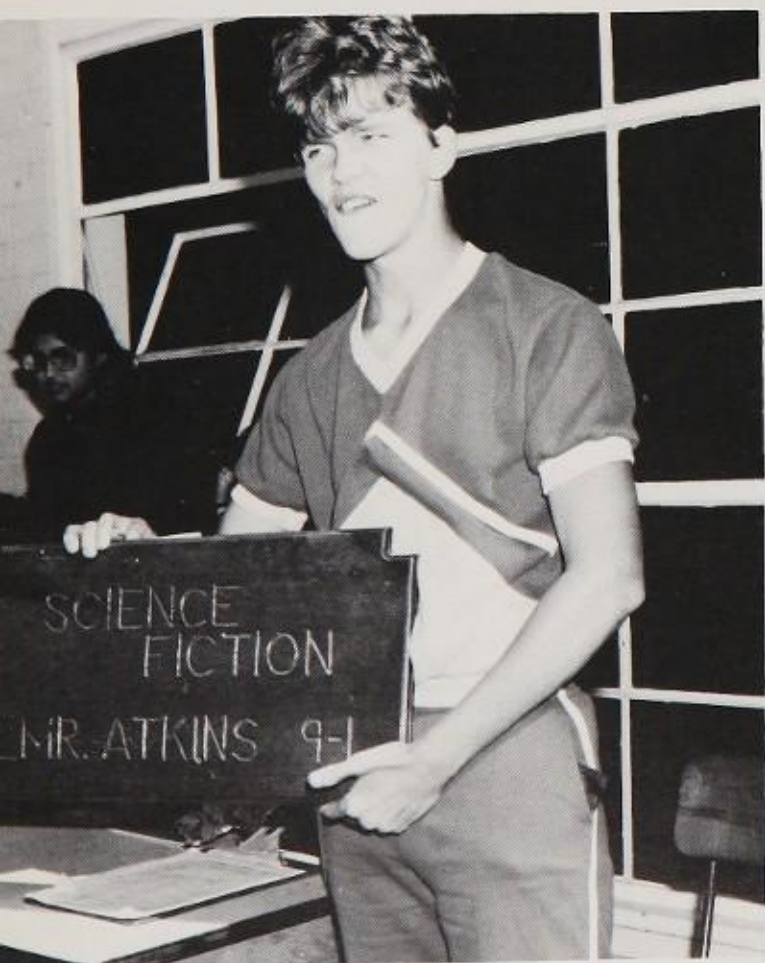

SPINS OF WONDER—Jin Pei Hung and other flag members twirl their flags to show a startling effect. The group received new flags.

GET THOSE HORNS UP!—Drum Major James Taylor gives a serious look while trying to get the bands attention. Taylor was in full control on the field.

Sci-Fax ... a group of young high school students dedicated to the religious experience of science fiction. The club, which promotes interest in science fiction and fantasy literature and games, was under the leadership and guidance of English teacher Bob Atkins.

Sci-Fax had such fundraisers as selling candy bars and also See's suckers. With the help of the profits from these fundraisers, they enjoyed many field trips; one of which was going to the Orrcon gaming convention. They also used the money to go to Magic Mountain.

"We're very excited about our club this year and I feel this will be our best year ever!" exclaimed Jason Perry.

Adventures in new lands, and the mysteries of different peoples were things discovered by some students who travelled thousands of miles for an exciting venture. "I'll never forget going to Tunisia and seeing how others live. It was magnificent!" exclaimed Senior Pristina Jackson.

For some, AFS (American Field Service) was just a club.. Knott's Berry Farm, picnics, and parties provided fun and entertainment for the members who were unable to go to other lands.

AFS benefited the school in many ways by holding special days where other exchange students visited classrooms and shared their new experiences being in the United States.

Reestablished by dedicated surfers Paul Connely and Danny Frye, the club met at 130th Street on weekends to perfect their surfing skills. "A good surfer has to be able to wake up early and have the kind of mom who will take you to the beach," stated Paul.

Advisor and surfer Mr. Wyler often jumped right into the ocean to capture their skills on film. The surfers met on Tuesdays.

NEW LIFE

the bible applied . . .

Spirit! No, not ghosts nor goblins, but energy. School spirit was CSF's goal for the year. "This year's togetherness was overwhelming. Never before have I seen CSF more alive and active!" exclaimed Gina Trinh, long-time member of the club.

The purpose of CSF was to collect the many students at school who had higher grades into one club. To get into the club, one had to obtain a score of 10 where and A was 3 points, a B was 1 point, and all the rest were worth 0 points. In this club, they worked on obtaining scholarships and grants for the colleges they wanted to attend.

"My belief in the Lord was strenthened by joining New Life," stated Senior Brenda Steele. Those were common words expressed by members of the newly reorganized club.

New Life was not just a club. It was a place where students could relieve their frustrations and pray for one another. Guest speakers and videos entertained the club. Retreats and amusement parks were also participated in for fellowship.

The club's main goal was to spread Christianity across the campus and to give students a chance to discuss current topics and problems around school. "New Life let the students know it's not square to believe in God."

SPANISH speaking in tongues . . .

Palabras y expresiones, dialogos, lecciones, preguntas, fiestas . . . fiestas?? Among the new vocabularies and verbs introduced to the twenty-six Spanish students the word fiesta was constantly brought up. As the major project, the Spanish Club held their second annual Mexican Fiesta on October 24 before the Inglewood football game.

Senora Hall, the club advisor, worked year round to put together the class and club. She stated, "Almost fifty percent of the students on campus speak Spanish so it is only appropriate that such a club be organized to spread the beauty of the culture that many ignore." Part of the folklore and culture taught was of the famous Don Quixote and Lazarillo de Tormes. When time permitted, Julio Iglesias and other Spanish songs were sung.

"Because she teaches with so much enthusiasm, we learn Spanish at a rate much faster than the other classes," expressed Jason MacDonald.

red celebration . . .

"As president of the club, the responsibility of getting people together and having them work in harmony will be my personal goal," said Irma Ruiz. Every Tuesday in room 9-4, she conducted her club meetings of twenty members.

"We want to make the student body aware of the Hispanic culture on campus," quoted advisor Mr. Tena on the subject of the club's main purpose. One thing they did to make the school campus more aware was to provide Hispanic food on Carnival Day. They also donated money to needy families. Candy sales and a carwash were fundraisers held to promote the club name and to provide spending money for social activities.

January 29, HAPPY NEW YEAR!! On that day the Vietnamese Club celebrated their New Year. Traditional costumes, piercing red fire crackers, and red envelopes bearing good fortune were customary forms of celebration. Through great efforts, the club had preserved the culture of Vietnam by celebrating its holiday. Mr. Liles, the new club advisor, commented, "As our main concern, the preservation of the culture was more interesting than I had imagined."

Through art, music and sports, the club accustomed Vietnamese students to the American way of life and brought together students who knew the English language with those who didn't.

EL MOLINO

behind closed doors . . .

What really went on behind the tightly closed doors of the yearbook room? The 27 noisy, ambitious staff members answered this in one word . . . everything!

New staffers were welcomed to El Molino with an early-morning initiation at Hollyglen Park. They got to know the old staff over the summer at a yearbook workshop in San Diego, where many of them won awards. After that, the staff fairly burst with new ideas for layout designs and stories.

Yearbook class, held sixth period, began with a pep-talk from editor-in-chief Kim Holland. "We had a lot of experienced people on staff, who had good ideas and were dedicated to producing the best yearbook they could."

Early in the year, students rushed to get layouts drawn up, stories written, and pictures taken. Often they had to report on club and sports events that had hardly begun to take place. Clubs editor Melissa Wilnot commented, "It was hectic! We had to get material on something that hadn't even happened yet . . . but it was all part of the excitement of putting out a yearbook!"

COUGAR

read all about it . . .

"They left us!" cried David Noya recalling a memorable experience at Snowbird Mountain. He and a friend missed their bus back to the hotel and were left standing in the cold. This was one of many unforgettable moments Ski Club members recalled hysterically.

Annually, the club went to Salt Lake City to experience exhilarating slopes, beautiful clear skies, pine trees, and bleached white snow. When weather conditions were good and the snow was fresh, members rushed out to local ski areas such as Big Bear and June Mountain. Kim Miller enthusiastically said, "I'm really looking forward to going to new ski resorts and making new friends."

What's black and white and red all over? The Cougar! Put together by 20 roving reporters and photographers, the newspaper provided valuable facts and opinions . . . in color!

Graphic designer Karen Hanna introduced the idea of a touch of color to the front page, with bold stripes and shading. "The added color was more work, but it was great to see the paper look so nice!" commented Karen.

Led by editor Tammy Herrin, the Cougar staff covered topics ranging from peer pressure to politics. New staffers were screened by Mr. Anderson.

Deadlines for the bi-weekly paper fell on a Wednesday.

DANCE

what a feeling . . .

That elusive feeling! The one that made you want to get up and .dance! That was what Dance Production was all about. But, it was not just getting up and boogieing. There was a lot of work that went into this club.

Dance held many fundraisers. Among these were selling candy and jewelry. They didn't use this money to go to Disneyland or Magic Mountain, like other clubs usually did. They used this money to support their dancing habit. They bought records by which to dance, costumes to dance in, and even paid for professional teachers who taught them how to improve their dancing skills in master classes, as they were called.

Finally, after all this hard work, the dancers performed in front of an audience! They performed at the Halloween and Homecoming Assemblies and half-time at basketball games. The big production, however, the true test of skill and dedication, was the Barefoot Concerto. Held every year, the Concerto was held at Leuzinger's auditorium. Dancers from both Leuzinger and Hawthorne performed in various routines that took hours of practice. "All memories of the sweat and work were replaced by the excited feel-unlocking the door . . .

What key would unlock the future? Where may one find it? In 21-4, Monday. The Key Club.

"The club was a way to get involved since I'm only a sophomore," explained Joseph Ganten. "I remember Joseph trying to get all his friends into joining the club, putting out flyers and posters," recalled Tricia Ponce de Leon. Organizers of the club were doubtful of whether anyone would show up for the first meeting. But all doubts were gone when the meeting room was so full that people had to sit on the floor.

Representatives of the Kiwanis International, the club's sponsor were present to discuss Key Club's purpose for the students and community.

Those who volunteered to help put together the Pasadena Rose Parade floats had a great opportunity to meet other club members from other districts.

Theater. The thrill of being caught up in a story. A group of students known as the Drama Club strove to produce the magic of drama.

Led Mr. Harris, the club underwent many changes. New ideas developed and took center stage. "I'm very excited about this year and I hope to improve my acting skills," commented John Portela.

Members of the club were invited to help produce a melodrama, early in the year. Budding performers were also encouraged to strut their stuff in a talent competition called "Hawthorne Headliners".

"I met many good friends in drama, who were interested in a common goal . . . acting!" said Jenny Wilmot.

Auditions and rehearsals kept Nyman Hall humming with excitement. Drama Club members met here to discuss performances and plans for the Masque Ball, a formal awards banquet.

Passport to SPORTS

Excitement and fast-paced action abound at Cougar Country's Game Booths . . . step right up and try your luck! Test your skill in any one of our gruelling competitions—running, jumping, or throwing almost to the point of exhaustion while the roar of encouraging voices of Cougar fans drives you fearlessly on.

For the first time in the history of Cougar Country an astounding innovation occurred with the creation of boys' volleyball teams, coached by Mr. Boothe and girls' soccer teams, coached by Mr. Vlaco. Although only Varsity and Junior Varsity teams were fashioned for each sport, they both gave athletes the opportunity to establish a tradition of excellence in their respective fields.

But whether participating actively or in the stands, everyone in Cougar Country was a winner by being there.

AND THEY'RE OFF—Junior Varsity start off at the league finals at Palos Verdes High School. The Cougars took second place.

BLOCK IT!—Varsity volleyball players Bernadette Talanoa and Andrea Kab-wasa go up in an attempt to block the spike.

Tough Is Not Enough

Think tough, play tough, be tough! Varsity had to be tough to come away with a 7-3 record. Varsity gave a grueling battle to co-champions Beverly Hills and Santa Monica. They placed second in the tough Ocean League and as a result went on to CIF. In their first game against Paramount, they were eliminated in the first round losing a perilous game at 17-7.

Running back Richard Harrison thought that the team "used the wrong plays in critical situations" and so could have improved in this area. Coach Casillas on the other hand, felt it was just a matter of "a few breaks here and there" and the team could've won the championship.

The players were very proud despite their losses. Wide Receiver Treamelle Taylor expressed his pride when he said, "The bright spot of the season was just having a 7-3 record."

Quarterback Curtis Conway played a big part with all of his winning passes. Tailback Yki Vallery also had a major role. Vallery made a new school and state record when he scored touchdowns consecutively in the first play of four games.

Two Close Calls

"O h my gosh! No! We can't lose this one!" cried Philip Franklin who stood by the solemn sideline of the Cougar team. By halftime the scoreboard flashed Hawthorne 0, South Torrance 18. Only the loud cheers of Torrance home bleachers echoed throughout the stadium. "We started giving up at the end of the second quarter, but after halftime our defense got their act together," said Philip Franklin. "We came back and won by 3 points! It was the most memorable game we played throughout this season!" exclaimed Robert Freeman. Despite losing the first three games of the season, the sophomores went on to capture second place in Ocean League. The freshman team was just as fortunate.

The rain beat against the helmets of the freshman team. Two minutes left to play and the score was Hawthorne 15 Torrance 16. The football was in the hand of Torrance quarterback. "We thought we were losing, but suddenly the ball was in the hand of Kevin Apodoca. He made an interception" said Mike Rainey. The Cougars ended the game with 22-16 win. "We only claimed second place in the Ocean league this season, but next year we'll definitely capture the first place!" exclaimed Mike Rainey.

Not Quite First

Sweat on their brows, determination in their minds; it took dedication and stamina to race down rugged paths in all types of weather. According to Coach Alex Bravo, the guys and girls of the Cross Country teams were just that, dedicated.

Varsity boys upheld the tradition for yet another season. Again they proved to be one of the strongest teams in the league. Since August, the team had been practicing together, but most of the runners put in extra time individually during the summer. "It's been a tough season," stated Senior Bryan Quaresma. "The coaches really worked us hard, but it was all worth it." Although not placing at the CIF finals the team went on and claimed second place in Ocean League.

As for the girls, although running with a bit of a handicap, only five team-members, they came out on top once again. After the disappointment of being disqualified from the CIF playoffs for not having the required amount of seven runners, they went on to capture second place in the league. The girls did well with Christine Ross, who led the team to many victories. "We worked as a whole to make the Cross Country team the best that it could possibly be," said Michelle Gengelbach.

Nothing But The Best

With the dedication of true sportsmen, the JV team ran their way to victory. They knew that with every mile they had to set a strict pace for themselves and stick to it with true determination. "We knew what we wanted and we went for it," stated Shawn Dunnick. "It was a great year." The team went on to take second in Ocean League.

The sophomore team, on the other hand, had quite an unusual year. With only three runners, Jeff Wieser, Greg Stevens, and Carlos Guzman, they had no other choice but to forfeit all the meets. "It was a real disappointment, but I had fun just being part of the team," said Jeff Wieser.

The freshmen really strutted their stuff through the whole season and went on to capture first place in the league. Although the three teams started official practice in August they put in many sweaty unofficial hours of training over the summer. "It was a lot of hard work but we proved to be triumphant in the end," stated Juan Carlos Chavez. The teams gave it their all under the coaching of Alex Bravo.

Go Spike Win

Playing volleyball not only took a lot of dedication and stamina, but it also meant having a good team attitude. Varsity's team attitude was a key factor for their four wins of the season. "We worked hard and our better overall team attitude made us play better," stated Senior Rosa Aceval.

Varsity played higher ranked teams such as Mira Costa and Santa Monica. The league was changed from 3A to 5A due to the addition of these two schools.

"The highlight of the season was when we played Leuzinger and were down by two games, we came back to win the last three games in a row as well as the match," exclaimed Coach Smith. It didn't happen often that a team made such an outstanding come back as this.

Awards were given at the House of Raymond, where their banquet was held. Bernadette Talanoa was named "Most Valuable Player." Talanoa has played volleyball for seven years. "I have a lot of experience and try to play my best whether it's in practice or in a game."

Varsity didn't have a team captain for the season instead Coach Smith appointed players to be captain for every game. Helen Lee was awarded for "Best Team Captain". "I didn't expect to win. I just did what I felt needed to be done."

◀ IT'S MINE—Seniors Andrea Kabwasa and Angie Wells try to spike the ball over the net. Kabwasa and Wells also played Varsity Basketball.

◀ WAIT, IT'S MINE—Junior Kumi Yufuku gets ready to pass the ball. Kumi was a setter.

"We really whipped Leuzinger, not once but twice."

Better Than Ever

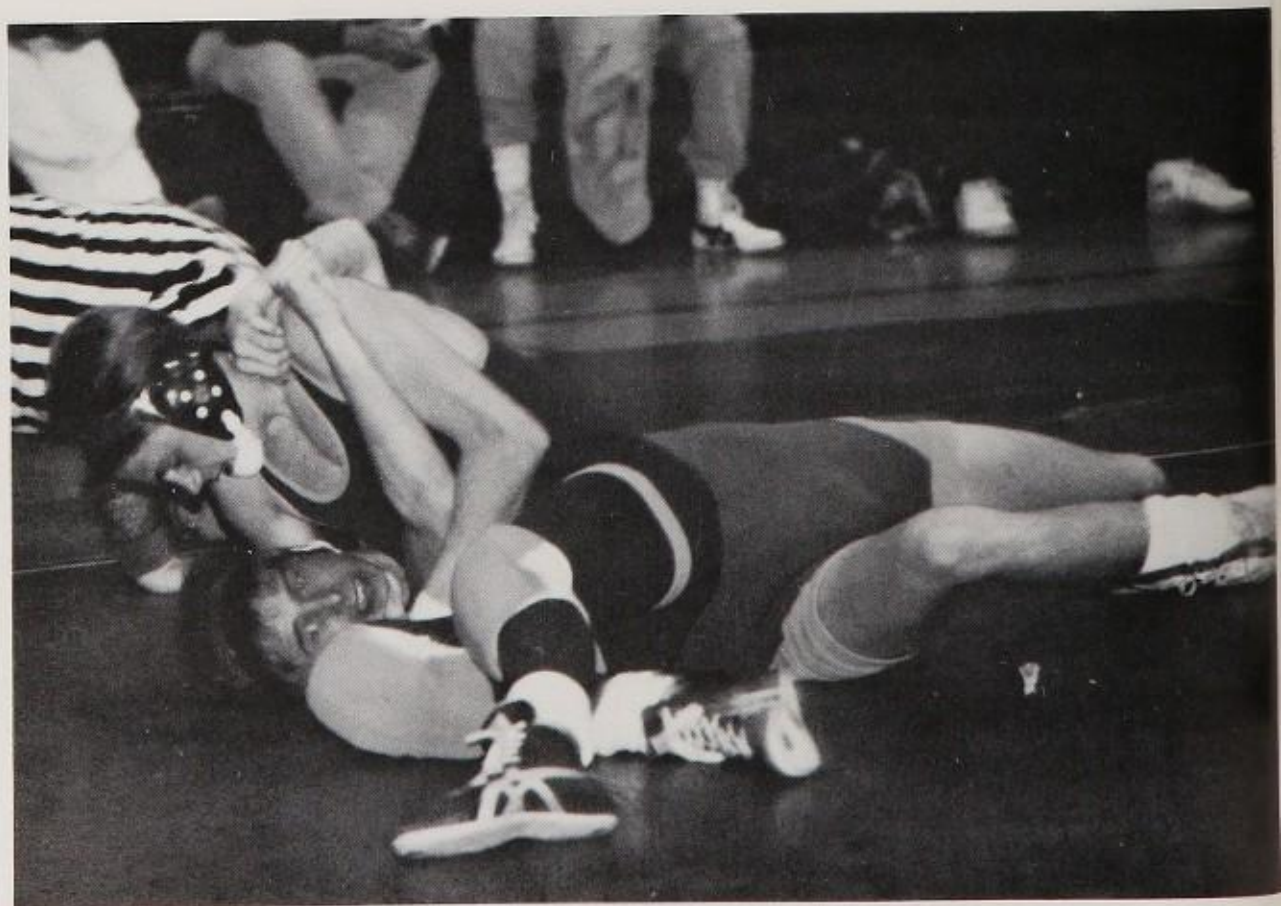

Playfully teasing his opponent with sudden jerking movements and annoying taps on the head, the Cougar waits patiently for his chance to pounce. With his opponent unaware, the Cougar dives for his feet, slamming him down to the mat. With a reversal, cross-face he turns his opponent over and pins him. Match over. Another win for the Cougar making his record 25-0. This is just one of the many ways that the JV team captured the Ocean League Championship.

"It's been a long time since we've won the Ocean League," stated Coach Bree. They wrestled powerful teams such as Torrance and arch-rival Leuzinger, which was the best team in the area.

Three losses didn't make the Frosh, Soph. team undefeated, but they were always close to winning by placing 2nd in the Mira Costa Quad and 3rd in the Artesia Tournament. A quad involved four schools and a tournament had as many as 45 schools participate.

"The future looks bright for these young wrestlers because they have gained valuable experience to take with them when they reach the Varsity level," commented Coach Bree.

Boys Get Kicks

“A spectacular goalie, a tough defense, a great midfield, and an exhilarating offense,” according to Nelson Martinez these were the makings of the JV team. The actions of the individuals that united really defined the word team. Together through teamwork was how they accomplished their goals. A great record proved their determining dedication.

Varsity almost grasped the league title. “We had a good opportunity to take first place in the league, but unfortunately there wasn’t enough dedication from the players,” commented Edgar Rodriguez.

The help of the power center-half Arturo Yopez and Goalie Phillip Garcia wasn’t enough. “Our captain Arturo Yopez controls the flow of the game. Without him our small team would become even smaller,” stated Kenny Alexander.

Girls Given Chance

Many talented soccer players helped to make up our first girls soccer team. Headed by Coaches Jim Stone and Bill Vlaco, they started practices in late November.

"I'm happy that we finally have a girls soccer team and that I got a chance to play," Goalie Sandra Haycraft stated. Many of the girls had quite a few years of experience, most of which was earned playing for the local region of AYSO for several years. The schedules of AYSO coincided with the school's program. Since this was so, AYSO started their season earlier and therefore ended their season earlier to accomodate the school.

Varsity ended a hard-working, dedicated season with an outstanding record of 7-1, and JV with 5-1; these were league records only. "I was very enthusiastic and we had a terrific first season," commented Adriana Romero.

Head Over Heels

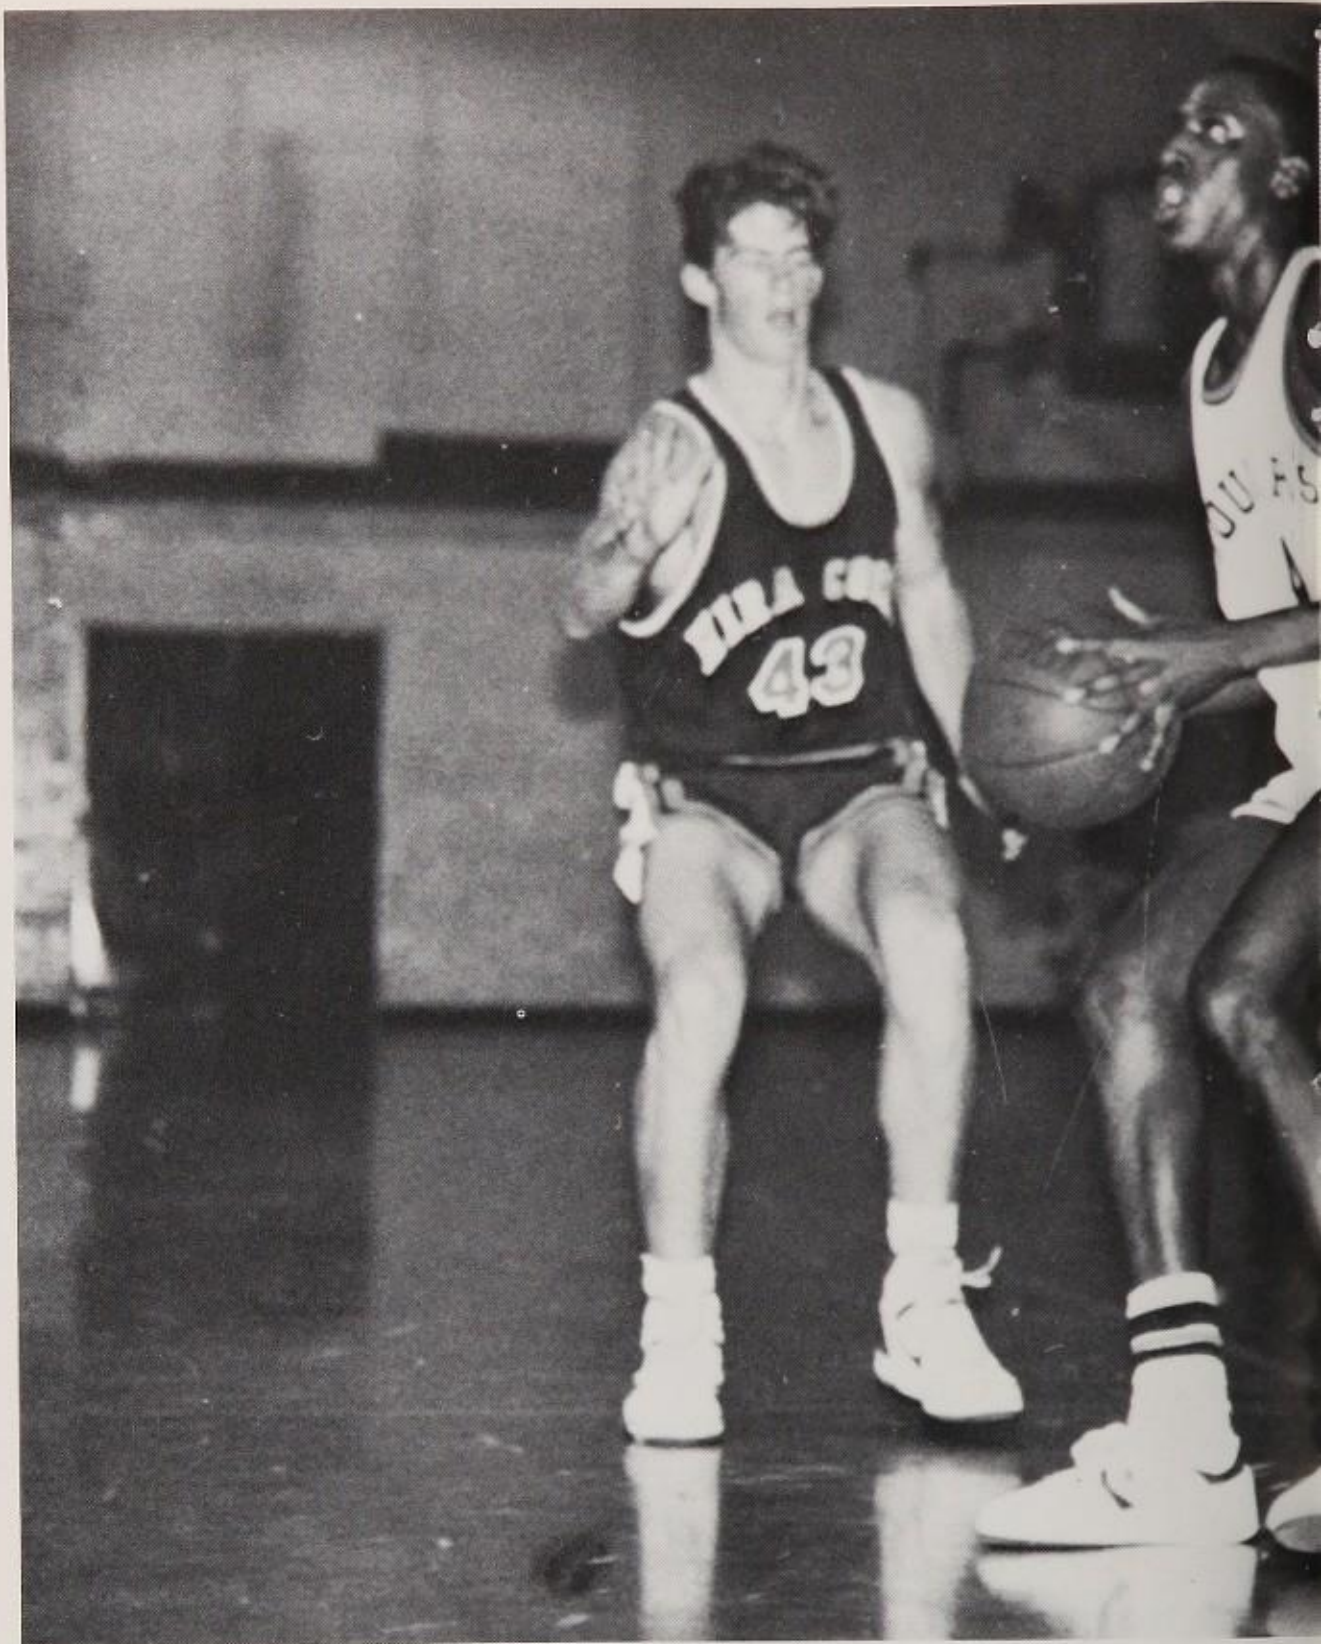

What's tall, strong, moves fast, and comes only in red and gold? It's the 1987 Hawthorne Varsity Basketball Team! Searching for identity and aiming toward success, they dribbled, passed, and shot baskets from 5 to 7 days a week to reach their goal.

"I've been playing basketball since my freshman year and I feel that our teams have been successful in their development throughout the years. Varsity proved they could match up to any dominant force," stated Senior Richard Anderson.

The team made a special trip to Bakersfield to participate in an extracurricular tournament in which they performed before critics. "I think the trip to Bakersfield made us come together as one. Coach Wells put it in our heads that we were the best team in the Southbay area. We had strong players at all positions and had to prove to the critics and to ourselves that we were the best," commented Guard Cedric Wim-bush.

The squad ended up in second place with a 6 and 4 record in Ocean League. "If it wasn't for a couple of close losses we would have been more recognized," commented Sophomore Tony Scott.

► HEY CATCH!—LForward Andre Jackson searches for a pass. Jackson also played Varsity Football.

◀ SHOOT IT UP—Forward Mike Lewis contemplates a shot. Basketball called for quick thinking.

▼ AIR JORDAN—Center Willie Jordan shoots from the side. Jordan often flew through the air for baskets.

"We have a lot of talent on our squad but we haven't played up to the best of our ability. We have great expectations for next season," commented Artie Butler.

With wing-like feet the team flew from one half of the court to the next using their team work to win half their league games. Often their losses were very close and therefore even more disappointing, but they were only spurred on to take more positive outlooks for upcoming games.

"The team worked extremely hard and extremely well, but we were all a bit disappointed with the outcome of the season. We hope to come out on top once again next year," stated Coach Hutchins. The team ended with a 3 and 4 record for the overall season but hoped to improve next season's scores.

"We played several close games and were really frustrated with the fact that we didn't do as well as last season. We sacrificed many hours to practice and we all worked really well together. I hope to make Varsity next year," commented forward Dan Lemon.

Soph Frosh Impress

Excitement was the name of the game as freshman and sophomore basketball launched into a new season. The year was full of triumphs and let downs, but they proved they had what it took.

With their demanding will, Coaches Brown and Young constantly pepped up the teams on endeavoring for their best performances. The team devoted themselves to this support and sacrificed hours of spare time to go to practices, games, and tournaments. "The year was a real pleasure, the guys on the team and the coach were all really great," commented Guard Derek Gipson. Although the team was not victorious in the season, they played very well and improved tremendously. "Without teamwork, hard practices, great players, and a good coach we would have been just another ordinary team. We have great character and talent to accompany it. Playing was a great learning experience for me. Class of '89 is live," stated Center Sean Stone.

Sophomores finished with a 6 and 4 record after improving their effort towards the middle of the season.

Freshmen seemed to misplace their enthusiasm towards the end of the season when finishing at 5 and 4. "We did okay but I think everyone on the team expected to end the season with a better record. Still I really enjoyed myself and the coach was great about everything," replied Ismael Del Pino.

We Are Tops!

"God our father, hear us pray as we pause to play this game. Give us the strength and courage to do our best in all we do...." The trembling voice of Toykia Lee echoed throughout the locker room just before the game against Lynwood, a top-rated basketball team.

"We lost the game by 3 points, but we proved that we are capable of being the top-rated team," said Le Shon. "We were underrated in the CIF League and this year's goal was to prove we were the top! When we played Lynwood there was a good opportunity to show what we were," said Andrea Kabawasa.

After high school every player in the team planned to get a further education. For Andrea Kabawasa the next stop was at New Mexico State University. Andrea received a basketball scholarship and she planned to continue playing the game.

JV's goal for this season, like Varsity, was to prove they were tops. "Even though we lost 2 games we played our best to prove that we are capable of being the top," said Nicole Johnson. JV ended their season with a 6-2 record placing first in the Ocean League like the Varsity team under Coach Roberta Nield. "I think for JV players the second goal is to get onto the Varsity team," said Illana Mazingo. "Playing basketball in high school is different from junior high because I get more recognition for my hard work. If I get onto Varsity I'll get more recognition!" exclaimed Nicole Johnson.

Enter the Pit

Their grueling workouts consisted of sit-ups, push-ups, and perfecting their moves. Plenty of time was also spent losing that extra pound or two before a tournament. "I run with a lot of clothes on and don't eat for a few days," commented Brian Guillian. The weight wasn't always kept off and wrestlers often went to eat at McDonald's or Taco Bell after a tournament.

With the consistency of Mike Montes, Brian Guillian, and Kenny Rodriguez, Varsity won the Ocean League Championship.

The captain of the team not only led the team in moral support, but also in points. Kenny Rodriguez had 20 wins and placed in every tournament that he entered.

Mira Costa, Santa Monica, and Culver City all participated in the Ocean League Finals. The Cougars had six league champs. Jason Killman (101)lbs., Mike Montes (115)lbs., and John Hyduke (178)lbs. all won by pin.

As first year wrestlers the Freshmen had an excellent season. They were undefeated as a team and won the Ocean League Championship. "I think that good coaching and hard work helped us to win!" exclaimed Eddie Payment. The team was coached by John Bree with assistants Lou Gorman, and former Hawthorne wrestler Louie Marin.

Freshmen wrestling differed from Varsity because they wrestled only three one-minute rounds instead of two minutes. "Wrestling for six minutes is a lot harder than 3 minutes because it takes more out of you," stated Lee Montano.

Outstanding wrestlers for the season were Eddie Busted, Timmy Williams, and Lee Montano, who was talented enough to wrestle on the Varsity level when needed.

The Ocean League wasn't as difficult to win as anticipated. "I thought that it would be close, but we blew them away!" expressed Coach Bree.

Intra Sports Success

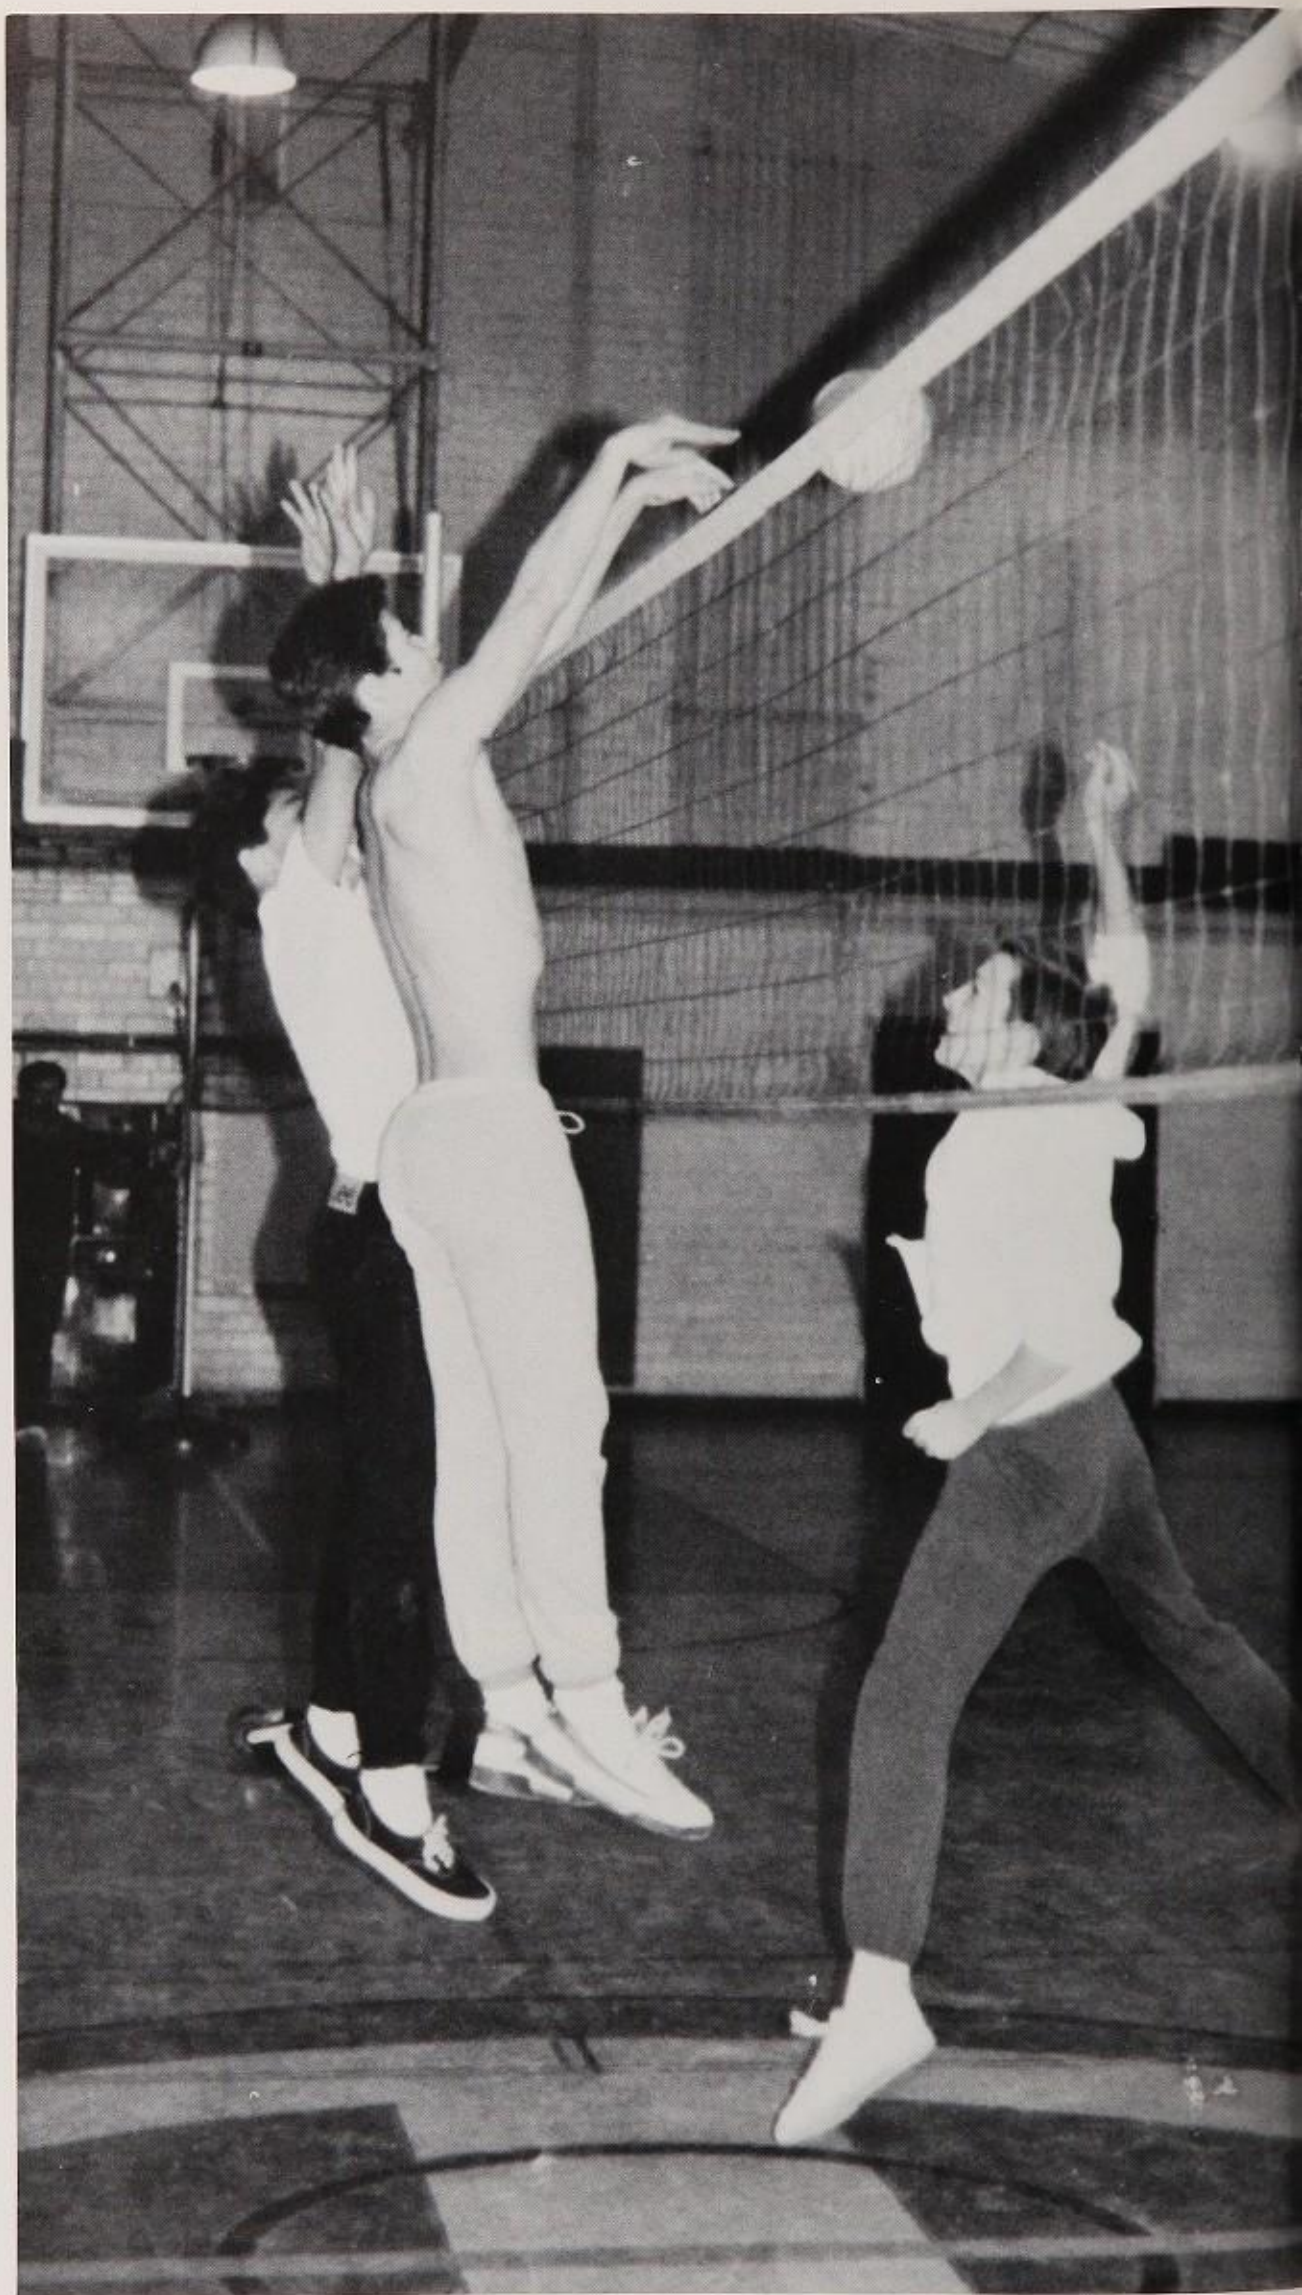

Lunchtime was a new time to enjoy sports. The first annual Intramural Boys Volleyball Competition was held in mid-January. The intent of the competitions was to see what talent existed among the students, since this was the first year boys volleyball was added to the sports program.

The teams played their first two games at random. If they lost two, they were disqualified. Mr. Robbins and Mr. Boothe handled everything from assigning teams to refereeing. "I was pleased with the outcome and there did appear to be some fine talent," stated Mr. Robbins.

In first place came undefeated team #13 which consisted of Bill Conklin, Juan Cordero, Raul Cordero, David Noya, and Noel Torres. "We displayed a lot of enthusiasm. I think that this helped us to see how others will play when the season starts," said David Noya.

The second place team #2 consisted of Cuong Lu, Dung 'Zungifo' Lu, Larry 'Stretch' Rich, Steve Smullen, Andrew Wig, and George Yanez. "I think we lost because we thought the other team was too good for us, but they weren't," stated Senior Cuong Lu.

Due to an overwhelming response the Intramural Volleyball games became an annual sport at lunchtime.

► SPIKE IT STEVOID—Senior Steve Smullen sets up to spike the ball. Smullen was on the Cougar staff.

▲ HERE IT COMES—Junior Dung Lu gets ready to bump the ball as George Yanez backs him up. Lu was on El Molino and Knights and Yanez ran cross country.

◀ BUMP THAT BALL—Senior Doug Guerra bumps the ball. Guerra's team, #13, won the finals 15-11.

"I'm glad I played because we really had a good time.

Brand New Beginning

At four o'clock in the afternoon on March 3rd, the heavy doors of Leuzinger's gym opened for the boys volleyball team's FIRST game. "I think we were too confident and underestimated Leuzinger's team. When Varsity lost the game, JV abandoned their overconfidence and mentally prepared for the opponent. I think that's why we won!" said Cuong Lu.

Money from the California Lottery enabled the Cougars to form boys volleyball along with girls soccer. The district had teams of golf, soccer, tennis, and volleyball to choose from. "The district believed that forming the volleyball and soccer team was very practical and economical since we already had the equipment," said Coach Steve Boothe.

Under Coach Boothe and Coach Dan Robbins, 45 boys practiced all summer. Try-outs began on the second of February, and 27 made the team—12 Varsity and 15 JV. "We all went through 3 hours of painful practice and I think that's why we were pretty good for the starting team!" exclaimed Jose Jaquez.

Among 27 players, the majority were juniors and seniors. "We wanted underclassmen to try out for the team, but I think they were intimidated. We would like to have freshmen and sophomores to train for the future years," said Coach Boothe. Then he added "We encourage especially sophomores and freshmen to try out for next year!"

Cougars Have A Ball

Why did almost all the teams inside and out of the ocean league want to defeat the cougars?

"A successful season is measured in player performance and records. If we'd played up to our expectations we would have had a winning record," commented JV player Ron Smith.

Many JV players returned from the previous season without going through the customary try-outs which were held in December and January.

For the Varsity as well as for the fresh/soph teams the weather played an extreme factor in their athletic ability. Although being blown around and a little wet was somewhat a discomfort the players enjoyed the time they spent on the field.

"We have a lot of talent on our team. With diligence and positive thinking we should turn out to be a strong, successful team," stated Varsity first basemen Danny Monson.

There were plenty of freshmen trying out for the team and all were ready to start the season. The freshmen and sophomore teams were coached by Glenn Noya a varsity player from the previous season.

► HEY BATTER, BATTER, BATTER!—Pete Cordova winds up for the pitch. Cordova was the head pitcher for the Varsity team.

◀ GET OUTTA MY WAY—Victor Prince shows his spirit as he sprints to first base. Prince played second base.

Rules Reform Runners

Running, throwing, hitting, fielding, sprinting, exercising and the dreaded cuts were the basics of softball tryouts. For three weeks over 50 girls competed for 30 spots on the JV and Varsity teams. With veteran players from leagues like Aviation, Hawthorne American, Lennox, and Wiseburn, competition was tough.

The first two weeks of tryouts there were warmups. They were not required, but helped a great deal for getting in shape. "When I first started warm-ups I wasn't in shape at all compared to the girls that had just come from soccer season," commented JV Catcher Theresa Herrera. The last week of tryouts was for cuts and after a game situation, the final three girls were dropped.

The girls were kept in line by Varsity Coach Smith, JV Coach Wrynn, and the help of some very strict rules. For instance, if they didn't have their jacket, or didn't attempt to swing at a ball, they ran five extra laps at the next practice. Misconduct on the bus to/from a game or talking to spectators during a game resulted in 10 laps. Not 'hustling' onto the field was worth 1 lap, overthrowing a ball at practice was five push-ups, wearing a piece of jewelry at a game called for 25 sit-ups, and starting a fight led to a one game suspension. Thinking twice about every action was necessary if extra laps were unwanted.

Right after final cuts were made, JV Outfielder Amanda Starnes broke her leg, not playing softball but skiing.

How many laps for unauthorized skiing??

Strutting Their Stuff

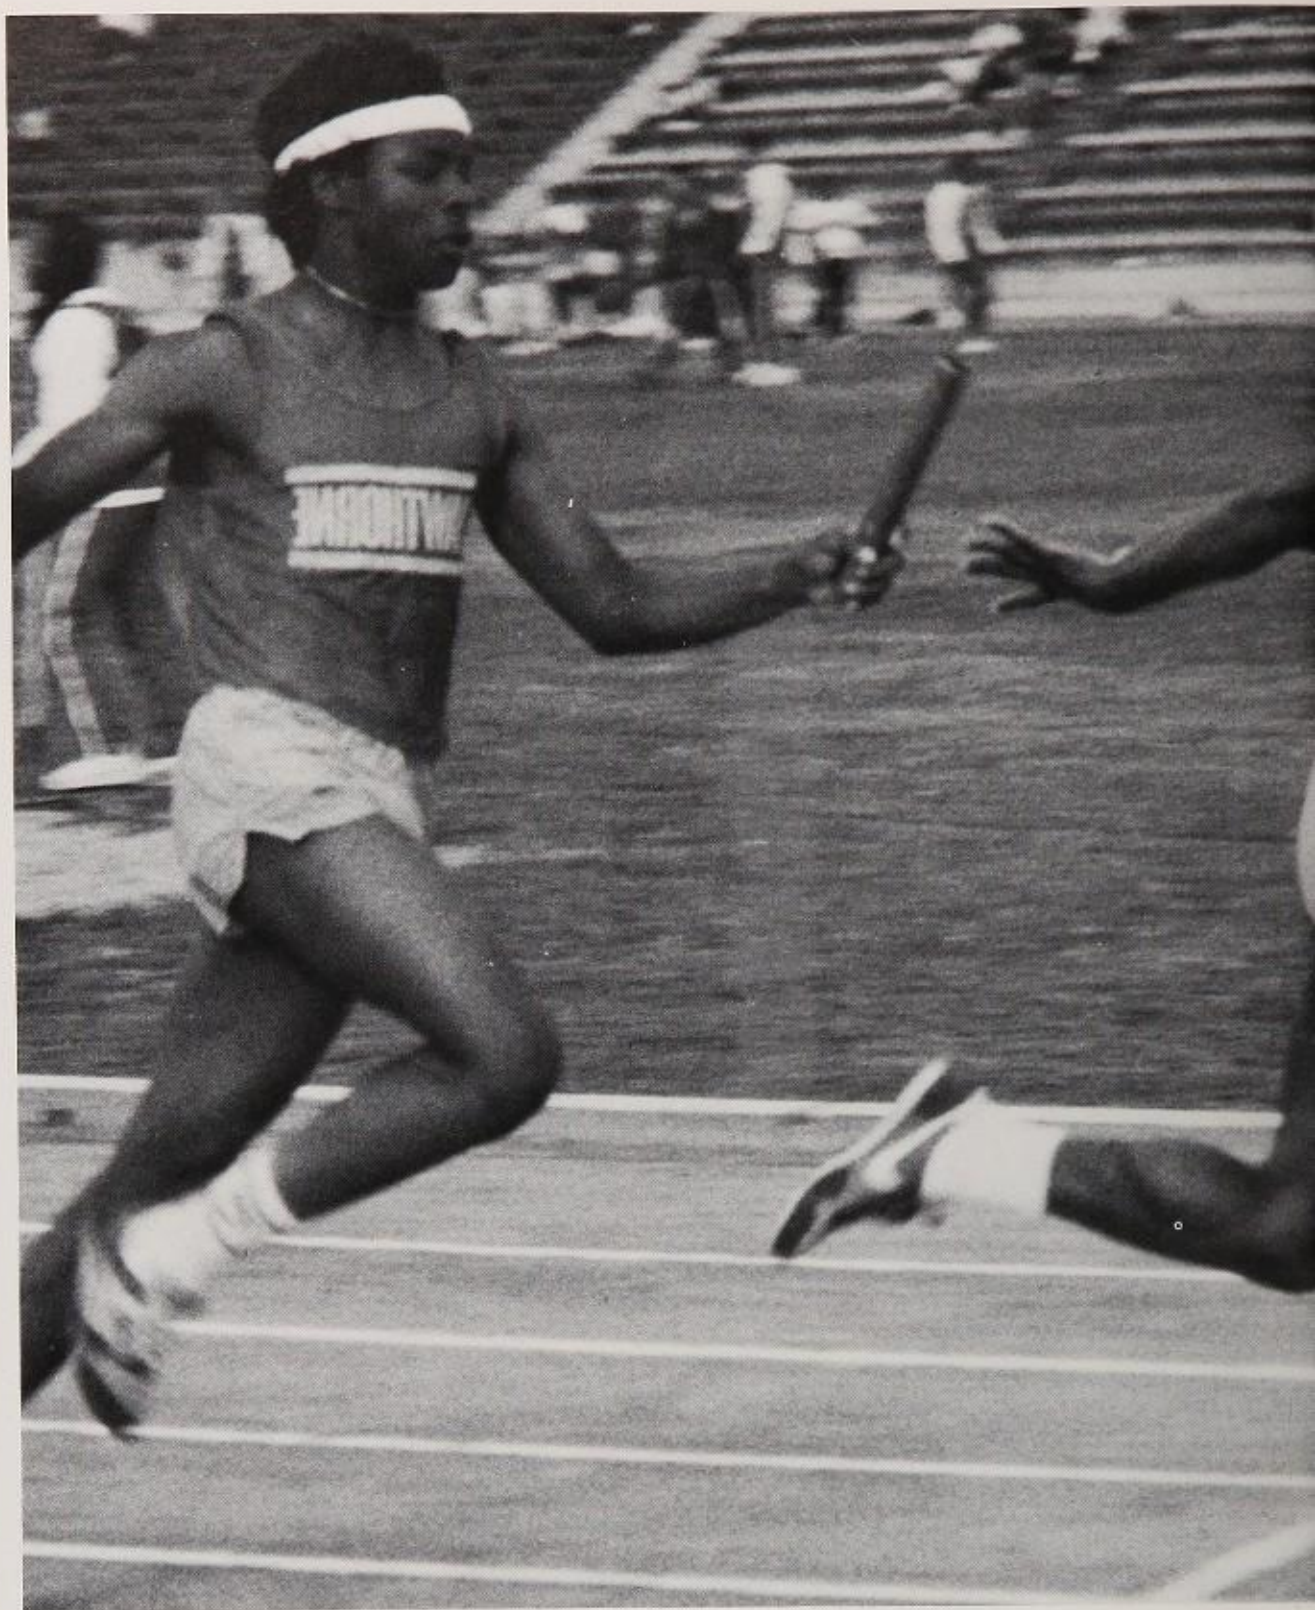

Clad in an exalting gold and a threatening red, the ferocious Cougars strutted onto the track field. Their tactics were obvious and devastatingly effective: strength, speed, agility, confidence and intimidation. This ominous sight was repeated time and time again throughout the season.

But what made the Cougars so ferocious? For starters, four of their top sprinters, Curtis Conway, Robert Carroll, Yke Vallery and Travis Hanna, went all the way to Yale University in Connecticut to compete in a very prestigious indoor meet. Their goal was to break the California high school indoor record for the 4x400 meter relay. They accomplished their objective with a truly intimidating time of 3:19.4.

Their strongest point on the team was obviously the sprinters but they didn't lack in any of the other areas. Their distance team performed strongly. They started off the season with a time of 8:17.8 for the two-mile relay. We had a host of basketball players who found their season over, so they took charge of the field events with surprising results. Randy Lavender, for example, took advantage of his 6'4" frame early in the season by setting a personal best for himself of 6'2" in the high jump.

All this accounted for their confidence, but what was the Cougar secret behind their brilliance? Sprinter Leroy Thomas explained it clearly enough: "Everybody helps each other."

► WITH THE GREATEST OF EASE—Senior Willie Jordan clears a 5'8" high jump bar. Jordan also played Varsity Basketball.

◀ PERFECT PASS—Senior Yki Vallery hands baton to teammate Robert Carroll. The sprint-relay team was rated #1 in California.

▼ DEEP IN THOUGHT—Sophomore Marcus Weil meditates before the big "put". Weil was also a frosh-soph wrestler.

▼ Sykes Sails—Sophomore Devon Sykes reaches for 20 feet. The Cougars cruised to an easy victory over Millikan in a non-league game.

"We have a good chance of making state this year."

Agility, grace, and speed helped to comprise the 40 girls that were on the track team. Running wasn't just moving your arms and legs. There was form and individual style for each runner. "I have a bouncy spring to my run which wears me out," commented Senior Micki Poole.

Whatever style, the girl's track team proved to be successful in capturing first place in the 640-yard race at the 28th Annual Sunkist Invitational. They set a new meet record with a time of 4:12.7. "We ran really great!" exclaimed Adeina Thomas. Running great and working hard made state champions. That's what the track team was striving for; another CIF title, and to take state.

Track was different; there were no tryouts. If you wanted to join the track team then it was possible with one catch-come to practice everyday. "We have never kicked anyone off the team for running too slow," stated Coach Kye Courtney.

A track meet lasted all day. This was due to the fact that there were many other events besides sprints and relays, such as the long jump, shotput, high and low hurdles and the 100 meter.

There was a special feeling among the team that only surfaced during meets. This team wasn't just another team; they were more like a family. "We support each other during the meets. We care about one another. That's the best thing about track!" exclaimed Sophomore Chanel Grayson.

► GO MICKI MOUSE!— Senior Micki Poole runs the 2-mile relay. Micki changed schools in order to run for Hawthorne.

DOWN THE HOME STRETCH—Sharon Edmonds conquers the final hurdle and sprints towards the finish line. Edmonds was a junior this year.

◀ KICKIN' BACK—The girl's track team takes a break after a vigorous workout. They participated in the 28th Annual Sunkist Invitational.

▲ FLOATIN' ON AIR—A member of the track team attempts to clear her height. High jump was an event that both boys and girls did.

Two breathless juniors smiled sheepishly at their fellow classmates, who were getting ready to leave the Christmas Dance. "He had a basketball game," explained the girl. Did she know then that she would be apologizing for Mike Scott, future star pitcher of the Houston Astros, and husband?

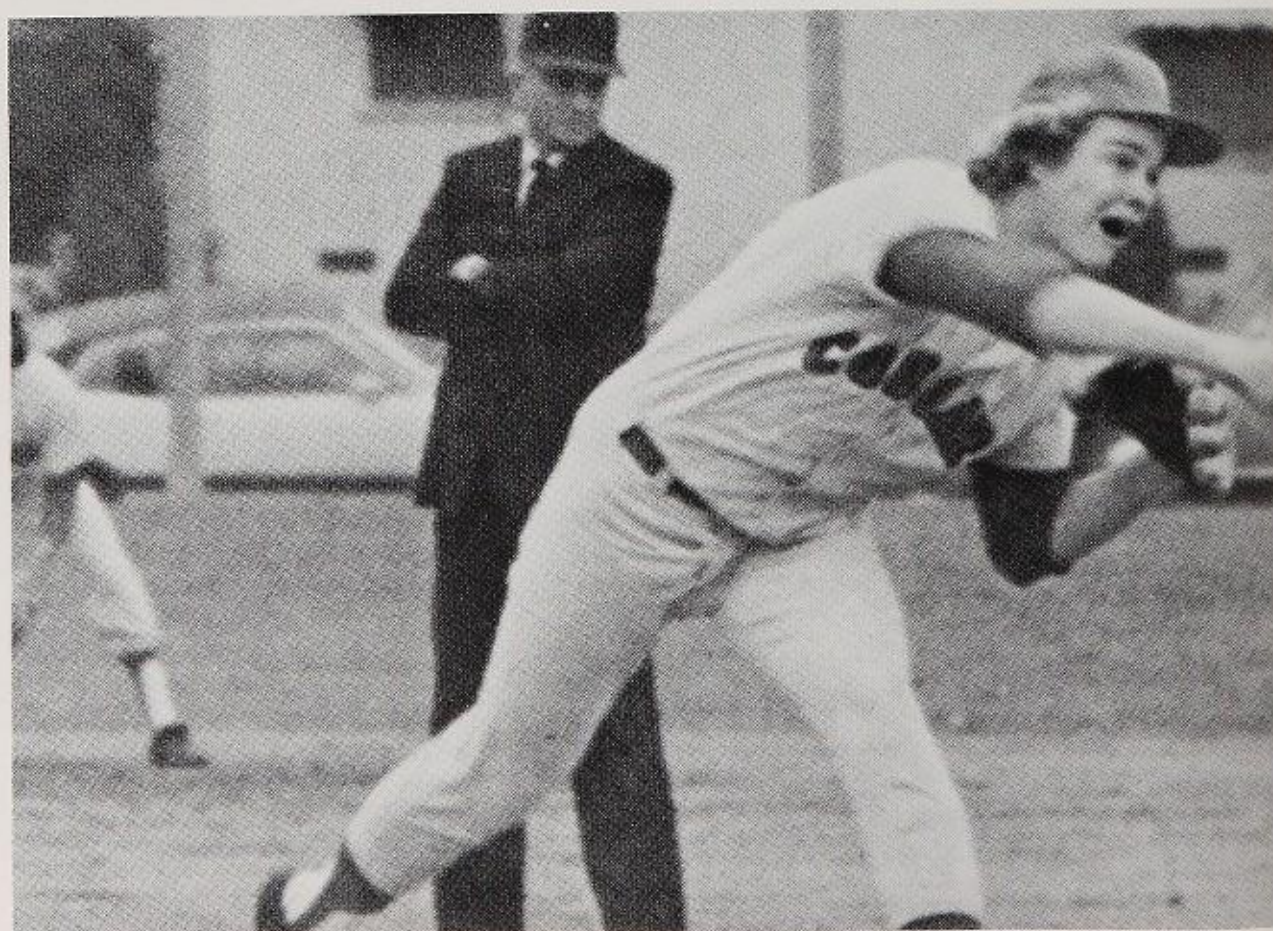

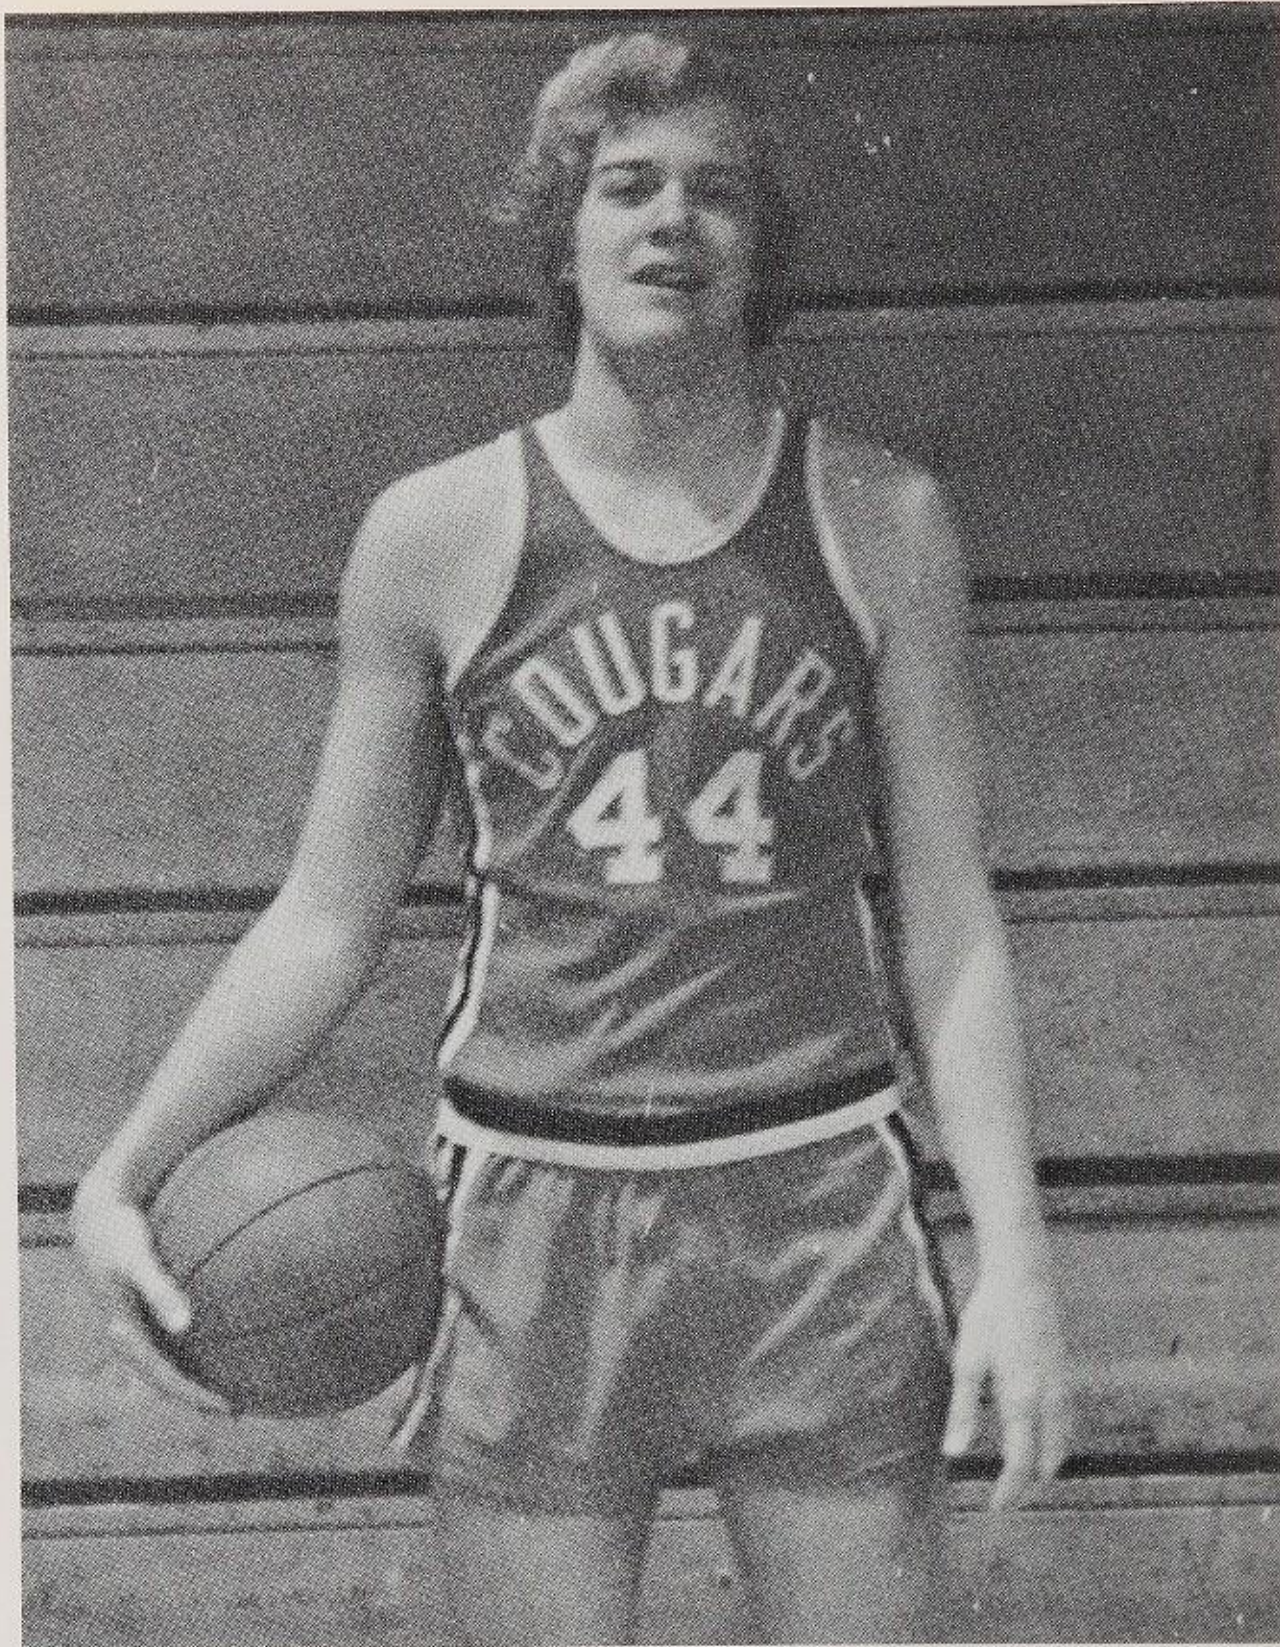

"Mike met Vicki, his wife and mother of his two girls, at Hawthorne High," explained his mother, Mrs. Scott. She went on to say that as a student, her son's first love was actually basketball, though he had played in the Wiseburn Little League since age eight. "He spoke very highly of Coach Smith," added Mrs. Scott. Smith helped Mike to get a scholarship to Pepperdine University, where he was picked up by the Mets.

In 1986, Scott led the major leagues in earned run average and strikeouts, and became the first pitcher in big league history to clinch a championship with a no-hitter against the Giants. Hawthorne residents watched eagerly as Scott, along with the Astros, made his way to the World Series Playoffs.

According to Mrs. Scott, Mike was easy to raise, being involved in sports, rather than drugs. "He did well in school," she smiled, "except in science. He mutilated his worm."

Passport to PEOPLE

All walks of life compose the population of Cougar Country and give Cougar Country its individuality. The newest tourists, freshmen just begin their four years of Rides while the Seniors will soon exit the park.

YOU ARE HERE at a very special time. In just a few short minutes, you will witness a spectacular phenomenon called "lunchtime" when more than 3000 of the tourists (students) and the Ride Operators (faculty) will pour from these buildings. This is the only time during the day you can find the tourists off the Rides and assembled throughout Cougar Country.

You are welcome to acquaint yourself with these unique individuals who together represent diverse cultures from around the world but bring together a combination that makes the heart of Cougar Country beat. From those that pursue their interests in the arts to a few who trekked to the foreign lands of Boys and Girls State, you will find them all in one place at one time, COUGAR COUNTRY.

HEAVE HO! — Sophomore class members engage in the famous tug of war. Tug-of-war was one of many noontime activities.

GO BIG RED! — Spirit club members cheer on Cougars as they battle South Torrance. The Cougars reached victory with a score of 27-14.

AFS exchange students Anne De Vits from Belgium and Laura Suarez Samper from Argentina comment on COUGAR COUNTRY.

El Molino: What fun things did you enjoy while in California?

Anne: Going out with my host sister and meeting her friends.

Laura: I didn't get to spend as much time with Raquel as Anne did with Julie because she was busy being the school mascot, but I did go to the movies, malls and the beach.

El Molino: What were your nights spent doing?

Anne: I was always busy doing EVERYTHING!!!

Laura: I mostly stayed at home except for the weekends.

El Molino: What were your favorite American stars and cars?

Anne: Limousines are the coolest! In Belgium, we have all these compact cars. Big cars are a rarity. As for television I was always too busy to watch anything.

Laura: Family Ties was #1. Michael J. Fox is sooo cute! I really enjoyed Top Gun with Tom Cruise and Back to School with Rodney Dangerfield.

El Molino: What are your plans for the future?

Anne: I want to attend a university at home to become a translator. I definitely want to come back here with my friends.

Laura: I'm undecided on my major, but I know I want to go to a university. I'd like to come back here also.

Taking Note

Competition was intense. Out of 20 to 30 students, from the South Bay area, only 6 were chosen to appear in concert as a solo pianist with the Beach Cities Symphony. Tammy Herrin was one of those 6 talented musicians who made it to the finals.

Tammy had played the piano since she was 8 years old. She first started playing the piano because she wanted to be like her mom who also played. Since then, she's used her musical abilities to achieve a great goal — to play with the orchestra in concert.

When Tammy heard about the piano competition, she began practice sessions of up to three hours a day. The motivation she received from hearing the piece she had been preparing played by the L.A. Philharmonic really made her want to go all the way. She could just picture herself playing the Beethoven Concerto #3 in C minor along with the 80 members of the Symphony.

Tammy said, "Playing with the orchestra was not as difficult as I had imagined. I just kept my eyes on the conductor and prayed it would be over soon. After all, the audience did consist of over 2000 people. The greatest part was the end though, when my 5 year old cousin Scott brought me flowers."

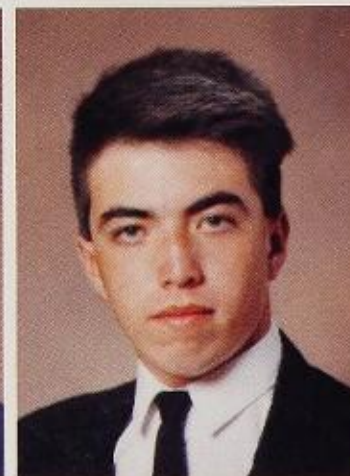

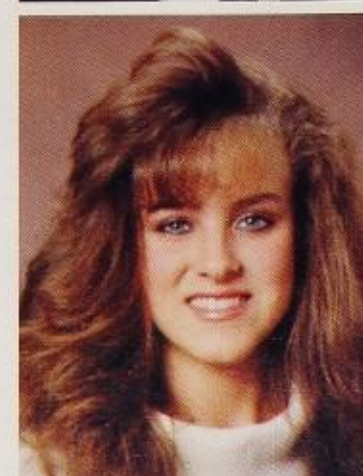

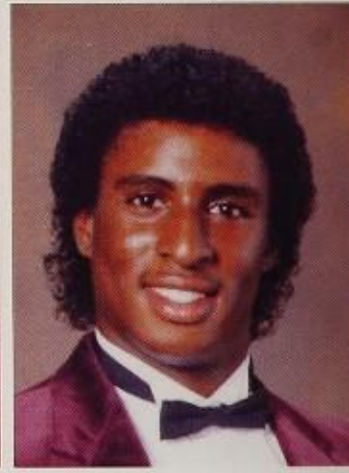

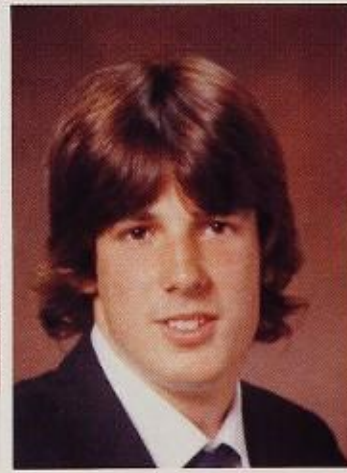

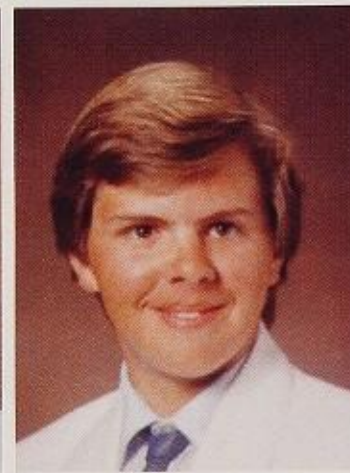

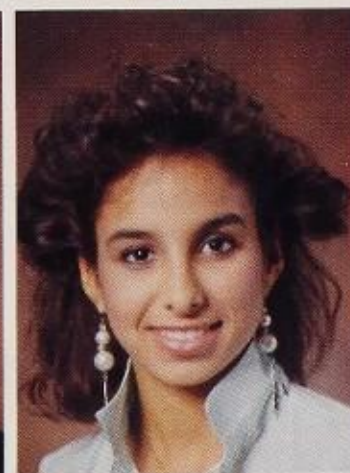

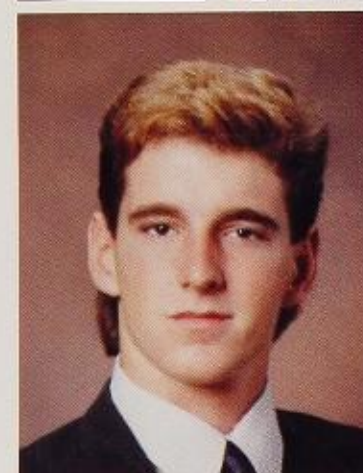

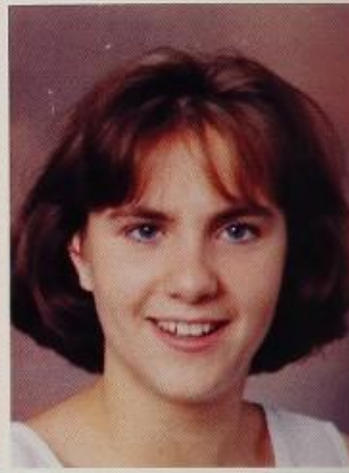

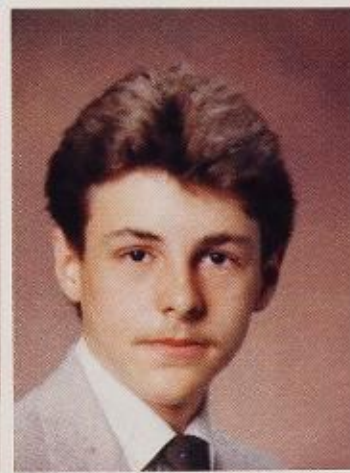

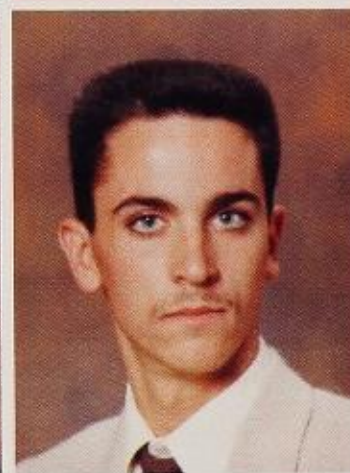

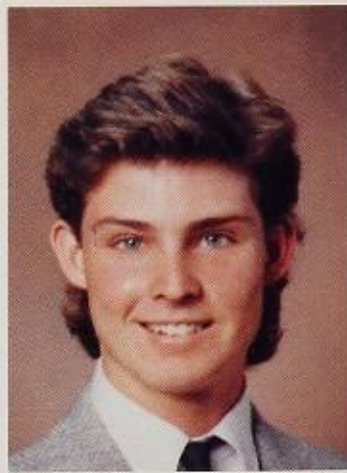

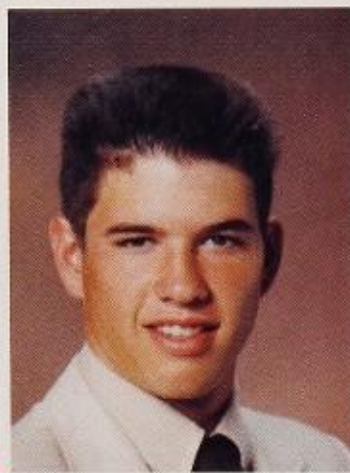

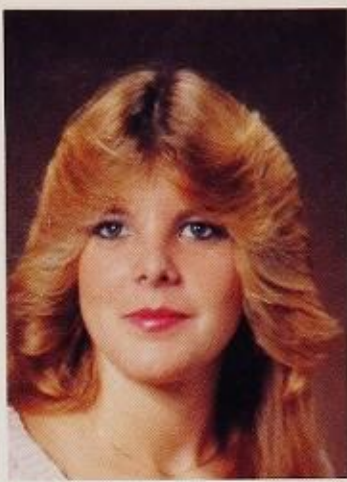

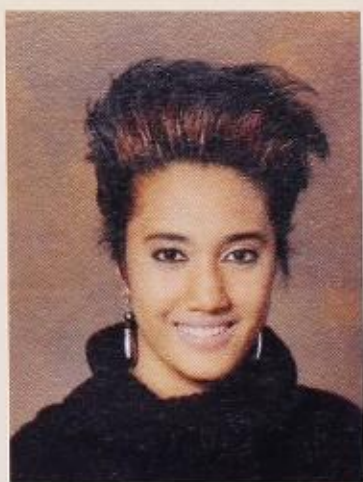

QUIET PLEASE — Senior Tammy Herrin gets ready to play. Tammy was also a member of Jazz Band.

PROUD PIANIST — Tammy happily receives roses after the concert. In the future she plans to continue studying piano performance.

Dropouts. It wasn't something one heard much about. Nonetheless, 67 seniors dropped out of school. The chief reasons students left, according to Mr. Crowe, assistant principal, were that either they hadn't been successful or they were resentful towards the authority, rules, and competition. Among girls, pregnancy was the chief reason. "Our school is a transient district, so we see a large number of dropouts. Furthermore, when students move they sometimes move without notifying the school and are erroneously labeled as dropouts," commented Mr. Crowe.

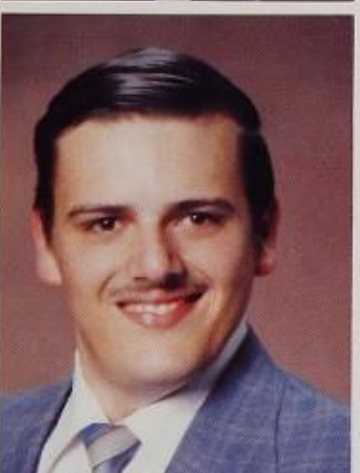

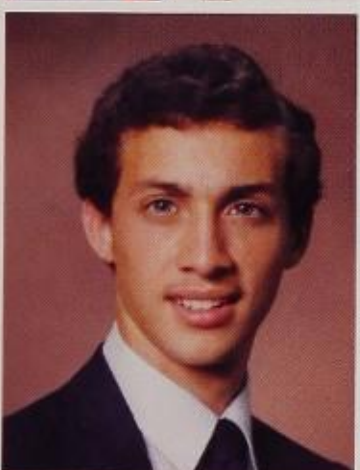

According to a Californian study, the following types of students were likely to drop out of school. THOSE THAT

1. are 2 years behind reading and mathematics
2. do not participate in extra curricular activities
3. change schools often
4. have parents with 8th grade education or less
5. show delinquent behavior (i.e. stealing, using drugs, drinking)

WHAT DID OUR SCHOOL DO ABOUT IT? For the first time an intervention program designed to help possible dropouts was set up. "The response from the students was very positive! They have shown improvement and none received progress reports!" said Mr. Chauncey, director of OPPORTUNITY program.

SERIOUS MATTER — Mr. Crowe, Mr. Karella, and Mr. Escalante discuss dropout rates. Mr. Crowe attended a convention concerning high school.

ove in the Ranks

Only one girl representative was chosen to go to Cal State Sacramento to participate in the forty-fifth annual session of Girls State. Karen Hanna was chosen to go during the summer.

EL MOLINO: What did you learn at Girls State?

KAREN: I learned about myself. Girls State was more than just on hand experience forming cities, counties, and state governments. It was also an experience to learn about your inner strengths.

EL MOLINO: What positions did you hold there?

KAREN: I was a city judge, county court clerk, and Head of the Department for the Colorado River Board.

EL MOLINO: What was Girls State like?

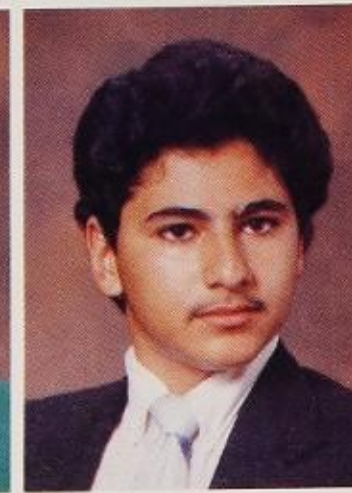

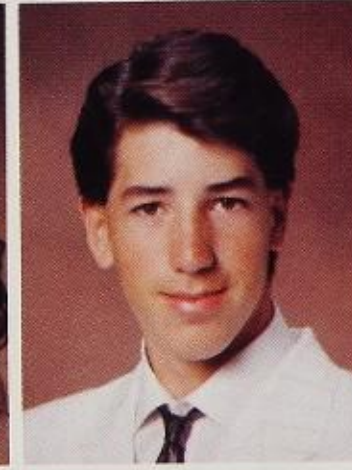

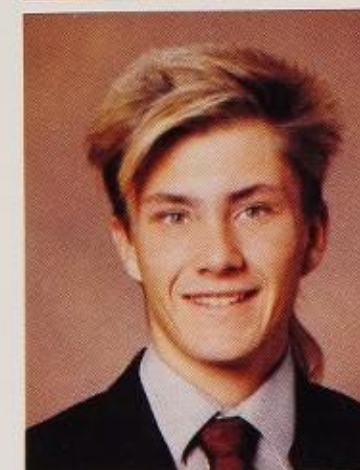

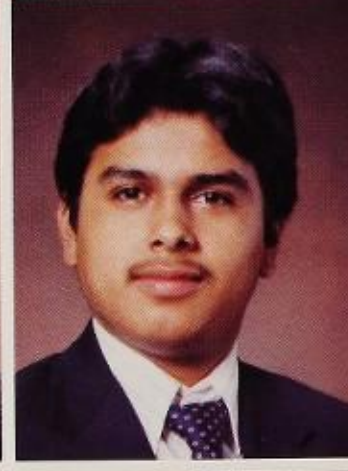

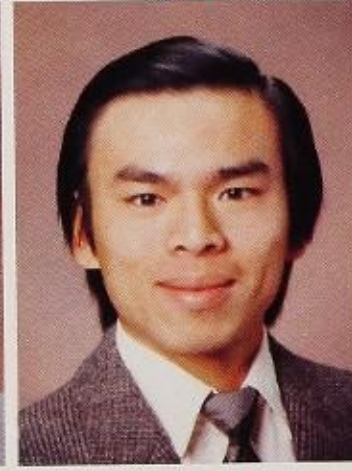

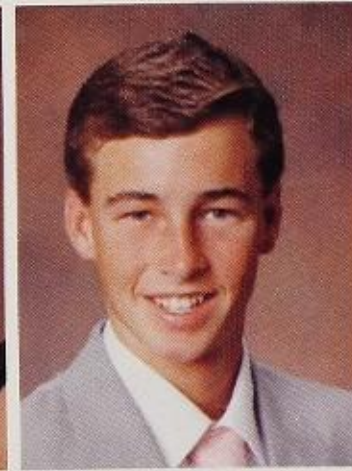

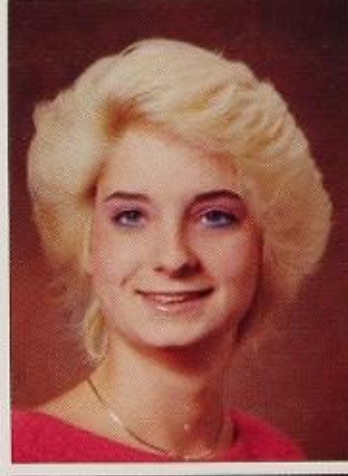

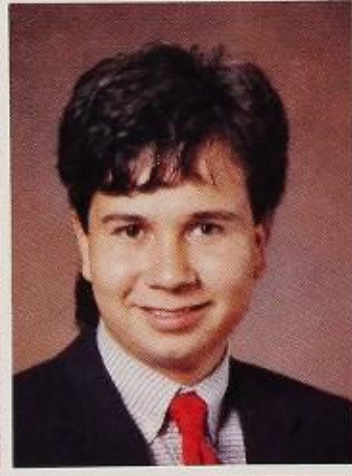

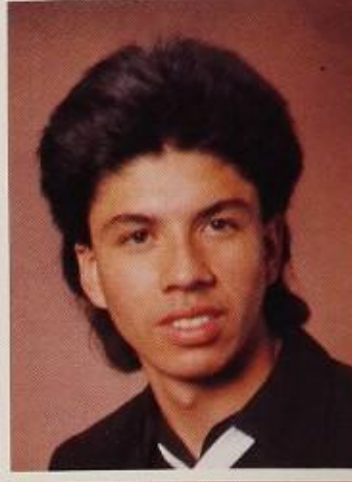

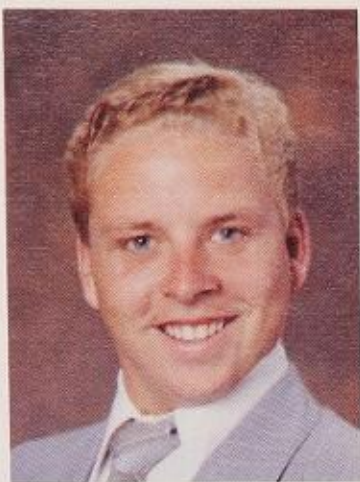

KAREN: It was very exciting. It surpassed all my expectations. There is no one word that could describe those ten days, but if needed to be summed I think that word would be love.

EL MOLINO: How did this experience affect your life?

KAREN: It taught me a lot about life. It taught me the value of people and participation in our community. It also taught me to treat people equally.

WISH I WAS THERE — Girls Stater Karen Hanna reminisces about her summer experience. Her experiences served her well in Student Council.

With Politics

"Hello and welcome to Sacramento." Governor George Deukmejian's greeting resounded throughout the room as 950 of California's finest political representatives, including Lance Chang, James Goh, and Mike Hanna, convened for the forty-ninth annual session of Boy's State.

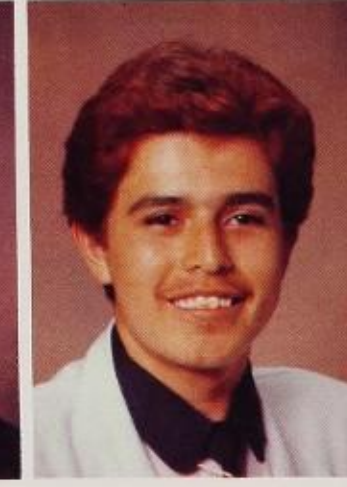

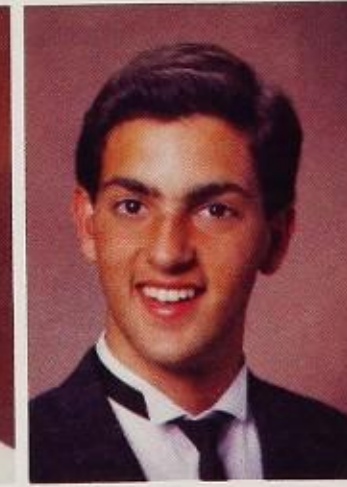

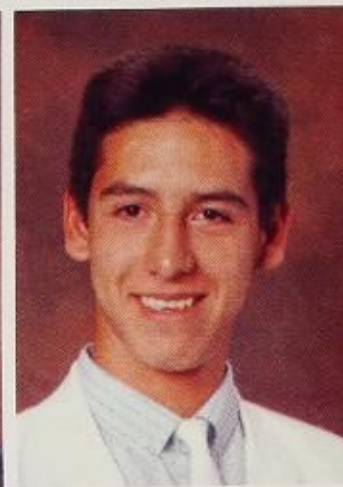

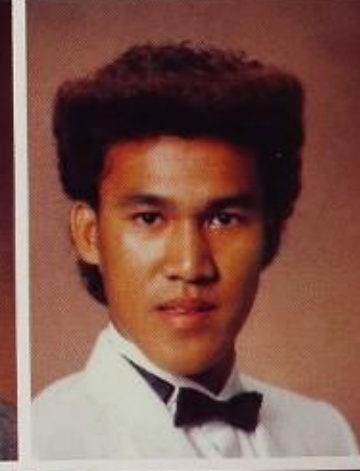

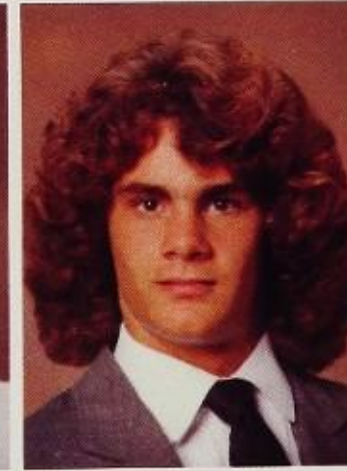

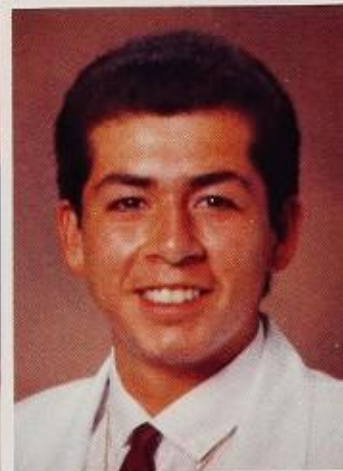

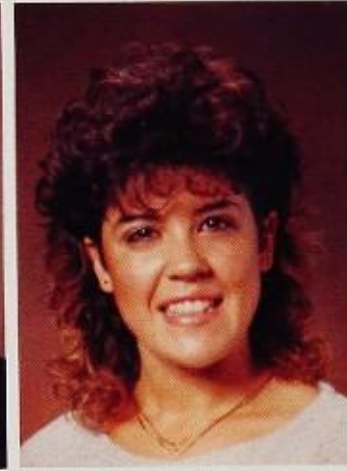

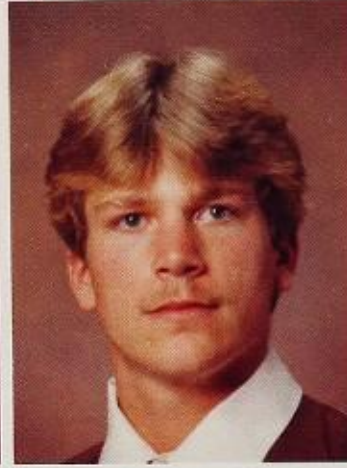

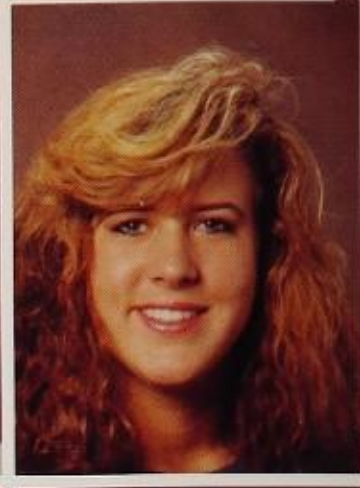

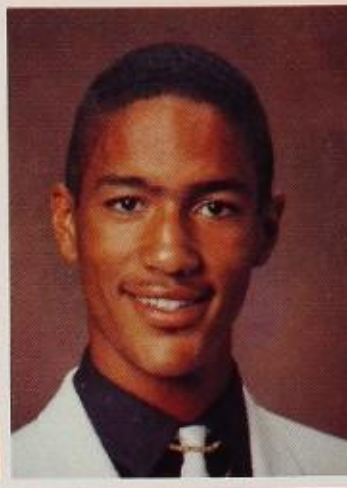

Boy's State is a one-week mock government run by high school students. Students are divided into cities and are represented in the legislature. Elections were held for offices on the city, county and state levels. Lance Chang was the State Chairman of Financial and Business Administration, Mike Hanna was County Deputy Sheriff and City Deputy Police Chief, and James Goh was State Controller. James commented, "Campaigning and speaking in front of 950 people was an experience I'll never forget."

Mike Hanna's city, Muir, won the state volleyball championships, Lance Chang made it to the state tennis quarter finals and James Goh was the city of Fillmore's tennis representative. Lance Chang stated, "I met a lot of intelligent students from other schools and got to know them well."

A week's learning activities taught more than just politics as Mike Hanna concluded, "I learned commitment. In everything you do, you must fully commit yourself to become successful."

LOOK AT THE FUTURE — Boys Staters James Goh, Lance Chang, and Mike Hanna display their t-shirts. All were Student Council members.

id-term

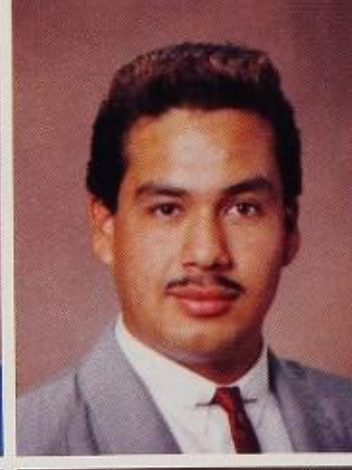

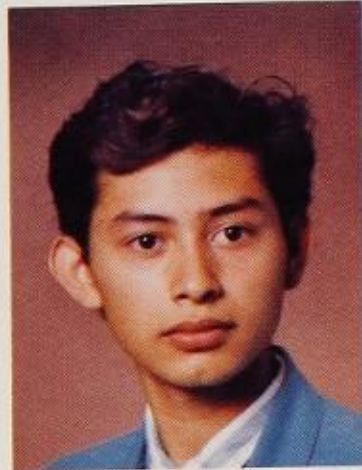

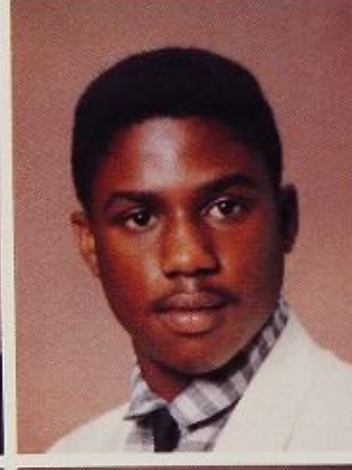

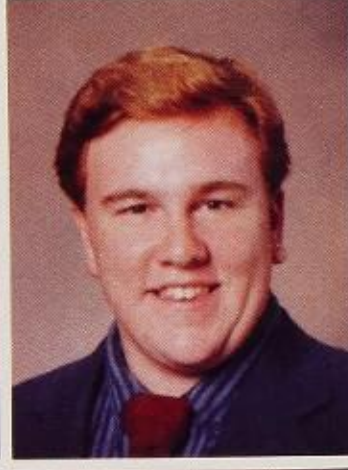

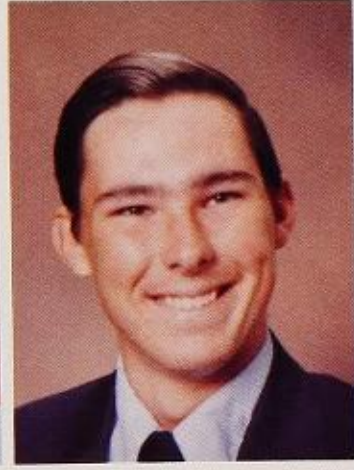

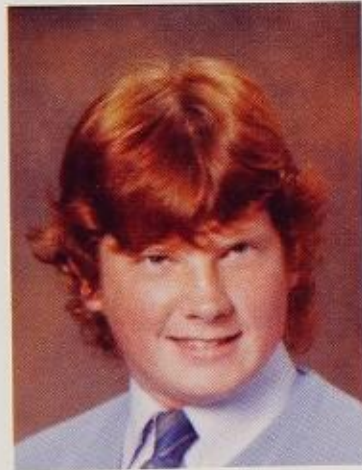

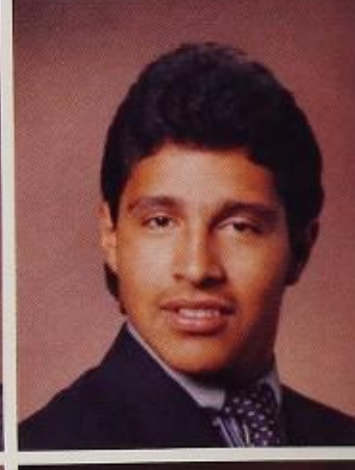

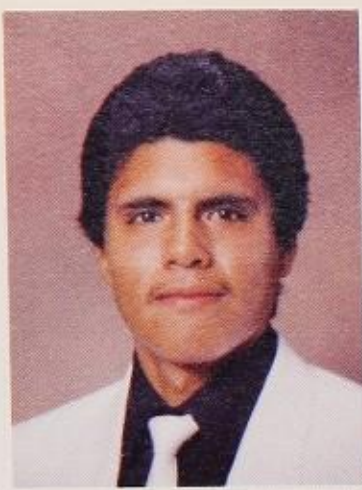

ends all terms

Have you ever found yourself dreaming of the day when high school would end? This is a question which crossed the minds of many students from time to time. For some the fantasy of graduating early became a reality. Long hours of homework, teachers, and overcrowded classrooms ceased to exist by February.

Mid-term was a name given to certain seniors who chose to work harder in their 9th, 10th, and 11th grade years to earn credits that would pay off in their last year of high school. Attending summer school and Southern California Regional Occupational Center also helped. SCROC also let many train for careers early if college was not planned.

What did these ex-seniors do with all their days? This extra time meant vacations, shopping, the beach, and working long hours to save money for college tuition. Graduating early was not advantageous for all. Many early grads missed senior ditch days, daily bulletin reports, and interaction with long-time friends. "Graduating early was great for me because I was able to travel and relax before I entered college in the fall. The best part was I didn't miss many senior class activities," commented early-grad Nikki Shaw. "Although I did miss some things, I feel it was the best way out!"

HHUUUUHHH!!! — Mid-term grad Nikki Shaw is at a loss for words over graduating early. Shaw was on El Molino and AFS vice president.

Tensions were rising as Seniors Bobby Kraag and Merci Rodriguez along with Junior John Portela and former graduates Anna Rey and Kim Rodriguez made last minute arrangements for their first time on T.V. These five students saw new doors open as they passed the auditions for Putting On The Hits!

All preparation was not as rosy as the final performance. The group had planned an act two weeks before the taping and performed this act to the other drama students and because of their reactions, the group decided to change EVERYTHING!!! Bobby Kraag remarked, "They said that we looked as if we were on drugs or something! The whole thing lacked energy." Therefore, an entirely new act was created in only three hours the night before the actual taping.

The group was called Planetarium Sanitarium, appropriately named because the guys were dressed in space outfits and the girls in trash bags.

The impersonation done by the group was of the B52's with the song "Rock Lobster". Scores received were 29 for originality, 30 for appearance, and 29 for lip sync, top score being 30 for each category.

Unknown?

As we begin to take a step in the "real world" and go our separate ways, we still don't really know what the future holds.

We do have our goals, dreams, and fantasies. With that in mind, the question is . . . "WHERE WILL YOU BE IN 30 YEARS?"

Mike Irizabel — Kicking back on my yacht in the Bahamas.

Tamica Woolfolk — Married, and have my own business firm.

Robert Pele — Still growing my hair.

Cathy Clark — After years of following groups around, I'll be booking their gigs.

Tony Richards — Pitching for the Mets in the World Series.

Sheri Rixey — Married to Rob Lowe.

Enrique Javier — In Cuba playing cards with Fidel Castro.

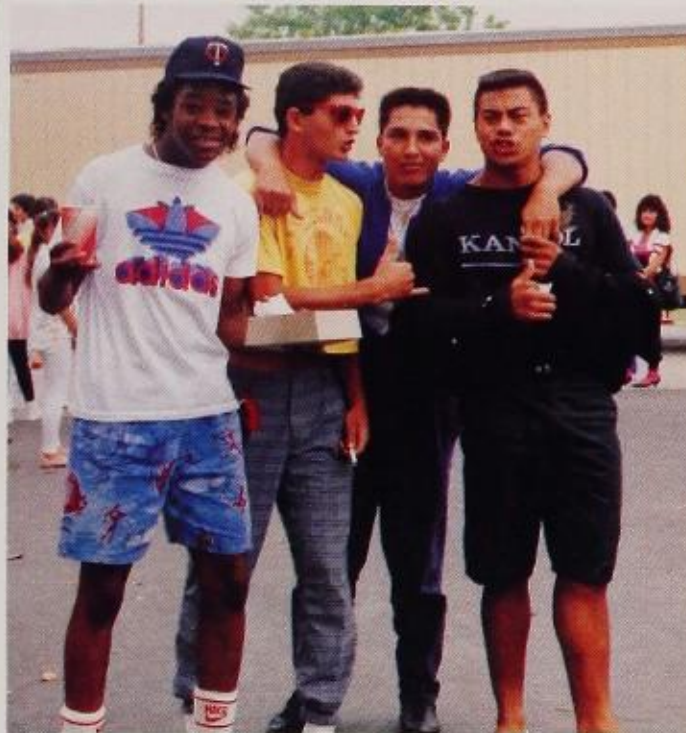

Melodie Cudanes — Spending the 10 million dollars I won from the lottery.

Jesse Felix — Skid Row!!

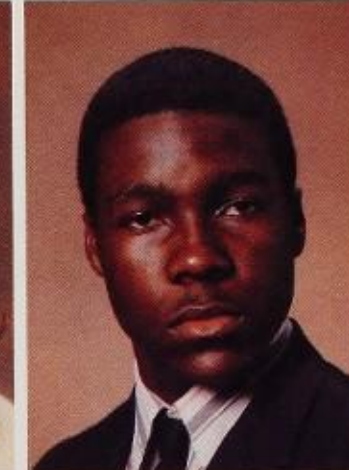

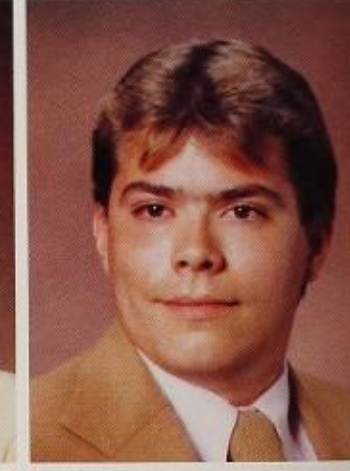

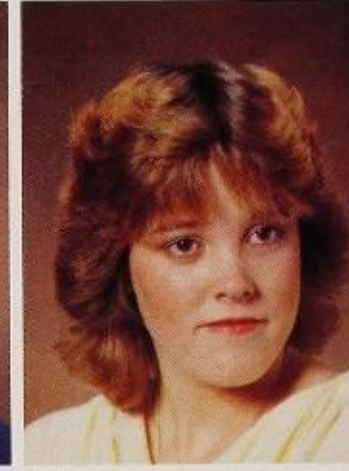

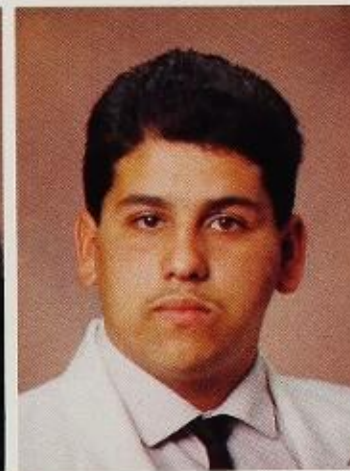

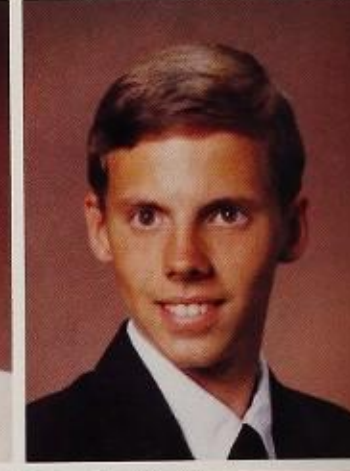

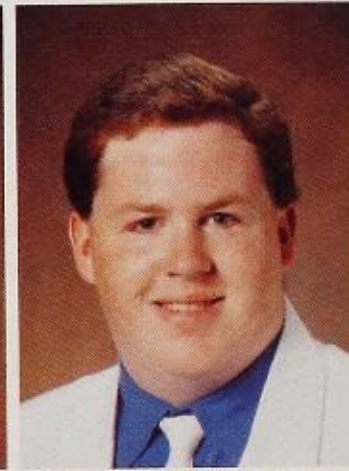

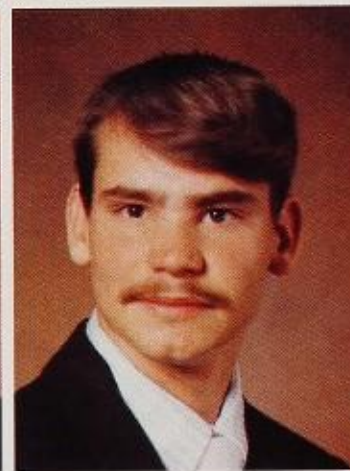

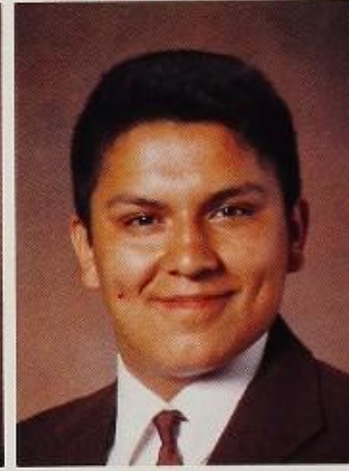

Maribel Ochoa — On a tropical island enjoying the sun.

Anonymous — Probably still glowing in the dark after the nuclear holocaust.

C lass Cabinet

Growing excitement and anticipation filled the chorus room at lunch as the first class meeting began. President Angie Wells presided along with her cabinet that consisted of: Vice-President Wendi Van Hoose, Secretary Brenda Steele, Treasurer Amy Huhn, and after regular elections, Historian Jenny Diette.

Wells presented the future plans for the '87 Prom that would be held at the Disneyland Hotel. With the fact that they were financially well-off but further fundraisers and preparations were needed, members of the class responded with ideas, and a readiness to get things under way. With this seed planted, fund raisers throughout the year such as car washes, flower and candy sales, proved to be profitable, as stated by Wells, "Having early fundraisers swelled our budget even more."

Through the efforts of the involved seniors, they attained the greatest expectations of the class cabinet. Amy Huhn commented, "Everyone was more enthused and involved with participating."

The meetings were held every two weeks and over 60 seniors participated each time. Deidra Simmons said, "I enjoyed attending the meetings because I felt like I really was a part of my class."

onations,

Please!

Sen-ior (sen-yar) n: Penniless, destitute, moneyless, broke, needy student in his/her last year of high school.

In the beginning of the year most seniors believed that their only financial problem was going to be affording the prom. But in reality they had to think about the cost of college applications, important school dances, and gasoline for their cars, among other things. "All my previous years here I hadn't really used up a lot of money, but now I'm almost broke because of the price of the SAT, Prom, and other things," said Alex Cole. "I worked all summer to save up, but now that I'm a senior all of my money is slowly disappearing," commented Chang Park.

For seniors who had jobs there was no conflict with their parents, but for others asking for the money wasn't the most pleasant experience. "Of course, I had a quarrel with my parents whenever I asked for money, but after all I'll never be a high school senior again!" exclaimed Lana Kim.

linded by the Light

"This is not just any other band, it has a purpose, and its purpose is to reach everyone." Drummer Robert Pele comments about his new band First Calling.

The band — with Joe Olson on vocals, T.J. White playing co-lead guitar with Mike James Ryan, and Robert Pele on drums — is a "turn for the better" from their old band Avenger.

Uninterested with Joe's idea of starting a Christian rock band at first, Robert and Mike tried to get Avenger back together. After convincing Mike to join, Joe also got Robert interested. Once the band changed, so did their life styles. Robert commented, "I used to be just a long-haired rocker that loved to party but now that's over. I still like rock and roll but the partying and drugs — that's out!"

First Calling's music might be harder than heavy metal, but the lyrics and attitude are totally different. "Wink of an Eye" talks about Christ's second coming and stealing away his believers in the wink of an eye.

Robert summed up the purpose of his band, "You can't reach those heavy metal rockers when the music is all trumpets and organs. I try to cater to their needs. The music is entertainment, but it is definitely more than that — it's a ministry."

MISSION FROM GOD — First Calling members Joe Olson, T.J. White, Robert Pele, and Mike James Ryan. All four attended a Bible study class called Sanctuary.

I wish I were ...

Sanantha: I hate my nose. It's so BIGGGGG!

April: I know what you mean. I wish I could chop off all these split ends, and lose 25 pounds.

Do those lines sound familiar? Many seniors wished they could alter their appearance in one way or another. Plastic surgery, heavy make-up and other ways concealed the flaws that many wanted to minimize. El Molino asked 100 seniors what physical features they would change. Here are the results:

BARS OF DISPLEASURE — Seniors express dislikes on their looks. Will these finicky seniors ever be pleased?

I deal Spouse

As a senior, marriage may have seemed too far in the future to start thinking about, but once you graduated you found yourself on the ride of your life as you entered the dreaded real world. Once there, you were confronted with scary and mysterious concepts such as marriage. A few seniors who had tackled this notion described what they believed to be the ideal spouse.

Thang Bach — 6'1", bright, feminine and eager to succeed.

Sonam Soni — Asian Indian, Hindu, not ugly, wants to live in India, has old-fashioned values yet adaptable to changing times and must believe in reincarnation.

Elgin Lofton — nice, intelligent and most importantly a good cook.

Michelle Crittenden — honest, caring and not afraid to open up.

Steve Smullen — a career woman.

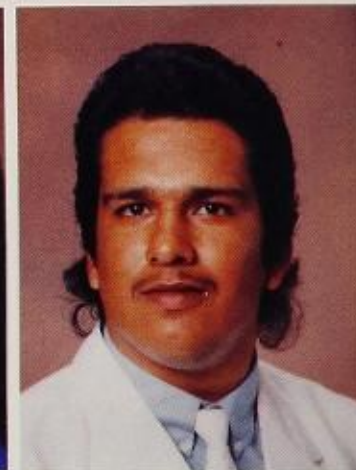

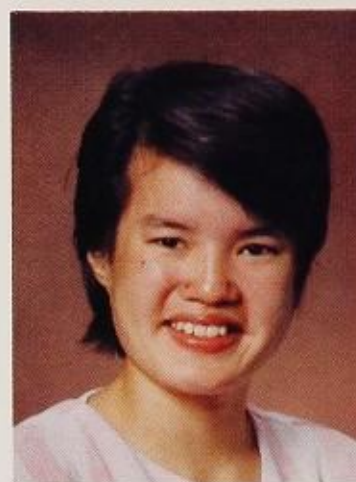

Marquette McCaleb — involved, understanding and concerned. Appearance counts, but personality is what's important.

Maria Calvillo — taller than me and very wanted.

Rahila Mohammad — gets along with my parents, friendly, fun (enjoys a good time), not picky, and older than me.

LOVE AT FIRST SIGHT — When asked about the ideal couple, most seniors picked this curious two-some.

What's different this year?

Janel Fomby — "I'm older, wiser, and soon I can get out of this crazy school."

ILIA REGIS — I have harder classes, a nicer boyfriend, and I think I got taller.

DANIELLE WATERS — There is no difference, it's still boring, but now I'm almost to the top.

KRIS SZABO — I feel more mature when I look at some of these freshmen and knowing I'm almost there makes it easier to go on.

SAMEER ABUTAHIR — I finally got to drive my van and pick up on all the babes!

MICHELLE WILLSON — I have more freedom and I love it.

CLARENCE JACKSON — The girls have developed more!

FIA LUATANGI — Too much homework. Also, I can pick on the freshmen.

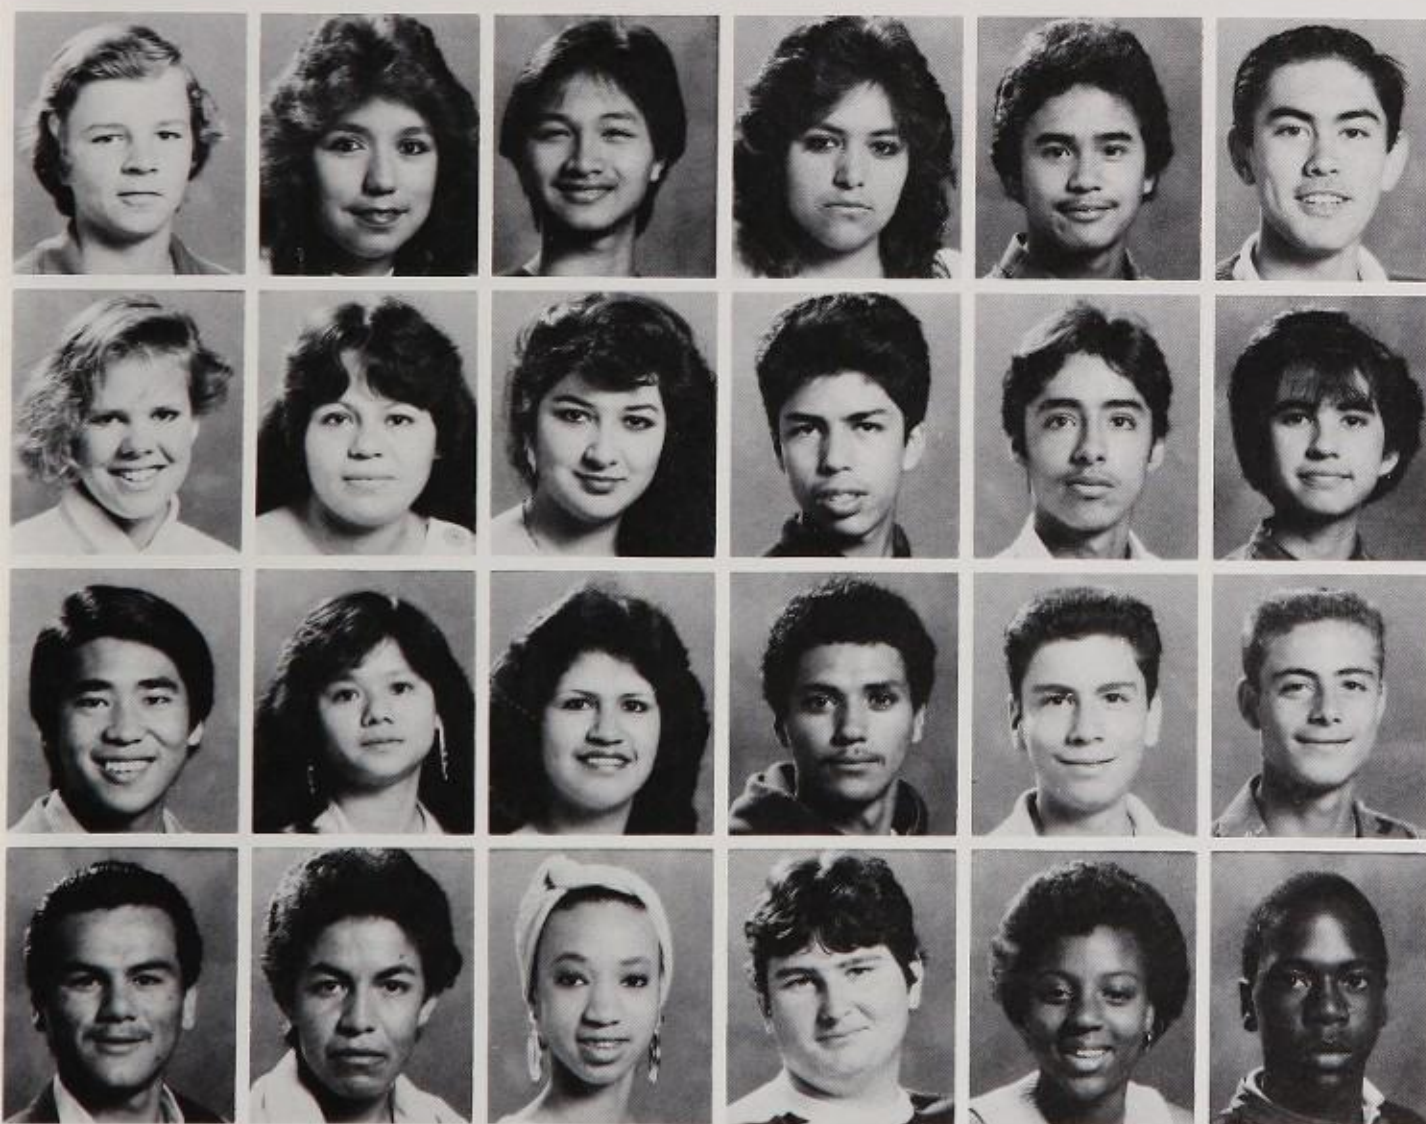

JOANNE MONTES — I have a job.

STEVE SHAPIRO — I don't get treated like trash and I feel as though I can get away with murder.

SHON KILLMAN — I finally got to drive my U-boat Cadi.

JENIENE PARKER — I have a lot of new responsibility and more is expected from me.

JUNIOR Grows Up

Patty Rocha—"I'm unsure about the future . . . but I'm very excited!"

What do you want to be when you grow up? As juniors, the words became a startling reality.

Some juniors had already risen to leadership, such as Junior Class President Helen Lee. Some knew where they were going, such as Steve Shapiro, future accountant. Others, such as talented artist Thuy Ngyuen, weren't sure where the future would find them.

Most juniors found themselves bombarded by important tests and decisions during their third year of high school. The PSAT test needed to be taken, the math survival test to be passed, and required classes had to be fit into busy schedules.

In spite of the hard work, juniors were comforted by thoughts of their upcoming senior year and . . . the prom!

JUNIORS Mind Over Music

Michael Wilkins—"I want to reach people's minds through my music."

How would you describe music? Singer Michael Wilkins described music as "a way of expressing one's deepest feelings about life, love, hate and oneself."

Michael has been expressing his emotions through music all his life. He was a member of three church choirs as well as of a community choir.

His persistence paid off when he became the lead singer of the funk band, "The Grand Persuasion". "In performing, I'm able to communicate with a large crowd of people. It's very fun and comfortable."

His musical talents include singing, writing music, playing bass, lead guitar and keyboard. An admirer of Janet Jackson and Prince, Michael hoped to reach the top of the charts.

A Male Cheerleader?

David Kelly—"I'm proud to be a cheerleader."

When most people think of cheerleaders they picture girls with short skirts and pom-poms cheering. David Kelly was not the typical cheerleader, bearing a microphone and wearing red pants. Although there have been a total of seven male cheerleaders since the school first opened, David was the first in 20 years.

Over the summer, David, along with the rest of the team, attended USA (United Spirits Association). "At first I felt out of place because there were only 3 other guys there besides me, but after a day or so I started having fun!" exclaimed David.

"I think David has a lot of courage, and I hope that his example will encourage others to join Pep Squad," commented Dan Karella, the Activities Director.

"When you're the first person to do something different some people accept you and some don't. I have a lot of people making comments about me, but I have learned to ignore them because I'm doing what I want and having fun at the same time."

4 Wheels Better Than None

Marc Alteri—"I get where I want to go!"

Whether it was by car, bus, bike, or just plain walking juniors always found a type of transportation that would get them to school. The most popular way to get to school was to drive or ride with a friend. "I drive a big Cadillac and take 14 friends to school every day," stated Junior Shon Killman.

While a lot of students came to school by car there were still those who walked. "I have to walk in the rain and the mud—it's not fun!" exclaimed Sean Lawson.

There were many juniors who relied on another type of transportation: the BUS. The RTD had many different routes which brought students to school who lived too far away to walk. "I have to take the bus to school because I live in Inglewood," commented Masonet Thomas. "When the bus is late, I'm late, too!"

JUNIORS Who's going to ask?

Angela Perkins—"My idea of a date is going to an outdoor play, sitting under the stars."

Dating changed quite conspicuously over the years. In the 1950's couples used to walk to malt shops for sodas and go to the town dances. In 1987 however, couples drove to concerts, parties, movies, and restaurants. "I like going out to dinner and afterwards having capuccino at the beach!" exclaimed Sameer Abutahir.

Because of the cost of dating, girls sometimes had to help pay the expenses. "I think that if the guy doesn't have enough money then the girl should chip in," commented Elias Reyes.

Due to the increasing popularity of equal rights, girls became more daring to ask guys out. "I don't think there's anything wrong with a girl asking a guy out," confirmed Melissa Wilmot. "With dances such as the backwards dance, there's no hesitation for the girls to do the asking." "The only thing I have to worry about is if the guy wants to go out with me or not!" exclaimed Vicki Padilla.

JUNIORS Leader of the Future

David Noya—"I think everyone should strive to be the best person they can."

I think David Noya represents all the very best things Hawthorne tries to instill in its students," said Activities Director Dan Karella. David had proved to be very involved in school activities. He was junior class vice president, a member of the Knights, and a soccer team player.

David was one of the few who were chosen to attend a Leaders of Tomorrow weekend at the University of Southern California sponsored by Hugh O' Brian. During that weekend David, along with other Southern California sophomores, attended seminars about ideas of professions and motivation. "I not only acquired leadership skills but also gained many friends throughout California, whom I'll never forget," said David.

His goals for the future involved attending Stanford University and studying something in the medical field. "I have not yet decided my exact profession, but I would very much like to help people," commented David.

THEOREM NUMBER #?@*!—Triangles and angles make up a lot of what Geometry is all about. Most sophomores who took Geometry knew many theorems.

JUMPIN' JACK FROG—Relaxing in the shade, a frog recollects his recent dissection. Many Biology students had to dissect frogs.

CRAZY DRIVER—A distracted damsel waits frantically for a parking space. Women with hair curlers caused a lot of accidents in the Hawthorne area.

Who's blonde, blue eyed, and quite good-looking? Probably an eighth of the sophomores on campus, but this one stuck out above all the rest. His name was Eddie Korn and he was the kicker for our varsity football team.

"I was happy and surprised to make the varsity football team considering I'm only a sophomore. It was really an honor," he proudly stated. Eddie would like to take on football as a career when he graduates but pictures himself more in the medical profession. He hopes to attend UCLA on a football scholarship. But Eddie was not just your average, ordinary jock. These past two years, he's managed to maintain a 3.83 grade point average. He takes school quite seriously and feels it's very important. German is his favorite subject.

According to Eddie his parents were very supportive through his many years in sports. "My parents were really great through the whole season. They were always lending me moral support," he stated. This super sophomore was also on frosh_soph track and junior varsity soccer.

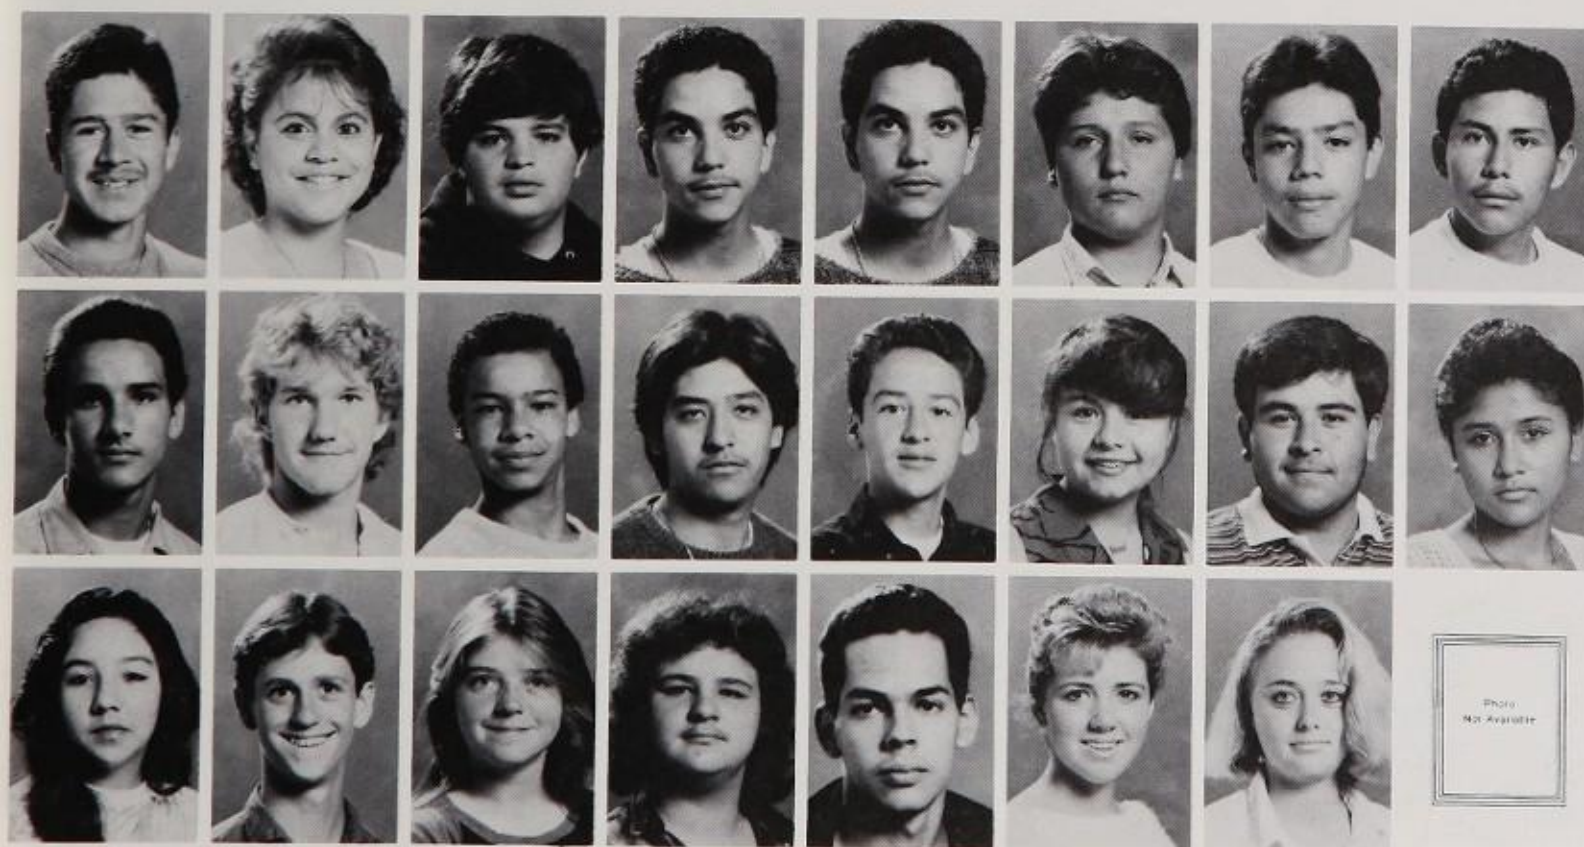

You might wonder what this guy did in his spare time. He enjoyed riding bikes along the beach, sitting around talking to friends, and listening to music of all kinds, except country.

Do the funky chicken—Young Eddie Korn practices to be a sophomore. He has been playing soccer since the age of six.

Hmm, very interesting—Eddie eagerly reads a magazine. Although involved in many sports, Korn was as very studious person.

"OUT"-RAGEOUS—Cathleen and Raymond Cabbage fascinate us with their protruding bellies. Cabbage Patch Kids were popular in the 80's.

INNY OR OUTTY?—Magazine superstar flashes a revealing pose. Calvin Klein was well known for his good taste in belly buttons.

FOR YOUR EYES ONLY—This mysterious inny was proud of her perfect belly. Belly buttons came in many shapes and sizes.

Although the subject of this story is pronounced the same as a car (Audi), it was something altogether different. Yes, that's right!! We're talking belly buttons! More specifically—innies and outties. An inny being one whose belly button was pushed in and an outty being one whose belly button was pulled out. We searched high and low for both types, but ran into very few outties. Where were the outties?!

Ragina Degler—Inny. I think outties have a mutation in their DNA.

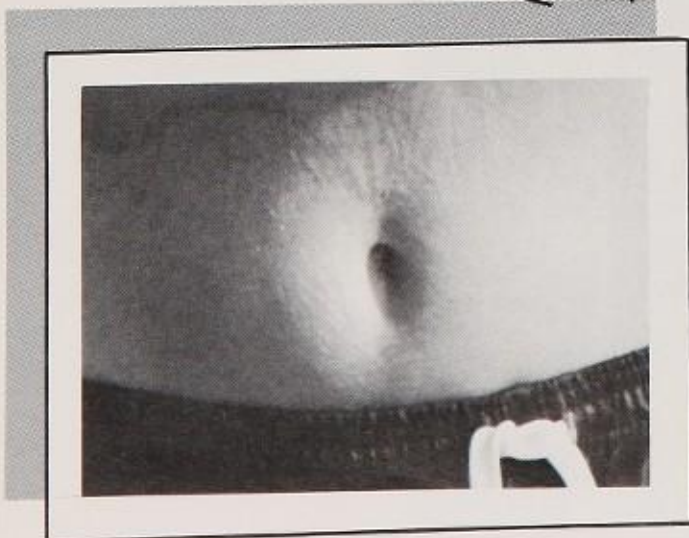

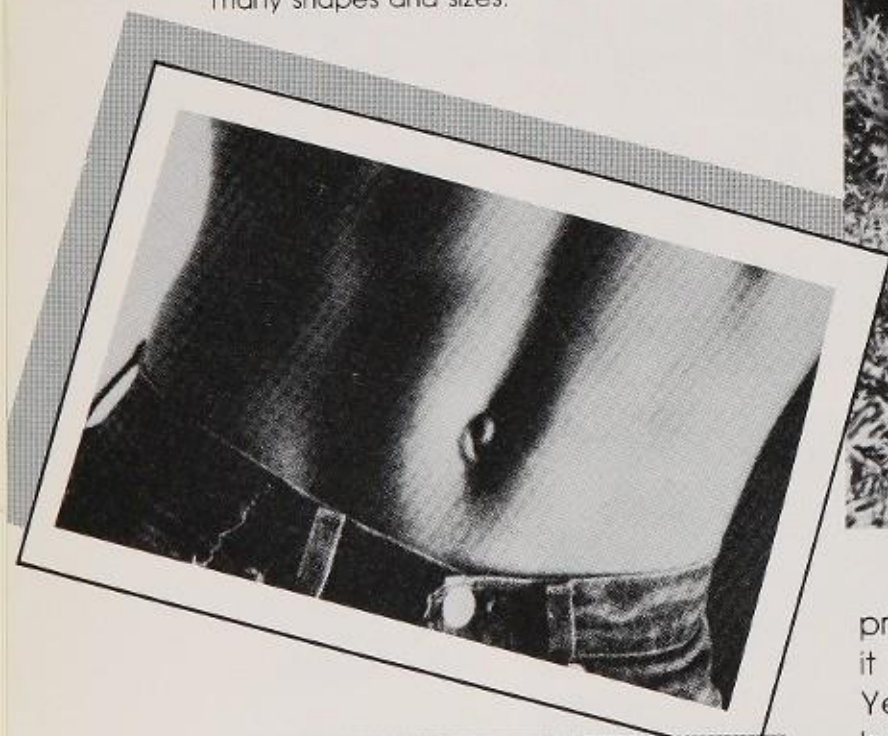

Tricia Ponce De Leon—Inny. I think outties are disgusting, unless it's a Cabbage Patch Kid.

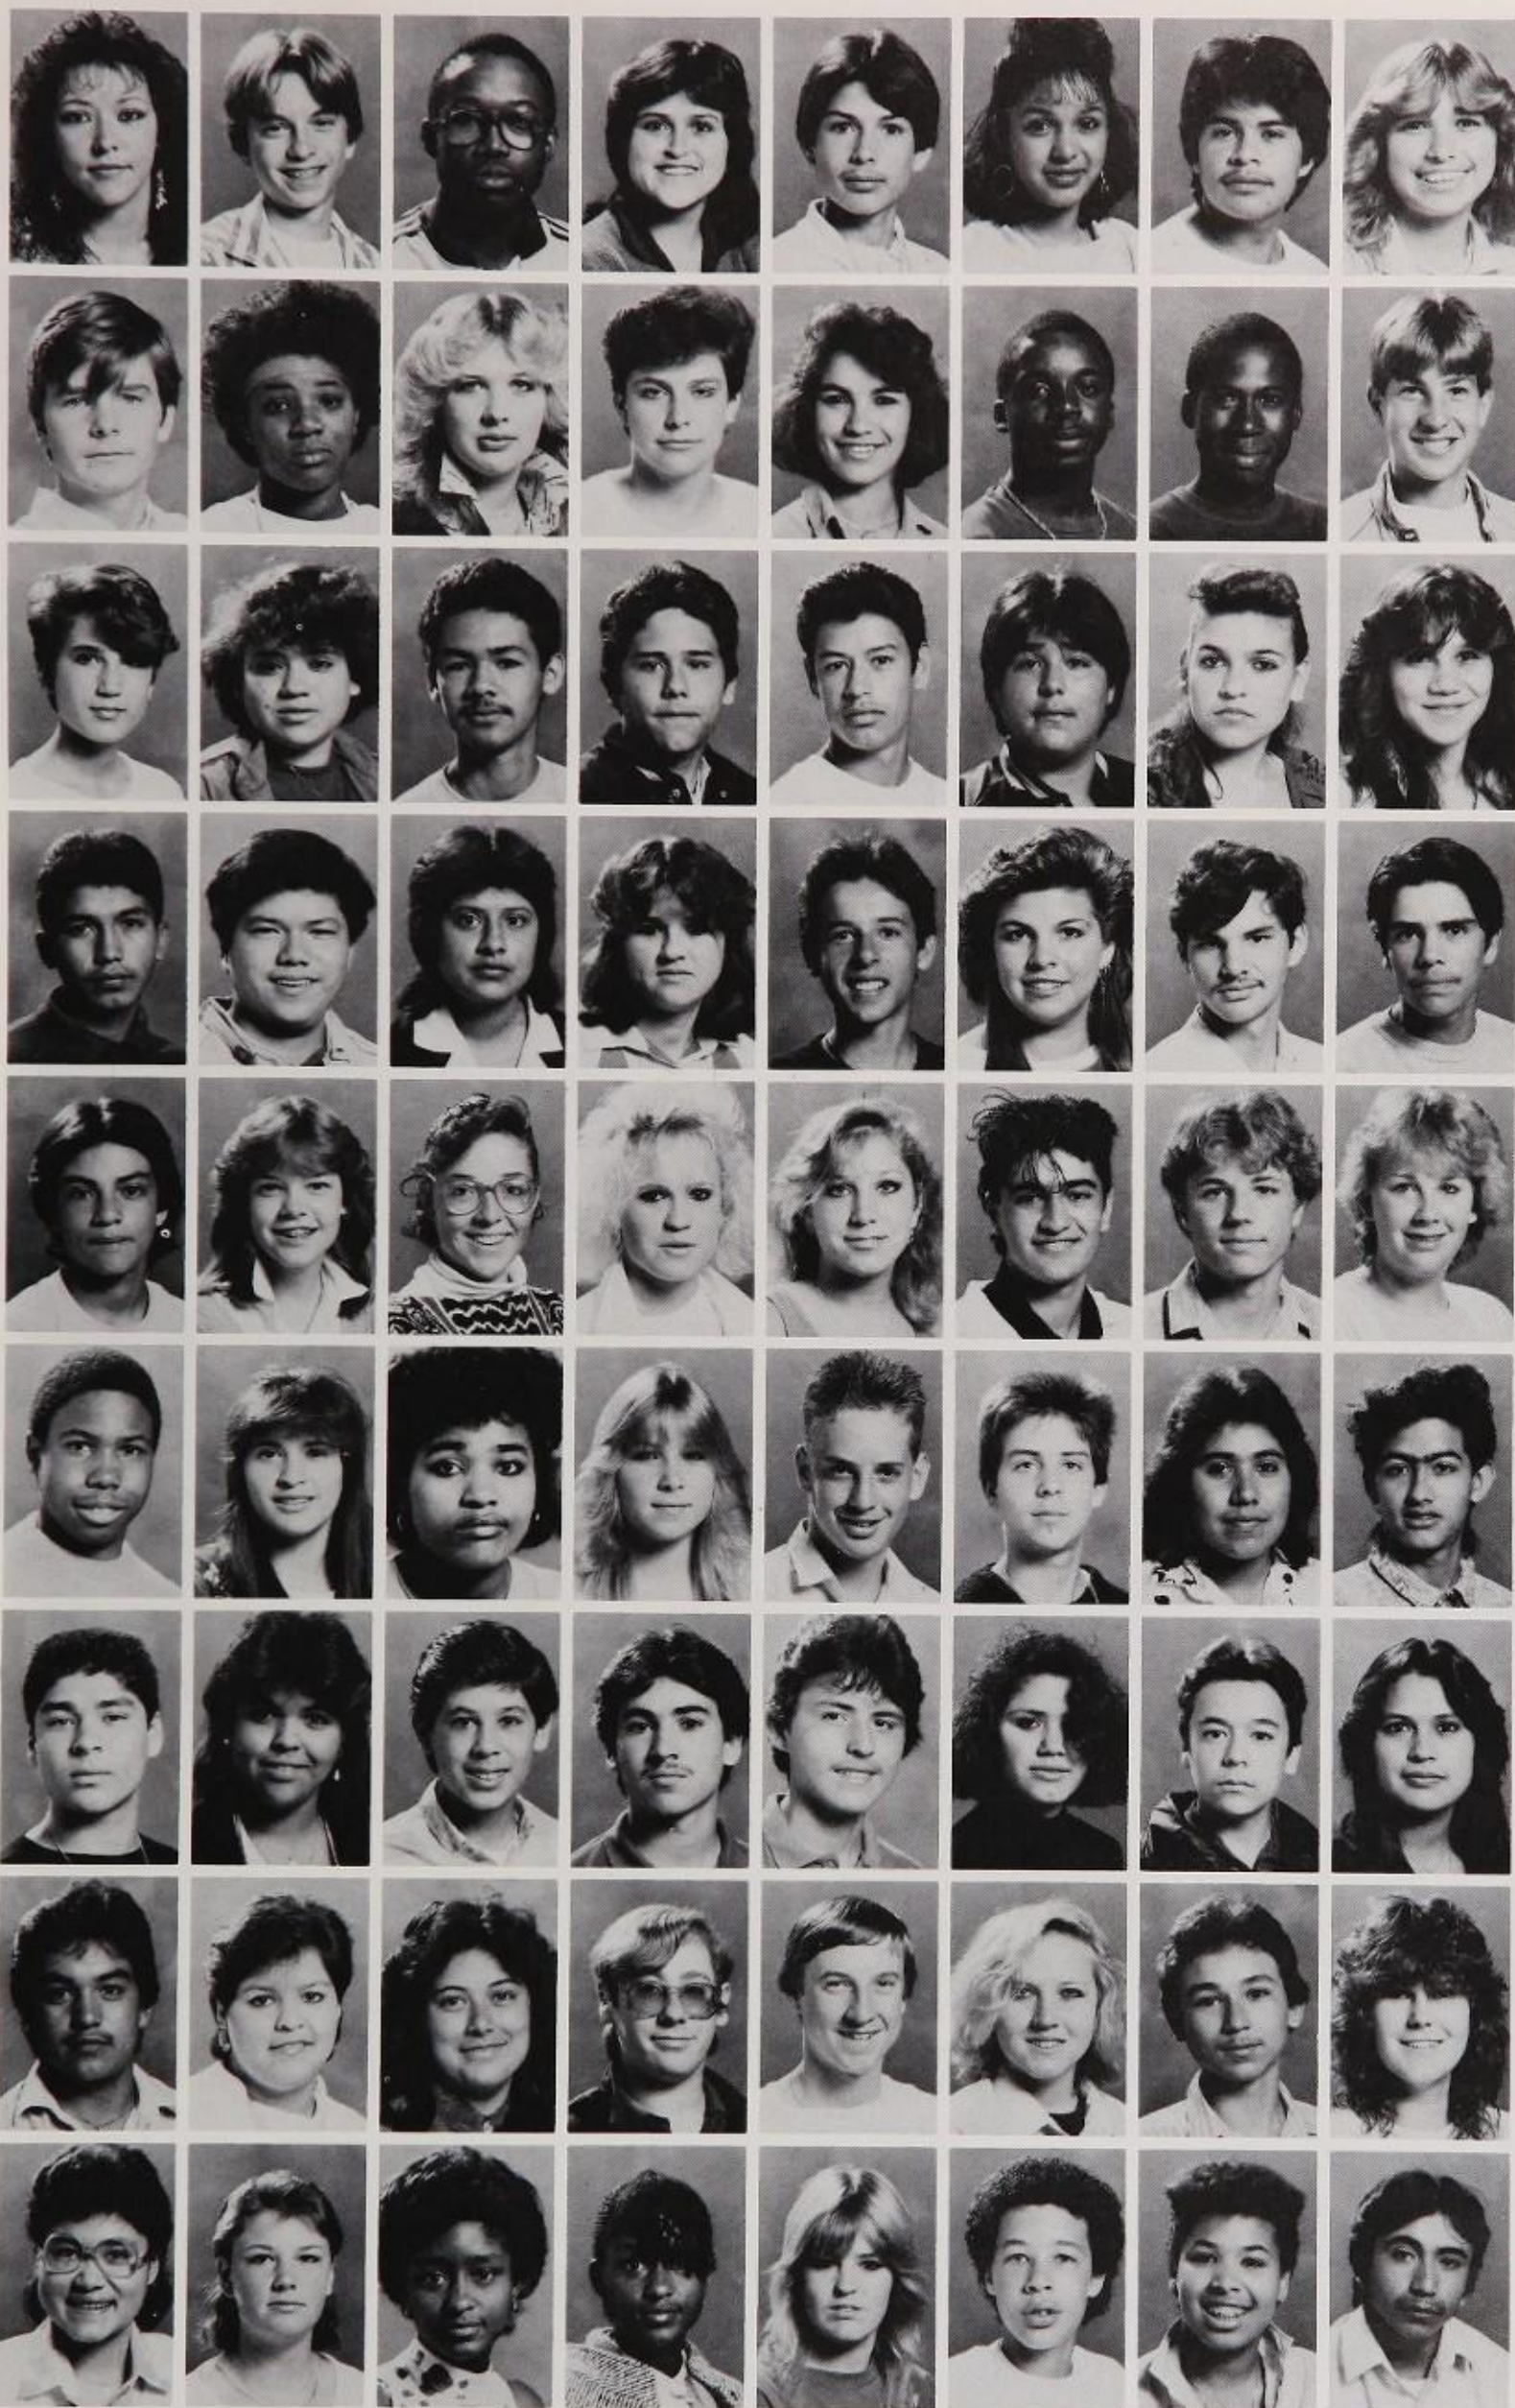

Marianne Carlton—Inny and an outty! I used to be an outty until a few years ago. I'm glad I made the change.

Sharon Sperling—Inny. If you're an outty, your doctor was pretty lame!

Jil Miyahara—Inny. Being an inny is a trend.

Anonymous—Outty!! It's not as bad as it would seem to be—at least I can keep mine clean!

SAY WHAT?—Jayne Cayton, Lisa Smith, and Cyndi Garza walk to the sophomore class meeting. Cayton was a member of Pep Squad.

CLASS CABINET—Secretary Susie Reynoso, Treasurer Michelle Caput, and Historian Anita Naranjo smile pretty. They were dedicated to their class.

Leadership. The quality of this most vital element either made or broke the classes. But, the sophomore class flourished under the expert leadership of its officers: President Shaun McKinney, Vice President Sharon Sperling, Secretary Susie Reynoso, Treasurer Michelle Chaput, and Historian Anita Najarro.

By the third month of school, the sophomore cabinet had already planned a car wash and a candy sale. These both were big hits and collectively brought in $1000 for the class. "I know everyone usually says this, but we want to make our prom the best ever!" exclaimed Secretary Susie Reynoso. Along with the other fundraisers, the sophomore class held and sponsored the Sophomore Sweetheart Dance. This dance was very popular, it seemed, as many sophomores attended. "What a blast!" exclaimed Sophomore Christina Wilson.

What's in a name you ask? Plenty. Most names create an instant image. If you like your name then you're lucky, but if you ever wished you had a name a little more desirable than Dick or Jane, read on.

The most common reason for wanting a name change is "It's too boring." In this case you need to spice it up a little. Consider all the possibilities of your real name and see if one suits you better. Sometimes a simple spelling change is all you need. You could go from plain "Tina" to exotic "Ttina".

If you have your heart set on a complete new name, take enough time to select the appropriate one for you. Although names such as Madonna and Ozzy may seem like the road to instant popularity, remember that as time goes by the name may wear out it's welcome. So, play it safe and stick to a more classic name that has managed to stand the test of time.

WHAT'S UP DOC?—Bunny Peirce shows her unusual name that appeared on her sweatshirt. Bunny played for the soccer team.

IT'S A BIT TOO SMALL!—Tricia Waayers hold up her fourth grade name shirt. Tricia was a member of Ski club.

You may wonder what sort of image your name gives off. Check out this list from The Name Game by Christopher P. Anderson to see if your name is a personality plus or minus.

Your biology teacher? Oh, he's a swell instructor, and you swear you didn't do anything wrong . . . so why is he always picking on you?

A semester can be unnervingly bumpy when a teacher and student have a serious personality conflict. It begins when your Spanish teacher smiles warmly at Steve or Lori or any of the other twenty-eight students in the class, but he glares at you. After all, you've done what's expected of you. You've come to class on time and given the ogre your complete attention. So what have you done to deserve this headache?

Sometimes such one-on-one classroom combat is completely the teacher's fault ("Was there any ever doubt" you ask). Despite what everyone's been telling you, some teachers do have problems. But, sometimes both the teacher and the student are to blame, and sometimes (you knew this was coming) it's entirely the student's fault.

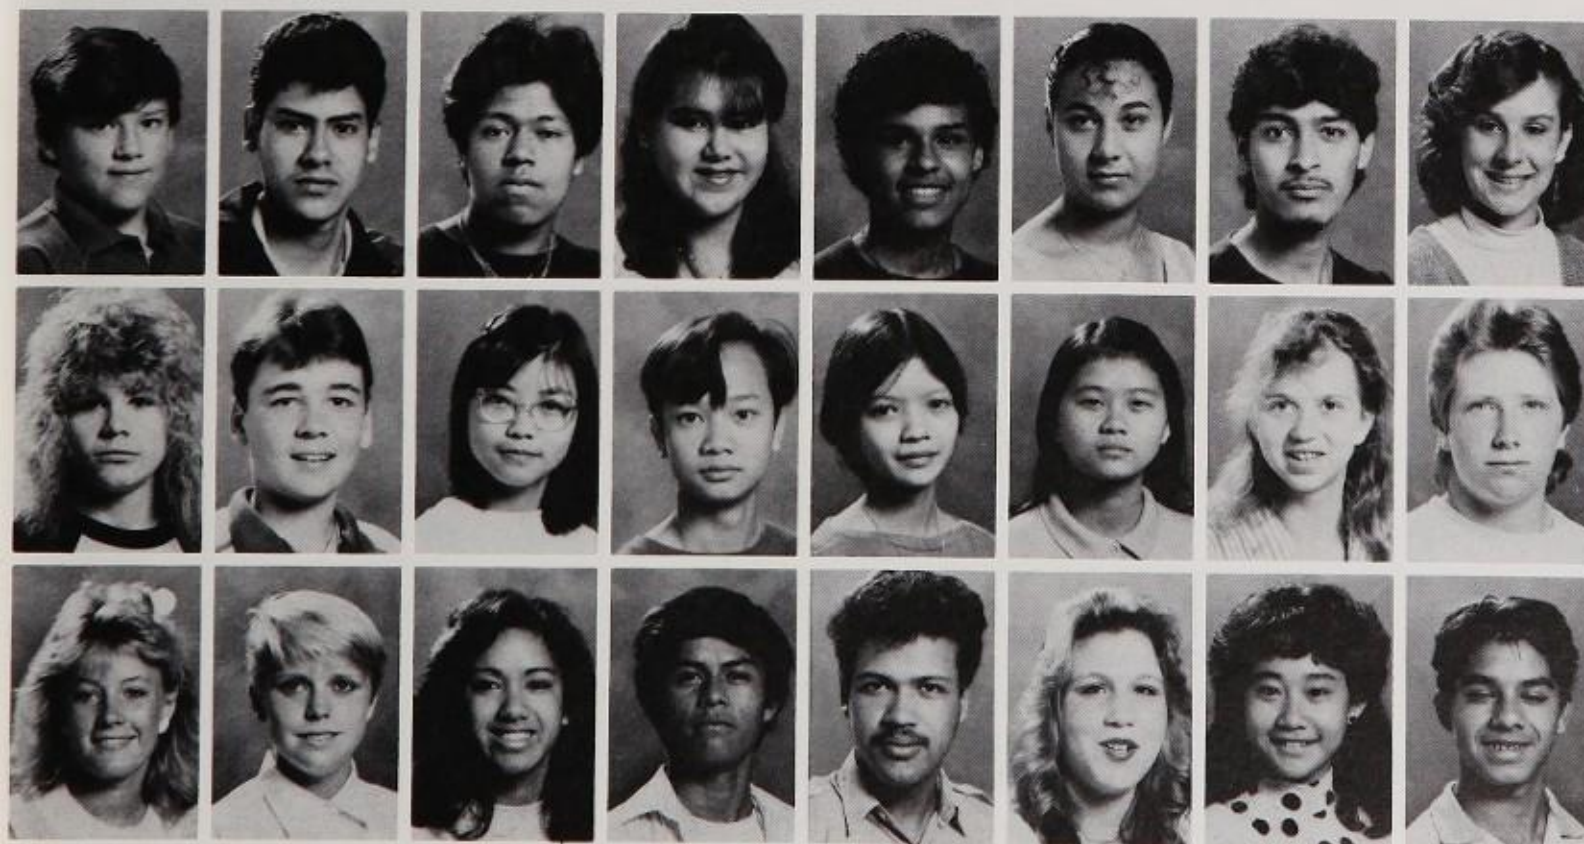

Ironically, teachers are often more demanding on students whose names appear on honor roll than those who appear in detention hall. The best thing to do is get the problem out in the open. Don't be surprised! Sometimes a good talk can clear up the whole misunderstanding.

JUST CALM DOWN!—Ms. Labbe and Sophomore Angie Monllor had a serious confrontation. Angie was a member of Key Club.

WHAT A DRAG—Sophomore Heidi Garcia thinks about the argument that she and her teacher just had. Heidi was a member of the soccer team.

THANKS!—Marianne Carlton buys a fund raiser candy bar from Mr. Baumgartner. Carlton was a member of Pepsquad.

ONE MORE LAP . . . —Kendle Stoval takes a lap during her warm-up for track. Stoval was a member of the varsity track team.

A STORK!—Tory Scott and Laura Rems watch a freshman run by. Scott was a player on the varsity basketball team.

HELP ME UP!—Jeff Wiser finds himself in an odd position while stretching out for the meet. Wiser was on the sophomore team.

It's 3:23 pm. Cold. Raining. You just got finished lugging 15 pounds of books and papers home from school. Your brain is saying "Put on some sweats and jog around the block a couple times." "Right" your body says. "You go ahead. I'll stay here."

Before you go into the kitchen for your favorite ice cream, stop and visualize the new and improved you. It'll do wonders to get your body going!

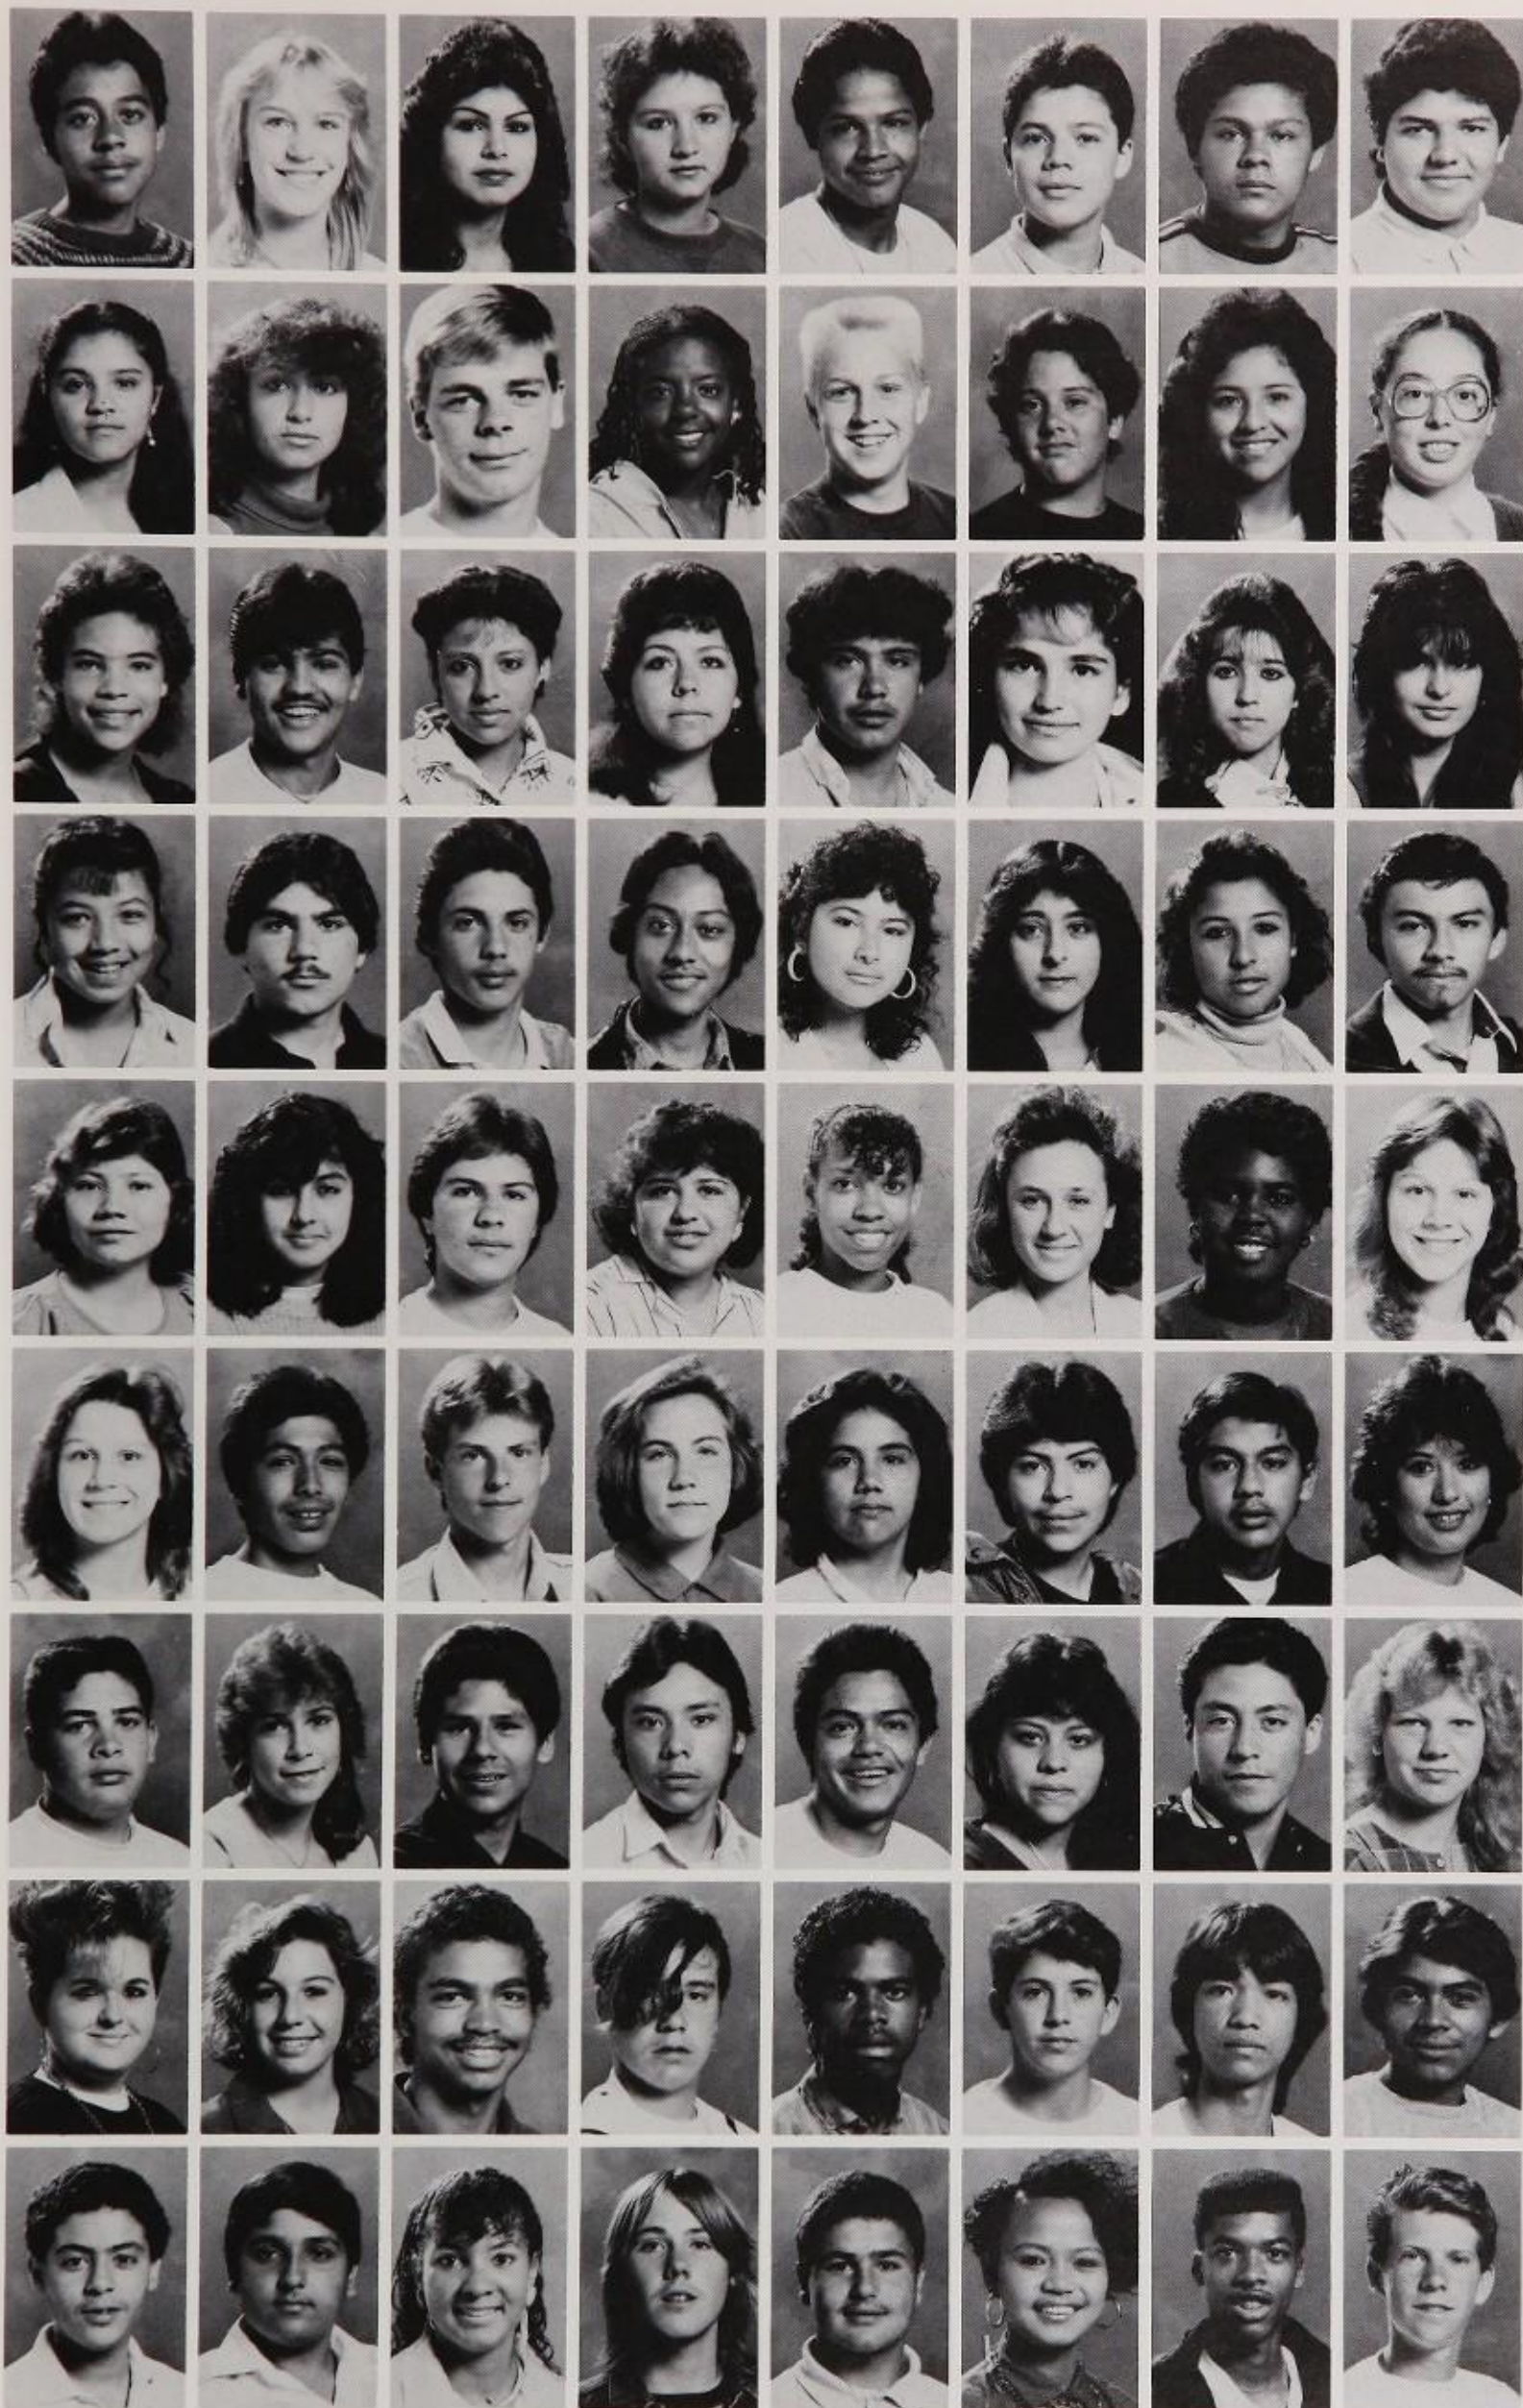

Exercising and dieting don't have to be depressing. Get a partner, you're less likely to make excuses if someone is counting on working out with you.

The important thing to know is that the saying "No pain, no gain" is a complete lie! Ease into exercise. Start off slowly, with one lap around the block, for example; then work your way up to five. Not only will it protect you from injury, but it's good mental preparation.

So before turning on the tube and planting yourself on your duff think about this: The risk of obesity is linked to how much television you watch. Obesity among American teens rises 2% for each hour of television viewed. Be sure to make keeping fit a routine. If exercise becomes as habitual as brushing your teeth, skipping a work out just won't feel right - and neither will you.

ANOTHER LOVE NEXT TO MOMMY—Sophomores Nancy Benitez and boyfriend Dino Gonzalez spend time together before lunch is over. Benitez and Gonzalez began their relationship in November.

"Most sophomore girls thought they had already experienced falling in love."

Was this opinion true? El Molino got some answers from a few sophomores of the female gender so the students could judge for themselves. They were asked: "When was the first time you fell in love and with whom?"

Bibian Armenta—On July 29, 1985 with Ronnie Longona.

Josie Tran—In 1985 with Loan Vu. Love goes both ways with us.

Jody Shawn—With J.J. the guy I chased to get my first "kiss" in the second grade.

Susan Vaiga—In 4th grade with a dorky-looking guy named Sean.

Jil Miyahara—What's love?

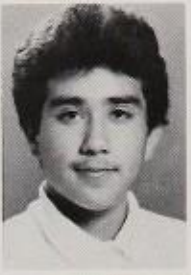

Paula Crawford—My first love he didn't know, though I was with him all the time. (He still doesn't know.)

What do Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, Byron Scott, Magic Johnson, A.C. Green and Mike Rainey have in common? They all are a part of the Los Angeles Lakers.

One of six ball boys, Mike was a two year veteran. This opportunity was offered when his seventh grade teacher called him and said her husband, a Laker trainer, needed someone to help. Rainey ended up helping them throughout the play-offs and into the next season.

Arriving at the Forum at 5:00 p.m., Rainey had time to talk to his fellow co-workers. He also talked to the players on a friendly basis. His best friend on the team was A.C. Green. Rainey felt especially close to him because they

Mike helped the visiting team in the locker room by getting stuff the players needed. During the games, Mike sat in front of the visitor's bench. After folding their warm up suits he had time to watch the game. At half time Mike would have the warm up suits ready for the visiting team.

Although the pay wasn't too great, at $10 a game, Mike concluded, "I wouldn't be working if it was for the money, I do it because it's fun to be there."

I'LL NEVER FORGET

As we go on in life, we look to the future and hope we have a good one ahead of us. But as we go along, we always look back to the past. We remember the fun times and bad ... the laughter and the tears. We know we can no longer go back to the past, we can only look back through the memories that we have created.

The freshmen have just stepped into what used to be the future. The junior high days will always be in their memories and will be treasured forever...

Chris Livasy—Kicking the tires on Ms. Greenhauge's car, so the alarm would go off.

Lynne Healy—When Lissa, Michelle and I were chasing Phillip H., he jumped over the fence and broke his leg.

Tina Ngo—Being on yearbook staff and finding out we were not going to have a yearbook.

Yita Heydinger—Planning the major food fights at the lunch tables.

As we walk to the future, we look back to the past that helped us mold our present. Not only junior high will be remembered, but all the highlights of our past.

THOSE WERE THE DAYS—Monique Rosenquist looks back into the past in Academic Science. She hated wearing goggles.

APRIL GONZALEZ—I'll never forget being in Student Council. It was a remorse experience.

FRESH FIND FRIENDS

September 8. The first day of high school. Astounded eyes followed the few freshmen that breezed into the social scene to take their places as "the popular kids".

Popularity. The dictionary defines it as the quality of being well-liked and admired. Freshman Allison Booth defined it as "having a lot of friends."

Popularity was a much sought-after quality on campus, but as Jenny Wilmot stated, it was not easy to achieve. "The kids who are popular at school are sincerely nice to everyone," she explained.

Many girls stated that boys were popular because of their looks and athletic abilities. The boys maintained that looks and personality contributed to a girls' popularity.

Being popular was not all dates and parties, however. Drill team member Lynne Healy said, "Sometimes the popular kids get labeled as being conceited."

ON THE ROAD AGAIN—Wearily, Bobby Brady and friend trudge to their fifth period classes.

FRIDAY NIGHT FOLLIES

"Fridays are the greatest! You can really let yourself go", exclaimed freshman Allison Booth.

Friday nights played a big part in the teen scene on campus. There were a variety of things available to the students to keep them busy. School sporting events with dances afterwards were the most popular ways for kids to get together and socialize. Another weekend favorite was to get the gang together and throw a party. At parties freshmen were given the opportunity to mingle with the upper classmen and therefore able to start their climb towards popularity. "Freshmen love to party, they're just not always given a chance", said Gloria Fajardo. At times teens found more enjoyment in spending time with only their closest pals. They would go see a show or maybe go shopping at the mall.

For the lower classmen, doing these things weren't as easy as it was for the upper classmen. Transportation to weekend activities was a big problem for those who were under the age of 16. They had to cope with the humiliation of being chauffeured from one event to another by family and friends. Most were able to bare that unfortunate situation and went out and had a good time anyway.

CAN'T WAIT—Distracted from their studies, freshmen are caught fantasizing about their Friday night dates.

Hi ho silver! and chambray, and leather, and denim, and western!

Country dress was no longer Levi's and those cowboy shirts in brightly colored plaids with shiny buttons and the clod hopper boots.

The billowing, chambray skirt with the eyelet trimmed blouse created a stunning look. The bleached-out jeans and jewelled or tassled tees made another gorgeous combination. Anything denim was fashionable - the skirt, the dress, or the jeans.

Accessories are what made the whole cowboy look come together. The white or maybe black leather boots with tassles and/or silver studs perfected the look. The other must was a silver belt most fashionably made of metal.

The guy needed a pair of Levi's and a place to wear them. The stonewashed or even white jeans looked country with the long-sleeved collared shirts designed by Guess and various other makers to look western.

The finishing touches for the cowboy was the bolo tie with a medallion on it, along with the black leather jacket.

Whether the cowfolk were going to hit the streets or hit the books, the new-fangled western style would more than cut it - it would astound 'em!

FRESH SIX PAGE

It was a hard but possible task that could only be accomplished with the enthusiasm of the freshmen in Student Council.

Never before did the Council have more than two or three freshmen members due to lack of interest. But a change has now taken place. A total of six active freshmen were accepted and made full effort to make an impact on the school. "I think most freshmen don't realize what Council does for the school," commented Gloria Fajardo, "so I joined to show that freshmen do care and I want to make a difference."

One main reason that there are six freshmen in Council this year was explained by Activities Director Dan Karella. "Since we never see the prestigious freshmen because they never come to us, I came to the ones that were in Student Council in junior high." With this in mind members of Felton Junior High Student Council were focussed on and recruited. The two other students were expected from Hawthorne Intermediate and Dana Junior High.

SOON THEY'LL KNOW

Some people said that freshmen were weird, Sometimes they wanted my face to be smeared.
They often tried dumping me in the trash,
But my face and their fist
Have yet to clash.

But they didn't know
the real me inside.
They just saw my stereotypical hide.
If I was put in a class with all of the rest,
How would they know
That I am the best?

That was their problem, though.
they missed a good show.
But now I'm a sophomore and soon they'll all know.

WHAT HAVE WE HERE?—Freshman Lupe Cabral builds her first jungle banana split. Cabral was on student council.

On the Inside

The principal's office. A place where insensitive secretaries typed out suspension forms and sent out nasty letters to parents. A place where students wouldn't dare to enter for fear of never returning. Was this the true image of the principal's office that many students had? Possibly. But how could they have known if they had never been inside.

The principal's office was more than the office of the principal and the administrative center of the school. It was more like the nerve center of a small community. It contained elements of a post office, police station, a video rental store, and served as the depository for all the papers and forms to keep the school functioning smoothly. Every faculty member passed through sometime in the day, and it served as the main channel to the outside world. These combined to make it a very busy place. Sorting out the confusion of phone calls, questions, and paper work was secretary Elda Pilj. Although the office appeared to get pretty hectic, Elda was always eager to help anyone with the office's many services.

Facing the Facts

Needless to say, most new freshmen were uncertain and a little confused in their new surroundings. Part of this confusion probably stemmed from the fact that their teachers, their proverbial "Rock of Gibraltar" to rely on, were now strangers. They were unknown factors. Well, here's an answer! We examined many teachers' facial structures and expressions and we founded a new science. We could tell how a person would act by looking at their face! Here we published the results.

Things to look out for: Teachers with a sharp nose and a round jaw were more than likely GOODE. Teachers with beards and mustaches and a receding hair-line FIXed their smiles on every morning. Those teachers with glasses, curly hair, and open mouths mostly put on a ROOS.

But, people had to beware! If you ever met up with a teacher with hair all over, a big, squat nose and fangs then you would know. Most people seeing this teacher ran!

Red ribbon means stop

TERRORISM...DRUGS...KIDNAPPING. Words all too familiar to the Class of '87. It began in the summer as the increase in terrorist acts forced many to cancel their trips abroad. The annual trip to Europe planned by Mrs. Strahan was among the cancellations.

Also related to terrorism, the Reagan administration created a wave of controversy with the Iranian arms scandal.

In sports, the 21st Superbowl drummed up record interest as an estimated 210 million pairs of eyes were glued to their TV sets. However, drug use continued to dominate the sports scene. The drug-related deaths of Len Byas and Don Rogers, within nine days of each other, led to mandatory drug testing and resulted in many suspensions or expulsions. Although some other schools had begun volunteer drug testing among students, Mr. Weber's similar suggestion was met with great opposition. However, early in the year students demonstrated their drug-free attitudes during Red Ribbon Week sponsored by the PTSA.

Two high schools in Los Angeles Unified established controversial health clinics on campus. Besides providing basic health services, the clinics also supplied birth control devices and information. While there was some talk of creating such a clinic here, it would first have to meet with parent approval. For a sample of some reactions to this issue, please see the opposite page.

Health clinics

How do you feel about health clinics on high school campuses?

MELISSA IRLBECK—I think we should have a health clinic because it's a place to turn to if you have questions, need advice, or have a problem and you can't turn to your parents.

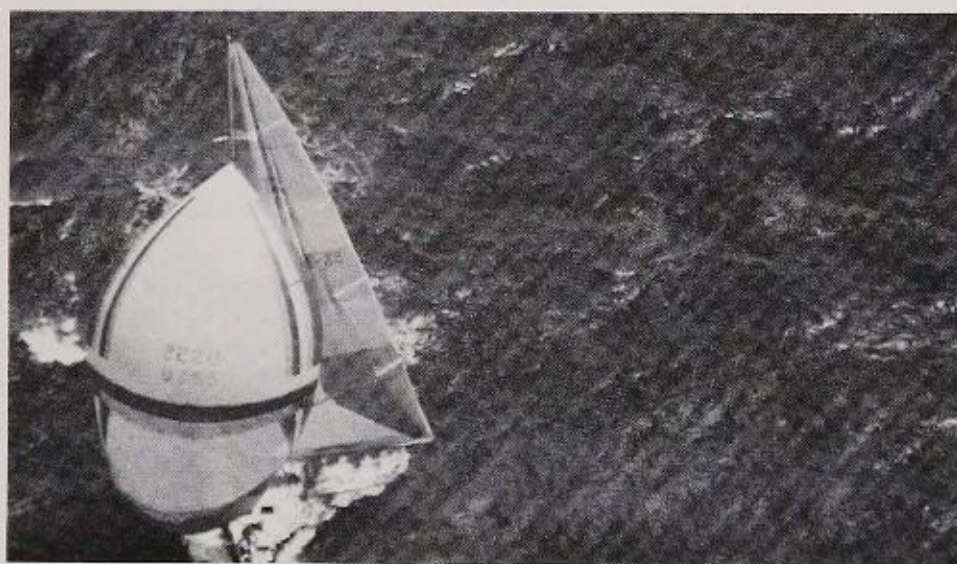

JASON DIFELICE—I think that a health clinic would be a good idea for people who would like information and/or advice, but I don't think that it should become a "free birth control" clinic.

ELGIN LOFTON—I know for sure that we should have a health clinic, because so many people can't go to their parents without being in fright of what they might do to them.

BRENDA STEELE—I don't think that there is anything wrong with health clinics as long as they're not used by the teens as a way to sleep around safely. There is no safe way except to say no! The information and counseling is good though.

MICKI POOLE—I feel that it would be detrimental to the morals of society. (In other words, for all you uninformed, NO!).

RIGOBERTO ROSALES—It would be of great use to all the students if they had somewhere to turn to for any kind of help! Also students may come to understand the facts and realities of life.

▲ PAST THE MARK—Stars and Stripes streaks past the Kookaburra III at the first mark and leads by 26 seconds. The America's Cup was sought after since 1983.

◀ ARE YOU SCARED?—For a fresh view on Halloween costumes, Ihab Hanna, dons a terrorist outfit. Terrorists made for strained relations between the US and the Middle East.

In Memory of One of Our Own

On the night of October 31, there was an occurrence that brought our community closer together with the grief of losing one of our own. Senior Jeff Chai passed away leaving behind family, friends, and ardent admirers.

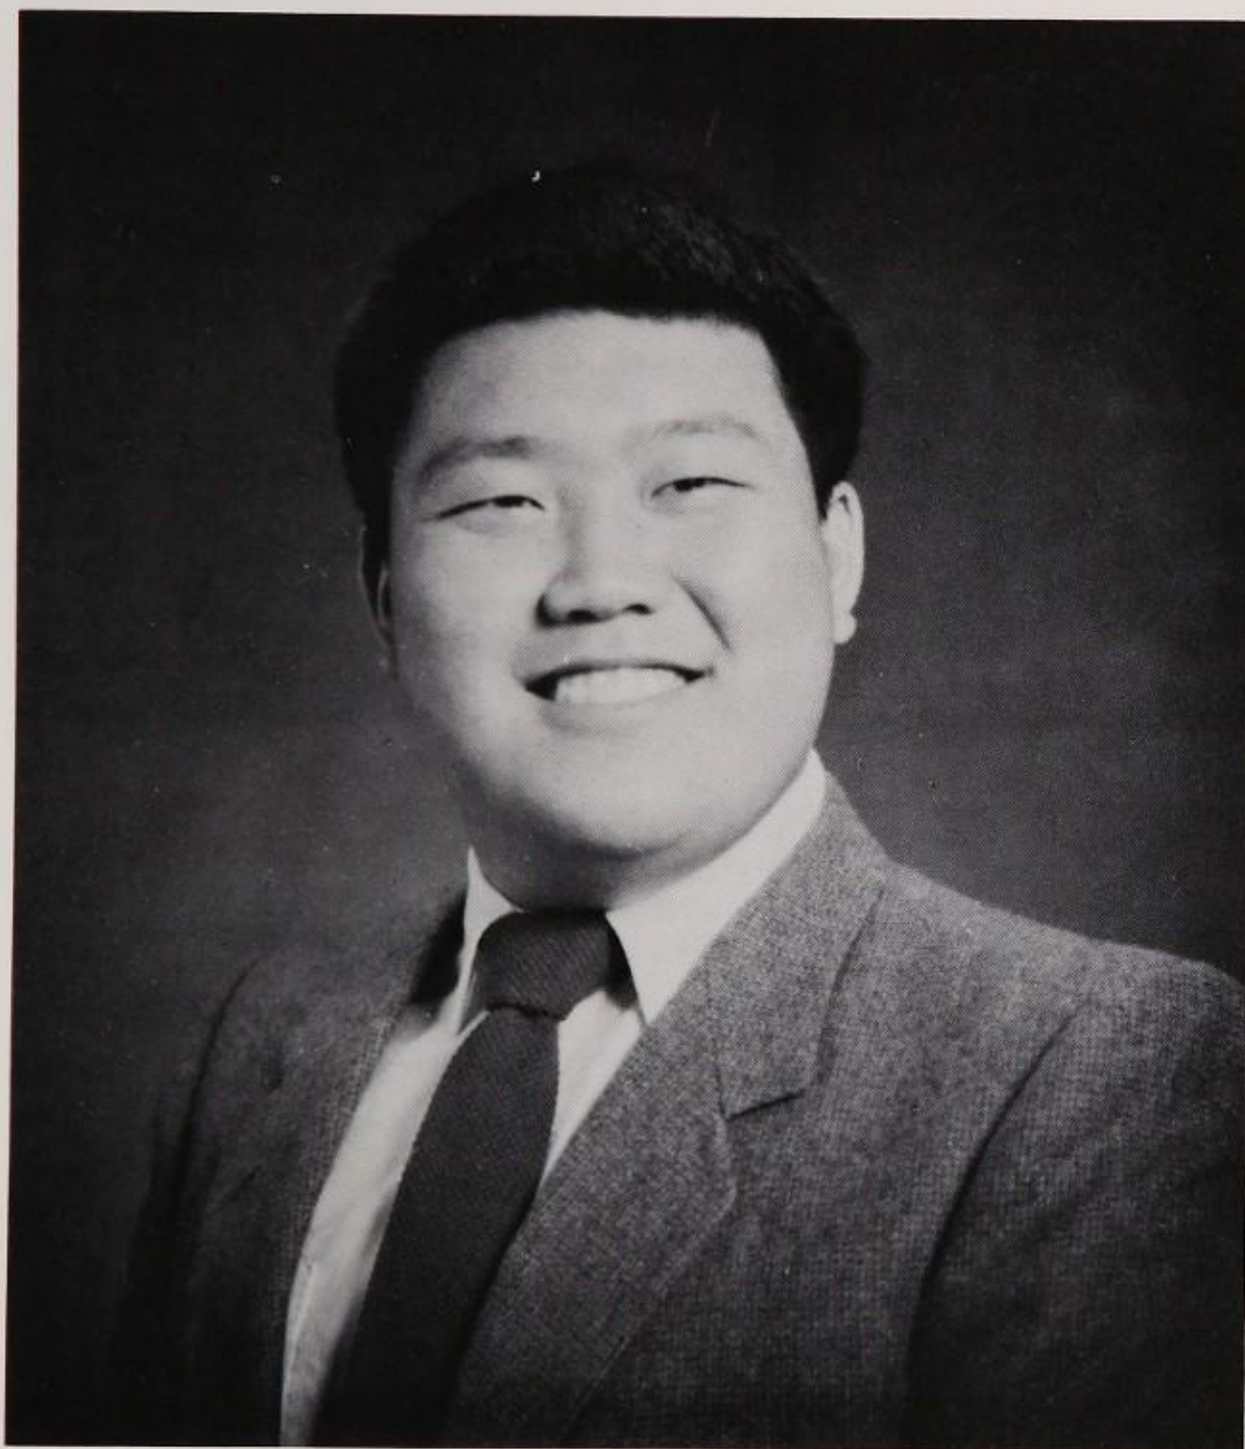

The grief of Jeff's death was felt by a great number of people, as he was well known by the student body. He cannot be accurately described merely with words. To really understand what kind of person he was, you would have to had met him. He is in our minds and hearts and is special to each one of us.

Jeff was a very well-rounded student playing Varsity football, actively participating in the Knights and CSF, and maintaining high grades in honors classes. Having many friendships, he was known and respected among faculty members and friends.

The student body dedicates this space in our yearbook to Jeff Chai to preserve his memory. The Knights service club went a step further by establishing a memorial scholarship in his honor. This isn't necessary for his friends, though, because his memory will be stored in their hearts forever.

Passport To COMMUNITY

We now conclude our tour at the gateway to the Community, a thriving resort area where most all of the tourists reside during their four-year stay in Cougar Country.

Although this surrounding region is not within its boundaries, Cougar Country could not exist without its support. Job opportunities are always available for the tourists after park hours — and especially during the off-season of summer — in new places such as the Pioneer Chicken and other establishments across the street, or in the many other local malls and businesses. Several of these same businessowners also advertised in the following guidebook of places to eat and things to do.

As you do your sightseeing you might encounter a continuing improvement in the transportation system; the Century Freeway is again under construction. One local legend states the reason it is named so is because it took a Century to build. Also, twenty modern houses were erected over the summer.

Feel free to purchase any souvenirs while you visit — YOU ARE HERE.

$2.85 PLEASE — Senior Horendo Mendoza pays for his pizza. Pizza Hut was a very populated lunch spot.

PIONEER, WHAT'S THE DEAL? — Juniors Sameer Abutahir, Rena Garcia, Benilda Riel, and Richard San Mateo stand in the long line at Pioneer Chicken. Pioneer Chicken opened at the beginning of the school year.

Memories

Michelle,

Can I not get out of saying good-bye somehow? ... I thought not. You were there when it was more important — when I needed a real friend. Walrus and Romania will be two of our finest whims. Mr. Moore — Well, what else can I say that could be printed, right?! McDonald's in the Galleria, too. Just those certain kinds of friends you can't find at the corner drug.

Kim

Kim,

I must say that we've had fun. Math was too wild. I wonder if someday we might see Pedro and "his woman" drive by in the Pedro-mobile. Let's not count on it. What about Marion? Hmm ... I will someday move back to Romania. Why not keep the tradition going right? I guess all I can say about Mr. Moore is!! Anyway, Good Luck to all of you!!!!

You're that special kind of friend that everyone wishes they could have.
I always know when we're apart that we're still so close, and when we're together our time will be spent enjoying it to the fullest.

It's not everyone that can have a special friend like you.
I'm proud to say that I do.

Love, Linh Le

Friends are . . .
the kisses at hellos and goodbyes, the feeling of never having been apart because it's so great to be together, the knowing that you will find each other no matter what happens in this world, because no barrier is strong enough to dare separate you.

Friends are forever.

Just as long as you stand, stand by me

So darlin', stand by me
If the sky that we look upon should tumble and fall

Or the mountain should crumble

I won't cry, I won't cry

No I won't shed a tear
Just as long as you stand —stand

The last 4 yrs. at H.H.S. have certainly been memorable! Here's to everyone who managed to put up with me. Keith-You helped me when I really needed it. You are a very special person! Z-Yo! Camaro's forever! Yeah-I guess (maybe someday I'll break-down and get one) watch out for hearty parties ok! Brynn-U.C.L.A. watch out! we be comin'. We came far, but we still have a ways to go! What does S.S. stand for again - Steve who? Ari- The lost twin - you are definitely not forgotten! Whenever I needed someone, you were there. You were the lone bright spot of my 17th birthday. We three forever be - Gisella, Brynn, & Ari Koala- What ever happened? DT for one, PS for the other, it never seemed to work. You made it through a time I don't know if I could've. You 4-ever have my full admiration. (Don't ever 4-get — — — less - nose, or - brain) Aussie- Just tel me when - 'cause I'm goin' too! Our moi days are coming to a close - maybe I can still visit your slum? - anyhow - Eddie who? Lawrence- "Come back to L.A." & "this is your second one" You are a L Brother you know it or not & next time - don't go to extremes o.k.! Contact me whenever you need something. Maybe some day you'll know what it all means. You sure are a unique person! Someday you have to teach me how to get off the lift! Joe- Safeway anyone? or maybe Pioneer? We still had fun- sorry about Nicetli! Set the date for all day D/D & Pizza- I'll be there! Kimmi- C. Sisters, L Brothers, L.A. & Jamaica- Let's just move to Tahiti! Watch out for mad rapists! Did you ever get your Smith's tape? Who's my brother-in-law now? Richard- Ready to teach adv. moaning yet? ooh-ooh. Where's the marshmallow creme? S'mores anyone? Tackle football maybe? How about some new socks-free? Linh- Such talk over Hamlet & warm cookies-how could u? We actually made it thru 4 yrs. of French! Chic alor! You made it thru 5 months. Smart girl. Swoop Bros.- Computers was great! Volleyball o.k.-I must say we certainly did swoop! & I, as the 1 & only Swoop Sister should know! Home-boys- You should know how to cheer a person up- right ba-by! You are all great people & in my mind, you will always be too fresh! MA, M.Moore, Ms. Harris, Mrs. Takumi, Mr.B., etc.- Your teachings have unmeasurable value. Thank you all for helping me to grow & learn. To all my friends I didn't mention I didn't forget u, I just ran out of room. Finally I would like to say that everyone at H.H.S. (esp. Honors) has affected my life. I will always remember all of you with smiles on your faces & dreams of the future in your hearts. I hope to keep in touch with most of you throughout the years. Good Luck in Life!

Dearest Treameille,
As the year ends, I dread we'll be apart,
But deep down I know, you'll always be in my heart.
You'll be in college, in or out of state,
But no matter what, we must not lose faith.
In a few years we will soon be reunited,
But we both know we must wait and not try to fight it,
If for some reason we don't love each other anymore,
I know we'll always be good friends as we first were before.

Love always,
Jane

Marquette & Brian — Our flat dust monkeys. Your senior year has been memorable, maybe just a little bit too much fun ... Stay away from jacuzzis and cruisin' the 'Shaw ... just beamin' and rippin'.
Gera, Sheri, Wendi, Kristie, Nancy, Tanya — You guys were great to look up to as 84-85 Sophies and now even more as graduates. Cedris, Willie, & rest of the B-Ball Pac — Where can we begin? Just 'cause you're graduating don't think our trippin' days are over. When you're riding the bench for the Lakers, keep your eyes open at half-time, cuz U will see us once again, but as Laker girls. You've been the true homies and come visit when we're rockin' in '88 ... Dre' C-much backyard ... Dre' J-Toyota Man ... Mike scoring women as well as on the court ... Omar — don't play that innocent rule. Don't think U guys can groove ... maybe U should try some lashes?
Andrea, Angie, Toykia, Shannon, LaShon, Tracy, Kim, Deanna, Tarrica — Good luck in college and when U guys R big-time, don't forget us at the Cougar House.

Sarina & Raquel — Voodoo ... the second best "Best Friends!" They don't have a witchcraft major in college. Many memories ... so little room. We luv U lots ... we're still number one "Best Friends."
John & Elgin — Hope you're not like this in college ... Thanks for everything John, keep your mouth shut, Elgin.
Tracy, Sara, & Sandra — "Once a white girl, always a whitegirl." K.I.T. We luv U dudes. Richard — Thanx for being such a good friend, but we still have to watch our backside.
Tony C. — It's time to ball w/ B.C. Meesh luv's Eric ... Jessie Andes — a real sweet-heart, but such a flirt!!!!
Yumary & Sherry — We've been so close ... and even though we're not always together, let's remember good times. We luv U, don't ever 4 get us — "The Original Gutter Gang."
Marian — Keep your boogying "zapatas" on.
Jenny Diete — When you need someone, just run down the gateway ... I'll be there.
Mike & Micki — M & M's make friends. Micki ... stay away from my connections!
Yke — Don't be as fast w/ the ladies as U are on the track or field. We'll miss you.
Ms. Moon & Mr. Wyler — Maybe we'll receive an invitation this summer. We'll be sure to bring plenty of rice! Thanx 4 everything ... 1 more year.
Mr. Robbins — Daddy "K", you're more than a teacher, you're a special friend. We only have one more year, but you'll remain in our hearts 4-ever.
Mr. Crowe — From dean to vice-principal ... slow down!
To all the graduating seniors! ... the best of luck in the future and you've all made a very special impression in our hearts ... K.I.T. always & take care!!! Remember the Chinodolls always!

Lots of luv,

Katrina,

Well we have been waiting for this year for so long and now it's here. During the long wait we have lots of memories to keep our friendship strong. But all in all you have been the best friend I could ever have.
Hope your future is filled with happiness.

Love Ya,
Karolyn

"Hey remember me?"
Well it shouldn't be too much of a surprise. Aren't you glad you went away?
Anyways- just thought I'd
without words.

Congrats-
U finally made it!
Me

*Reputation is for today;

That was then

1984-85 Sophies here we go. Whatever road we take, we will always know. Our sophomore year together will be one we'll always remember. We had that certain bond which brought us close and made us strong. we took upon ourselves the test and together we proved that we were the best! Deep in our hearts we'll always be together. 1984-85 Sophie Yells Forever!

John, Moonshine, Bam-Bam, Tree-kick back but don't get an attitude, o.k. o.k., it's not cold it's all in your mind, warm blooded, don't crash again, so what's up for this weekend? Let's kick it at a bonfire, park, party, Burger King, don't fall off any cars! Well Mr. Stalger it's been fun, eh, I'll miss U. Take care.

Ed Togia- Tree #2, how does it feel to be a peacemaker? I'm gonna cut off your ponytail! You're the nicest person I know. Take Care too.

Ed-Dog- Stop climbing trees, you nut! Oh yeah, I really did do all those rumors, disgusting!

Tomslick- Chow babydoll, take care sexy!

Marquette- Why does everybody hate U? I luv U, you're my #1 bud. Brownie put it back in the trunk. Don't drive so fast. You'll run into trucks and scratch your baby Beamer. It's my loss, true. Which girl is it this week? You'll always be my sweetheart. Take care of Charlie. We've had some good times. Good luck & oh yeah, you're special!

Elgin- You've always been my true friend & my baby. Stop bagging 4 one min. It's a good thing you were around this year, if not life might have been normal. I'll never 4 get U. Be careful and watch yourself.

Mary- Ms. Moody, I luv U & always will. I'll try not to ruin anymore of your cars. You're a Homecoming Queen to the heart. Stay beautiful. Go shopping when U get upset.

Sherry- You're a sweetheart, Stay happy, you deserve the best.

Sarina & Raquel- The bunkers were great, so R the 2 or U.

Sandra & Tanya- Don't look behind U when ordering at Burger King, T. don't go behind the building at bonfires. Stay sweet or try to.

Marlon- U.T.I. Who are you after this week?

Shorty- Walk you again! My little freak! Grow!

Jesse Andes- I haven't 4gotten U. I hope you get all U want. Stop partying sometime before U turn 40.

Love lots, Michelle Scruggs "88"

We cheered together out on the field and on the court Side by side through all of the sports We had fun, yes we did True to the last moment we will always be friends. My spazee spreckle, Carla, we've been through a lot this year. It's been great 2! Lopsided, embarrassment, Pizzaman, Rich, Mike, the Doll, Tony, Victor, and all the rest. Bonfires, Burger King, the park, parties, the Kay Bee crazies, bowling, cheering, dances, our adventure to Viscount, New Years Eve and everything else we've shared this year, I will remember always. Good luck in the future. Take good care of yourself, I'll miss you more than you'll know next year. Work hard to achieve all your goals, you deserve the best. But, never stop being crazy!

Frenz 4ever, Michelle

Chris- My doll. Thanx 4 being there 4 me. Don't drink all the Gatorade and eat all the candy! I want my shirt back! (j/k) I'll be waiting 4 U by Nym. Hall after F.B. practice! Don't forget the times we shared together, only the best. F.B. player + cheerleader, the perfect ones! U R special #65, I'll always luv U!

Pat, Jan, Mich, Dana- The Fab 5 we're finished. Don't ever lose touch.

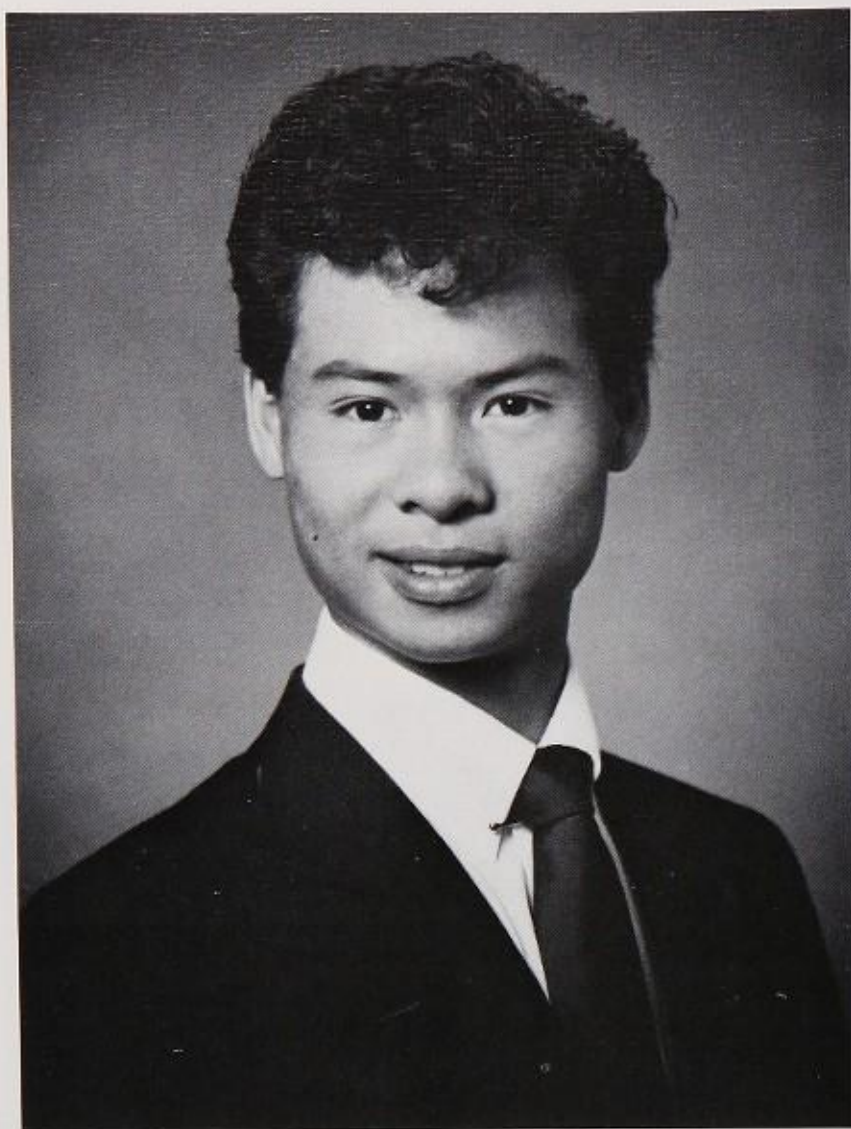

Alma- Keep James 4 ever.

Shorty & Marlon- UTI's forever, stay sweet.

Bam-Bam- Even your car out, what r we doing 2night? Thanx 4 everything, moonshine!

Scruggly- My shadow, together 4ever. F.B. games, Burger King, dances, bonfires, parties, bowling, del-air, & all our men. Don't forget it! Let's sit in the middle of the path! I luv U all & I'll miss you!

Yo! Good Luck in U.C.L.A. Try to keep in touch. See you two in four years and let's DO LUNCH!!

A'ight Den
Big Bro, Zot!!

Melissa- You're my 'bestest' friend in the wide world. That says it all. Patty- You're like a sister to me. Thanx for all those lunches. Tweety- You are a great friend. Priscilla- I'll miss ya sista. Lotsa luck at U.C.L.A. Cuong- Cynth loves ya lots. Yo! Thanx for the P.H. family. Ho Jin- Go TRTL!! I'm smiling now, but I'll still miss you. Larry- Hey waiter, thanx for the order of friendship. Zoltan- I won't forget our friendly little brawls, I mean discussions. Kim- mmmmmmmmmmm. Richard- No, Riiiiichard. They'll find out about you someday. Jim- I wish you weren't leaving. Send me a post-card. Dung- I'm almost done, and NO LUNCH. Lana, Stephanie, & Christine- Thanks for making a great sports section. Mike- Get your bubba out of the aisle. Babystork- Spread your wings, around K maybe? Do storks have wings? I'll miss all of you that are leaving, but I'll see everyone else next, and my last year.

Cynthia

What is the meaning of life? If anyone figures that out, will you please contact me... I've been trying to figure it out for 17 years! O.k... now for the emotional stuff. To Zung- Thanx for the ad & your hair is, well, you know. Cydra- My best friend, b.b.q. sauce forever. Patty- Take back your mink and Tweety, one more year!! Kim- Affairs rule... I luv U! Richard- In spite of the treatment, you're the greatest (Hey, Albert). Tricia- Stork. Christine- El Mo 89! David- Want to go swimming? Jim, Darren, Steve, Joe, Mo, Ho- Didya think I'd forget you? Marcos- — — — it! Drama People- Thanx for giving me a new home and family! You're all wonderful! Mr. Sloan- I'll autograph my novel if you'll sign yours! Elmo M.- Watch out for the wallpaper, my friend. Mommy- Whatever! Jen- My best sis... wanna cookie? Mark & Kay & Dad- Thanx for putting up with me. Read the Loon News, everyone. And to Mike... te quierol! As for everyone else, I'm sorry if you're not here, but I love you anyway... especially Fang & Richard Bach and the Smiths. Watch out for the great American novel... it's coming soon! Finally, peace in '88, and Chocodiles for all. Remember, the only life worth living is a life with love, and nothing means everything, so enjoy it while you can!

Love, Melissa Wilmot

Rosie- Well I can't say this year wasn't a memorable one! Maybe someday you can meet Joe Davis in person!

Gina- I'm glad you put up with the cucumber jokes! You're a real friend!

Stacey- This was one hectic year! Who said our Senior year would be dull!!! I'm glad we're friends; who else would I tell my daily crisis to? Well summer is almost here and a rad vacation. (Joe Davis (sigh) !)

Thanks you guys for a memorable year,
Hana El-Hasan

Well you guys what do you know, we made it!!! Four hard years of struggle, but we stand up high, and proud because we made it! It may not seem like a lot, but just struggle for four years at school and you'll know what it's all about. I'm very proud of all of us. For all those great times at Hawthorne High. (Let's please not remember the bad ones.) The meeting of Tony & Lorena, also for all those love encounters Terri went through especially D/B! and let's not forget Larry. Also for all those wonderful new friends we made. Debbie, Kerri, Tracy, Tina, Molly, and last but not least Little Lisa, (Peace). For all those days we had our get-togethers at pur tree. Lori- You're such a great gal. Your support and advise helped me so very much. Thanks for being there not just for me but for all of us. Tony (Mr. Motta)- Well what can I say? (Brother) you're all what a brother should be. You're wonderful! Thanks for taking care of us ladies. Terri- Our little Terri, for all those times we all bagged on you, we brutally insulted you. All we wanted to say is that we love ya! You're our little sister. We're still friends that's just proof to you how much we value your friendship. You're the sweetest sweetheart. Don't forget all the great times we had at the gigs & night clubs not to mention (321). Laura- We met and since that day we became "Best Friends". Now that you're out it's our turn. "Don't forget about me". Debbie- It sure has been a thrill getting to know you. We met and also became "Best Friends" You're one heck of a gal, you're very special. If it wasn't for Hawthorne High none of us would have met. 4 years that we will never forget! And for all those bud's we left out (sorry) but you know we love ya! It's time to say good-bye, for this is the longest day. I'll miss you "Hot Buns!" Judy.

Monica "P",

Well let's see, where do I begin. We have been through so much together! We have had a lot of good memories and a few sad ones, but good or bad you have always been there when I needed you most. For this you are truly my best friend.
You know I have a lot of trouble expressing my feelings face to face, so I thought this was the next to best thing. To me you will always have a place in my heart and someone to help you through your many crises. (Just kidding.) But to be serious I love you and will miss you very much.

Stacy

You mean so much to me

and I just wanted you to know how very much I care...

You mean so much to me you've helped me to find a special outlook on life that was hiding deep inside of me, waiting just for someone like you to open the door and set it free.

You mean so much to me

for you've been there, through the good times and the bad, drying up the tears and holding back the loneliness giving me a friendly shoulder to lean on and enough smiles to last a lifetime...

You mean so much to me and I can't help but feel as though I owe you so much more than I can ever repay. But if there's a way, any way, to hold and to help, to provide and to encourage, to give even a part of what you have blessed me with, I will be there for you. And wherever time will take us, wherever we may be, I always want you to remember how much you mean to me.

Tschup zu H.H.S.!

Sheri Berri n' Gena Wena

Tears and laughter, joys and pain
Adventures we had, memories we gained
All of these we'll treasure together
For we are friends, best friends forever.

WE DID IT

I c/o 87'

WE MADE EACH OTHER STRONG My friend, I do not wish for you to go.
But life will not wait for us, I know.
Don't look back and see the tears streaking down my face.
In my heart you'll never be replaced.
Hold tight to today and it will take you to tomorrow.
Hold your head high and you will see that the sorrow
Will soon fade with a dream that is yet to be.
We're going to be the best of all, just you wait and see!
Take me with you when you go. I'll stay forever in your heart.
That way we'll never have to say we lost a part of ourselves.
You're just the part of me I can't let go.
And I thank God you are a friend I'll always know.
So thank you for growing up with me, my friend.
Parting now, we'll reach for the stars and see it's not an end.
But the beginning of a life we've dreamt of for so long.
Now it's time to show the world we've made each other strong!

We've struggled through these years and it looks like we've made it-Hurray!

Joe,

You've given me so many wonderful memories to look back on- it has been such a joy watching you grow.

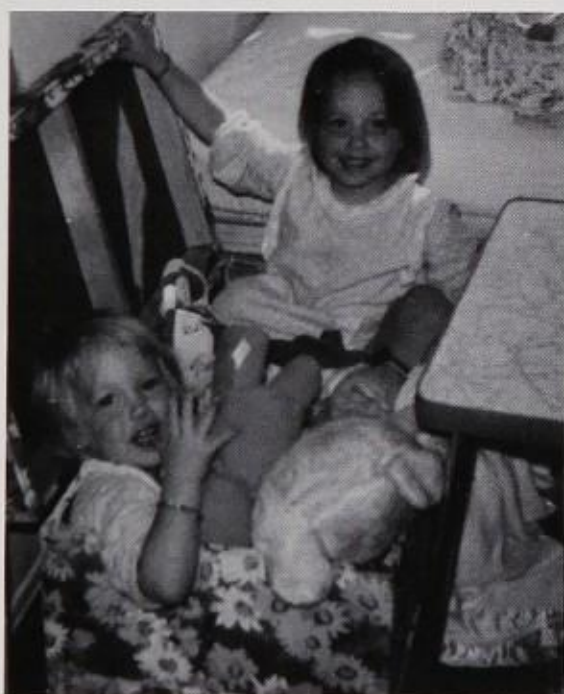

I know that you know I Love You and I'm proud of you. But perhaps you didn't know this! I feel truly blessed to have been your "mom", and watching you develop over the years has shown me how honest you are with everyone, how dedicated you are towards relationships, and how committed you are to responsibilities. I not only enjoy your company (You've always known how to make me laugh), but I respect and value your opinions (Yes! I did listen!).

You'll be gone soon to college and I will be painfully aware of how empty the house is. May God Bless you and watch over you in all circumstances.

With love, pride, & respect,
Your mother

Congratulations- We love you!

The 1987 El Molino Staff—under the divine guidance of Editor Kim Holland and Advisor Laurel Dreher—financed, designed, and published Cougar Country '87: You Are Here, Volume #35 of the Hawthorne High School El Molino. Herff Jones Yearbooks, of Marceline, Missouri, printed the book on 80 pound Bordeaux paper.

Sanford Studios, Inc. photographed seniors and assisted in candid photography. Thompson Photography shot underclassmen portraits. Title page photography was courtesy of Robert H. Kilb. The type style was Avante Garde in 10 pt. for stories, in 8 pt. for captions, and in 12 pt. for the opening section and division pages. Junior staff member Thuy-Hang Nguyen designed cover, endsheet, and title page art.

Uncovering the Mystery, the 1986 El Molino, earned a First Place award from the Columbia Scholastic Press as well as a First Place with Special Merit from the American Scholastic Press Association.

HI MOM!—A tourist group assembles at the start of their day. The tourists were scheduled to cover all of Cougar Country.

Carlos,
 You a very sweet guy I met in Dr. Ed.
 I'm glad I been really cool over the summer and have fun to see you next year hope maybe we'll have a class together Love Always,
 Patty

Carla,
A guy how has it been going with the Flocks?

Har Carlos - Well this is sort of late considering it's already Aug. 15. You are a vagin guy. You really surprised me cuz the kind of guy you were at Dana is totally different. Your great to party with 3 those the rest of this summer will continue as good as it's started out so far. Gosh that seems even make sense huh.
Love Ya -

Take care -

Carlos,
you're a very sweet guy, don't ever change! I'm really glad we met in Drivers Ed. and became good friends. Hope you have a great summer. Have fun during the last 2 years.
Just think next year we'll be Juniors. Let's stay friends through the years.

Sancho,

Well ~~by~~ my secret-----
It's been really nice meeting you this year and I really hope I will always know you. I hope ~~to~~ all your dreams and desires come true. And stay like you are a fine, nice, sweet Sancho (that is to me only). And don't forget you ~~will~~ always be my Sancho.

Love You
